On December 23, a delegation met with Environment Minister Jack Cookson in Edmonton, and Mr. Cookson stated a hazardous waste plant would not be built in Flagstaff without the approval of council.

The group printed 3,000 newsletters and with the help of many volunteers distributed them throughout the county, with the exception of Killam and a small area nearby.

All councils were approached and support was gained from all but two and solid support for the cause came from many doctors and nurses. Many supportive letters also were received from individuals.

Mr. Fossen said two towns in Flagstaff were originally interested in the plant, but at that time didn't have the facts. On receiving more information, they changed their stand.

The Chamber members and guests were told that Premier Lougheed in 1979 agreed to have a hazardous waste treatment plant in Alberta for Western Canada.

The guest speaker also went on to relate figures that 100,000 tonnes of hazardous wastes are produced annually in Alberta, and 120,000 tonnes were already stored at that time.

He related that 65 per cent of the hazardous waste produced in Alberta comes from Strathcona and his group "thought it a hazard to transport it at that time."

It was estimated that 60 per cent of Alberta's hazardous wastes would go through an incinerator. Although such plants are supposed to be 99.9 per cent safe under laboratory conditions, he said Alberta doesn't often get laboratory conditions.

The plant would cost about $30 million to build but it was estimated the county would receive a grant in lieu of taxes amounting to $314,000 annually. Total Flagstaff taxes last year were $5,255,733. The county would also have to maintain roads to the plant.

Mr. Fossen depicted a statement by MLA Tom Lynskey that a hazardous waste plant would cut county taxes in half and said the amount of taxes would be 6 per cent, not 50 per cent.

Also he said the number of permanent employees at the plant would number about 12, and set the large work force that had been reported at one time.

Mr. Fossen concluded his address by saying many people helped the Concerned Citizens group throughout the county.

It was quite an education, I learned a lot and my rights as a ratepayer," he said.

The remaining 40 per cent would be put in landfill.

Mr. Fossen said that over half of these wastes could be recycled, but he added that companies would take "the cranks of the cop" and leave the remainder for the government to dispose.

In the December 23 meeting with Environment Minister Jack Cookson, the Concerned Citizens delegation was told that the major hazardous waste plant would require a 60-acre plant site plus one-mile buffer zone for water ways and monitoring equipment. The plant will be privately operated, with a government bond.

The citizens group also refused claims that the location of a hazardous waste plant in the county would result in Flagstaff receiving a large portion of its taxes from such a plant.

Hardisty forms Library Committee

At the January 11th, Hardisty Library meeting, a Library Building Committee was formed, composed of three town council members, two town board members and five Library Board members.

The purpose of this committee is to look into the possibility of obtaining a new building to house the library due to lack of space. The committee is to accumulate information, plans and alternatives.

The Children's Book Board, held December 1 and 2, was once again a fantastic success. The book sale will be held again next year in late November or early December, coinciding with the school's parent-teacher interview day.

Hardisty Library's gift to their patrons this past year was a two-week period of grace in January at which time all overdue books can be returned fine-free.

Beginning January 23, Saturday programs for children will be offered from time to time at the library. Students in Grades 1 to 6 at Hardisty School are once again involved in the Library Book Sale program. At the year for the first time, Grade 7 students are taking part. Once a week, Hardisty Library visits the school to introduce the students to books, authors, and illustrators.

In February, a six week Book Sale will begin for junior high students at Hardisty School. Three times a week, Mrs. Joan Drager, Mrs. Beth Schindl and Mrs. Judy Routledge will take time to introduce the students to one novel in some depth, and showing the students other author-related or topicalized novels. The students will be required to read one book or more, introduced in the option, and to record the title and author only of all books read.

The objectives of this course, like the regular book sale program in the younger grades, are to broaden the students' reading interests, to make the students aware of the book sale available at the public library, and most importantly to promote reading for enjoyment.

Due to increased demand, some of the library's book titles are now on a seven day loan. A seven day loan must be returned in seven days. It cannot be renewed. An overdue fine of 10 cents a day will be charged.

If you do not have the book you want, we can get it for you. Ask about the South

Several lap-print book titles are available at the library. These books are excellent for anyone who has trouble reading small print. We hope to have more titles available as we are in the process of becoming part of a Large Print Book Exchange wherein we would not only purchase more titles but by exchanging our titles with those from other libraries periodically, we would be able to offer many more titles than we could. We would be able to buy ourselves.

It is the policy of the Hardisty Library Board to consider any book three months or more overdue as lost, unless the librarian has been notified otherwise. If you have lost a book, you will be charged two-thirds of replacement cost.

In closing, we would like to inform everyone that the Library is now accepting memorial donations. Donations may be a specific book that you would like to donate or a cash donation to the Memorial Book Fund. Donations may be made to Janice and Belva at the Bank of Commerce or to Becky at the Library.

The Killam Midgets are hosting a six team hockey tournament on January 29, 30 and 31 with teams from Coronation, Provost, Two Hills, Stettler, and Camrose, as well as Killam.

A men's bonspiel at Killam Curling Club will be held from January 25 to 31. Entries can be made with President Bill McLennan or at the Arpiles. Deadlines for entries is January 24.

There will be a ladies' bonspiel at Killam Curling Club the weekend of February 5, 6, and 7. Entries can be made with or without Barb Mylting. Deadline for entries is February 1st at noon.

The wedding was not so good as on this week with chilly weather.

On Wednesday evening we had a little rain with the temperature turning warmer for a few hours.

Then on Thursday morning, it was much colder with a blizzard coming up and the school closed for the day.

There were many accidents on highways and byways. The snow was so hard the snowplows could not go out. It was a bad storm for everything. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lian (Manda Lian) who were married Saturday, January 24th.

Syringville is extended to the family of John Sherlock on his passing. He will be dearly missed.

Lights to Highway 13 in offing for Sedgewick

The southern approach to Sedgewick from Highway 13 may soon receive street lights, providing better access to the town at night.

Hill Innis, district manager for TransAlta Utilities said the offer was made in town council as part of a program to provide lighting in the municipality.

Mr. Innis said lights, if installed, will be on wooden poles to blend with the present lights, and would provide lighting to the town's intersection with Highway 13.

There possibly would be no construction costs, but Mr. Innis indicated the town would have to pay maintenance costs.

Town council asked the Chamber of Commerce for its opinion, before responding to the offer, and the offer was passed a motion Chamber passed a motion at its January 15th meeting, reports Present Vice Albrecht.

34 YEARS AGO

The sudden change in the weather during the closing days of January was a serious handicap to the thirtieth annual Seed Fair and Poultry Show at Sedgewick, on Saturday, January 30th. With the mercury registering around 20 degrees below zero during the day, it was really not safe to bring poultry long distances, and the same handicap applied to potatoes. However, a successful show was held.

Fire broke out in the kitchen of the Royal Cafe in Strains in the early hours of Monday morning when the wood box became ignited through some unknown cause. If the occupants were not aroused, a serious conflagration might have resulted. As it was, an inside wall was somewhat damaged.

At Pioneer Meat Market owned by H.W. Smith, in Sedgewick, Smith's bacon was on sale for 17 cents per pound; Cold Lake white was on sale for 8 cents per pound; beef shoulder cuts per pound were 9 cents; Bologna per pound was 25 cents.

At Pioneer Meat Market owned by H.W. Smith, in Sedgewick, Smith's bacon was on sale for 17 cents per pound; Cold Lake white was on sale for 8 cents per pound; beef shoulder cuts per pound were 9 cents; Bologna per pound was 25 cents.

49 YEARS AGO

The Loughheed Junior Hockey Team played a fast game at Hardisty on Saturday night when they challenged the Hardisty Juniors. Loughheed ended with a victorious score of 2-0. Scorers were Vic and Margaret McCune.

W.W. Rose of Sedgewick, who had been in the market for a long time, had a car for sale for 17 cents per pound; Cold Lake white was on sale for 8 cents per pound; beef shoulder cuts per pound were 9 cents; Bologna per pound was 25 cents.

These sales are inconsistent with basic NDP policies which condemn foreign ownership of Canadian natural resources. Obviously, the objective of the sales by the government is to obtain top dollar for oil and gas leases from any buyer.

One must question the ability of a government who preaches Canadian ownership, while actively selling its major assets to foreign companies.

In our opinion, foreign purchasers should qualify as long as they are from friendly democratic countries and both governments and individuals should be permitted to make such sales.

Letters to the Editor

My Editor:

I have a few comments to make regarding the letter from a hockey parent in last week's paper.

First of all I'm sure that most of us will agree that when credit is due, I think the boys on the hockey team realize this as well as most of the parents. One of these parents is going to have to recognize the fact that not everyone is going to realize the same recognition that others do. Possibly in the future, I will change again with certain other members of the team receiving the glory.

The boys themselves know that an equity every year scored were a number of other hard working young men that were going to be that same glory.

But, needless to say, here as well as in most of the other leagues it is usually the goal scorers that are featured regularly.

After being a hockey parent for a good number of years, I find that I will change again with certain other parents and not the boys on the team. Setting good examples you say? I'm afraid not. Most of our boys know that the winners get everything, it sure is fun to win! Scorers of goals being the main thing.

As we saw in last issue if this parents child was in the featured picture it would be the same. The winners get everything, it sure is fun to win! Scorers of goals being the main thing.

Auntie's hockey parent.

STUTTERCAT
"I Write as I Please"

WOULD YOU BELIEVE there are those who are beginning to say that mother nature is a dirty old lady and the weatherman is a dirty old lecher? I was shocked when I heard such allegations and it was an unfortunate put-down of two fictional characters who have been with us longer than most of us can remember and for most part have played a pretty reliable part in the affairs of our surroundings.

We have even made such comments as "I heard nature wonderful" and "the weatherman is sure smiling on us today". You know he gets grumpy too and she gets tired of coming up with goodies all the time. But let the two of them move up on a white and we are blessed beyond being reasonable.

BUT WE'VE got a bit more snow than we've had for a year or two. So what? You ain't seen mother. You don't believe it oh all you late comers! Well we'll tell you more about that later. You think it's cold? Ah! Again you ain't seen mother. We'll tell you about that too, so we go along.

I THINK part of the problem is that the weather doesn't make them as tough as they used to. Manufacturers and textile companies have come up with the most sophisticated apparel, new designs and fabrics that are far warmer and cold resistant than anything known in the olden days, but how many people do you see today who wear coats with long sleeves? And then all you have cold it is, when it really isn't that cold at all. Part of the problem is that people are conditioned actually when trying to defeat the temperature. They are going by these new-fangled gadgets that tell you it's cold. It is or other instead of trusting the good old facts. What you have today is that it's minus station when it really is above the good old-fashions cold zero mark. Then when they try and explain what it is going to be like on the morrow they begin to fog up crystals, run crystals, wind still going up into the sun area and kilo-pounds whatever that means. No wonder we don't really see it thirty below zero. We just don't have the two of them move up on a white and we are blessed beyond being reasonable.

THE MISTAKE mistake has got us guessing just how to express ourselves without being blamed as a bit stupid, or plain stubborn. How are you going to say "my cup runneth over" when you are told you should say my fifth of a litre is spilling? Or when you want to order some for the bar, when you say "I want you to send me four square places but have to request a 0.000 square centimeter. You need a good old fashioned mile any more because you're really gone 1.000 kilometers. You got the idea don't you!

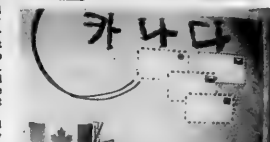

SO TO GET BACK to snow and cold and stuff. You think we've got snow? Early on, there was a family lived in a two-story house and the snow was so deep after every storm that the inhabitants opened a window upstairs and walked out. With regard to the cold, think this over: it was either cold or the temperature was going down on the gauge hanging outside so fast that when the mercury hit the bottom it pulled the nail right out of the wall, and you think it's cold now? Talk about blizzard! It was so bad in the early days most farmers had a rope girdle between the house and the barn because without it you would never get back with the milk pail. Well, one farmer didn't have a rope so he went out on the back porch, jumped up and down until he was breathing raw heart, then started for the barn with his milk pail. He went from there so quickly and so fast that it formed a guide line back to the house.

I KNOW EXACTLY what you are thinking, it is to help you along it, listen to the true story of an old-timer who once said: "There are three liars in this town; Charlie is one and I'm the other two". Think whatever you want to, but don't say it to my face.

I think this kind of direct communication between friends of the countries will help both to learn about each other's country, and I also think it will provide the forum for discussion about international problems.

And I believe it will help students to learn to improve their language skill as well as exchanging hobbies.

I am sure each of them will be a faithful friend to anyone who wishes to be their counterparts. It will be a great opportunity for the applicants to kindly inform about themselves in their letters.

Then I will pass those letters along to my counterparts.

I hope you will try to publish my message in your newspaper. I am sure our project will be realized. Thank you very much for your time and kind consideration.

Alberta cattle sent to Korea

Five head of Charolais heifers were shipped from Alberta in December to Suwon, Korea. The heifers will be used at the National Livestock Experimental Station for crossbreeding research.

Korean agriculturalists are keenly interested in upgrading what is known as the "Korean Native", a small animal lacking muscle. The heifers, at an average weight of 577 pounds, were bred by Bill Bullock, a coronator, at the Alberta Cattle Experiment Station.

Enough of that frigid weather!

As this is being written Monday morning, the skies are blue, the air isn't quite so crisp, there are no winds to chill the bones, and temperatures are almost at the Zero Celsius level.

Hopefully the frigid Arctic air that covered this part of the continent for nearly a month has disappeared to parts unknown and we can all return to a so-called "normal" life-style.

Bitter cold resulted in severe hardship for many, although we were told that the weather was typical Alberta weather. (Fortunately there have been mild winters of late).

But there are always experiences to recall when weather such as this either brings out the best, or the worst in us.

School closings were cut down to a minimum, however many buses did not run many days because of the extreme cold, blocked roads and the possibility that there could have been break-downs which would have left many youngsters stranded in the middle of nowhere.

In our estimation, good sense prevailed in these situations although some students missed much-needed instruction, especially with semester exams starting this week.

Most people stayed off the roads when weather conditions were much less than favourable. Because of the deep-frees, roads were extremely slick, and driving conditions were often treacherous at best.

We do recall one incident where a lady motorist was stranded on Highway 13 with a flat tire, and was by-passed several times before someone stopped, and relayed a message to the father of the damed in distress.

And in spite of what we were led to believe, the frigid weather did not stop the invasion of colds and flu.

Our local physician, Dr. A. Meer took matters into his own hands and made house calls to the elderly, and those with young children, deeming it dangerous for these people to journey out into the bitter cold.

Dr. Meer is to be commended for his understanding at a time like this.

Many meetings were cancelled as well and had to be rescheduled, but most of the hockey action and curling went on.

And there were those of us who were fortunate to escape to such exotic places as Hawaii for a holiday in the midst of the siege.

While spring is almost two months away, it's nice to dream about it. Even last summer's blistering heat wave doesn't seem all that hot, in retrospect.

Leonardo Da Vinci is believed to have invented the airplane.

Electrical safety code is revised for hospitals

Hospitals should be safer for patients in the future with the unveiling on January 25th of Canada's new electrical safety code.
The 14th edition of the Canadian Electrical Code Part I, published by the Canadian Standards Association (CSA) and culminates three years of work by its volunteer committees.
"A major change in the new code is in the area of patient care in hospitals," says Gordon Brand, Vancouver's chief electrical inspector and chairman of the code committee.
"The new requirements take into account the increased use of electromedical devices in patient care areas and the inherent potential shock hazards associated with this increased use."
Mr. Brand said the section of fire alarm systems has also been completely rewritten, and includes emergency voice communication in addition to electrical alarms.
As well as containing new and updated standards in the electrical field, the 14th edition of the Code has been redesigned to reflect the dynamic industry it serves, he said.
All 36 members of the Canadian Electrical Code Part I committee serve on a voluntary basis, and represent inspection authorities, electrical and electronic manufacturers, electrical contractors, utilities and governments.
The Code is legally adopted by the 10 provinces and two territories in Canada. CSA is publishing a booklet for the first time, will highlight all the major changes in the new Code, and give reasons for these changes. It will be available later this year.

Uniform sticks to its grain transportation policy

Uniform president Howard Falkenberg has said his organization will continue to press for implementation of its grain transportation policy, despite the threatened withdrawal of the Alberta Cattle Commission from the province's "umbrella" farm organization.
In a statement to the Western Agricultural Conference (WAC) at its annual meeting in Regina, the Uniform president reviewed events which took place at the organization's convention.
Mr. Falkenberg, who has served as WAC chairman for the past two years, said grain transportation, and more specifically the future of present statutory rates, is still foremost among the many important issues facing western agriculture.

He described the decision by the cattle organization to pull out of the Uniform annual meeting and to recommend to the cattle organization's 3000 representatives that it cease to be a member of Uniform, as regrettable.

The ACC, following the rules of procedure of the annual meeting of Uniform, had introduced resolutions which would have set aside policy adopted and reaffirmed by earlier Uniform conventions. They were de-

More infant child restraints urged in automobiles

The Alberta Safety Council has endorsed a program for providing children in motor vehicles launched by the Alberta Action Committee for Child Transportation Safety (AACTS).
"Motor vehicle occupant injury is the leading cause of death before the first year of life," said Bob Norvick, president and general manager of the Council. "The AACTS studied 192 motor vehicle occupant deaths of children ages 0 to 18 in Alberta from 1975 to 1979."

The results indicated that 42 percent were ejected from the vehicle, 62 percent sustained head injuries, and none were properly restrained.

Based on this study, Norvick said, the AACTS has initiated a program aimed at raising the level of protection for all children by increasing the use of infant and child safety restraints.

The program goals of 50 percent utilization of infant and child restraints by the end of 1982, and 70 percent utilization by 1984.

If successful, Norvick said, the increased protection would lead to over a 50 percent reduction in motor vehicle occupant injury and deaths to Alberta children.
Norvick said the Council supports the program, urging that an unrestrained child in any position in the vehicle is at a particular disadvantage as sudden stops may lead to impact or ejection, serious injury or death.
Of equal concern, he said,

"This, coupled with AACTS's education and publicity program, is the most promising way of reducing the death and injury rate of children in motor vehicles."

Gymnastics Company to perform at Public School

The Edmonton Modern Rhythmic Gymnastics Club will perform and hold a workshop for students, teachers and parents at Sedgewick Public School on Thursday, January 28. The 1-hour performance will begin at 11:45.

Following the performance, two workshops will be held for students interested in the movement and rhythm techniques. We welcome parents and members of the public to attend this performance. A charge of $1.50 will be made to help offset the costs of this event. The results to be posted next week.

We are hoping that the weather will enable us to have the ski try to Alliance on Wednesday, January 27. The ski program has been successful in the past and many students have been introduced to skiing through this program. We wish all participants well.

Vera
Hendricks is Garden Club president

The Hardisty Garden Club met in the Drop-In Centre on Tuesday afternoon, January 12th.

Slides were shown by Lois Lomson showing beautiful spring bulbs, and giving tips on growing them for early indoor bloom.

Following this the meeting was called to order. Election of officers returned the present slate by acclamation: president, Vera Hendricks; vice-president, Mary Goodrich; secretary-treasurer, Ernie Matthews; press reporter, Barb Matthews.

As the finances were low, it was decided to hold the second annual St. Patrick's Day tea on March 17.

Slides will be shown again at the February and March meetings.

February's topics will be Native Plant for House Garden and a Tour of the Royal Botanical Gardens at Hamilton, Ontario.

It was decided not to raise the membership fee. New members will be welcomed at anytime.

Good Deed Club concludes year

The November meeting of the Hamstead Good Deed Club was held at the home of Bob Birchall in Sedgewick with the president, Connie Seiter in the chair. Visitors were welcomed and followed roll call. We heard the reading of the minutes and the treasurer's report, both of which were adopted.

Correspondence consisted of a letter from the Hardisty Library asking for our support. This issue had been previously discussed in the club, and we had already agreed we would give them a donation. Also a thank you note from Ray for card and gift received when in hospital.

Following was a report on our tea, banner, and bake sale which was held the last part of October. Although sales were down from last year, we still had a very good year.

A short discussion took place regarding whether or not to continue making the town's gift, as it is getting so difficult to get good bags and as everything is the price of bags keeps going up.

However, we decided to give it a try for at least one more year. Our Christmas party was next under discussion. Minutes were handed out to each member to bring for the supper which date had been set for November 28th, but had to be set ahead for the following week.

Hostess draw was won by V. Next meeting will be at the home of Ray Cox on January 29th. Following adjournment, Brita served us with the usual delicious "tea" too much, but enjoyed by all.

Our Christmas party presented to the usual gala affair. Members and invited guests sat down to a beautifully-laden table with all the goodies that go to make up a delicious turkey supper. We did miss our members who were unable to be with us, viz: Rita Birchall who was ill, and old Santa himself came bounding in.

He went at once to his job, handing out candy bags and gifts from the tree. This event is looked forward to, and thoroughly enjoyed by young and old alike. The old gentleman was in an extremely jovial mood, which all added to the merriment, with the exception of one little bit, who was scared to death when her mother started carrying her to get her gift from the dear old man. Come next year, we hope she will be able to enjoy it too.

So, we bade good-bye to Santa, and I'm sure we are all looking forward to next year when we can "do it all" over again. Viola McLean

Moms mend Bantam hockey uniforms

Betty Walsh
A group of Bantam hockey moms, including some grandmothers, gathered at the home of Margie Krause, last Thursday afternoon, to mend and darn hockey sweaters and socks. The uniforms were in great need of repairs. Coffee and cake was enjoyed at the Sewing Bee. Many of the young mothers made their first try at darning a hole and really enjoyed learning how. The boys looked superb in their clean and mended uniforms at their game on Thursday night. They even won their game! Good for you boys and thanks to those who made sure that you looked smart. I've heard that "clothes make the man." Hockey moms' uniforms fit the play.

Mrs. Maude Kallier attended the wedding of her son Dwayne to Linda Dill at Port Saskatchewan last Saturday. Congratulations and best wishes to the newlyweds.

Get well wishes to all our male folk who are in hospital or feeling under the weather. With temperatures going up and down like a yo-yo, it's no wonder there's so many people feeling out of sorts.

At the Friday evening Norwegian Whist there were five tables of players. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Doyle of Southport, England, spent three weeks over the Christmas and New Year holidays at the Killam home.

Killam's first baby of 1982 took its time in arriving on the scene. Robin Ann McLennan was born in the early morning of Tuesday, January 26 at Killam Hospital, weighing 8 lbs., 5 1/2 oz. The McLennans have two other girls, Stacey, 4, and Shauneel, 2. Bill and Kathryn McLennan, the proud parents, are shown with the new arrival, and Clarence Rott (right) president of Killam Chamber of Commerce, who made a cheque presentation to Killam's No. 1 arrival of the New Year.

Killam Agricultural Society returns Lang as president

Costas. One-year directors are Harry Anderson, Bobby Fredrick and John Borge. Marlene Fredrick was re-elected as secretary-treasurer.

It was reported during the meeting that in the fall of 1980, Phase 1 of the Killam Arena upgrading project was completed, being a new dressing room and Zamboni room, at a cost of $100,000.

At the annual meeting of Killam and District Agricultural Society held January 22nd, Ken Lang was named as president, with Bill McLennan moving up to the first vice-president's post, and Glen Fredrick becoming the new second vice-president.

RCMP office being renovated

Headquarters building of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police is soon scheduled to undergo renovations which could ultimately lead to an increase in the present five-member force.

There is also an officer vacancy.

Sgt. L.A. Frank reports there is no indication that the detachment re-inforcements to be converted into office room, and with alterations to the present office facility will be combined into one large area.

Meetings have been held with the Town of Dayland and Town of Sedgewick parent committees to discuss police patrol, and Sgt. Frank is hopeful that re-arrangement of office accommodations is an indication that the detachment re-inforcements to be converted into office

Battle River Hockey Killam Indians still in Killam Indians are still a member of the Battle River Senior Hockey League. The Community Press was informed this (Wednesday) morning that the AHA president has ruled that the four players in question can complete the season with the Killam team.

Allen Fredrick, Killam team rep, said that the league had agreed to go along with the decision reached by the provincial president.

Accordingly, Irena will play at Killam (tonight) Wednesday in a make-up game.

Whether Killam Indians continue as a member of the Battle River Senior Hockey League could rest in the hands of Alberta Hockey Association officials in Calgary, following a dispute over residency and employment qualifications of some of Killam players.

A decision is expected from the AHA sometime (today) Wednesday. Killam was slated to play Irena tonight in a make-up game about 30 persons.

The issue was raised by other league members at a league meeting in Calgary on January 24, and "boded" over this past Sunday at another gathering in Viking when Allen Fredrick, Killam representative, walked out it was made clear that his version of player eligibility wasn't gaining the support of other delegates.

Later Sunday evening, Mr. Fredrick said that he had withdrawn the Killam team.

Mr. Fredrick said that the AHA had been planned for the January 24 meeting at Viking, and had apparently said changes could be made to the league constitution only at an annual meeting.

An emergency meeting was called in Killam on Monday afternoon attended by about 30 persons.

Invitations including Homecoming information have been sent to all names provided to date.

The Homecoming Committee is anxious to receive more names, particularly of families, so that material may be sent to them.

As part of the Homecoming promotion, a number of items such as bumper stickers will be soon available, with desirable receipts issued for $25 donations.

The Third Column

WE ALL HAVE our personal views. Sometimes they coincide with what most of us think and sometimes they don't. As extremely as one is considered an odd ball. If he differs from what is popular, he should keep the idea to himself and not have it to be published. This is the idea of nonsense that keeps many things from being aired properly. What's so wrong with differing? Many times those who are held with popular opinion are closer to the truth.

EVER SINCE the Shank family episode last the headlines private opinion have been as varied as the evidence appeared to be in the headlines. Contradictions may be a dime a dozen depending of course on how you viewed the action. This all only goes to show that any number of people watching an action nearly all have differing views of what took place. Simply because nobody can watch it all and see it all. Everybody misses some aspect of the action. That's why there is nearly always conflicting evidence, and the more evidence the more often results in contradiction.

The average person simply cannot remember details and even finds it difficult to remember what has been previously said. When this is played back no number of excuses are going to stop the court from discrediting your statements. That's why for one place more credence in statements uttered by those who have been trained to observe and remember. That's why I put more faith in evidence put forward by police officers that I do in the average layperson. A police officer is not trained to lie and give false evidence; although this is not impossible. But the average offender whose freedom or life is at stake is far more likely to stretch the truth and not see things in the right perspective.

I GET A LITTLE TIRED of those who are ever ready to list their compassion under common sense and are ever ready to leap to the defence of the law-breaker. We call them bleeding hearts. Compassion is a wonderful thing in its place, but it gets lost in the crowd when it is used to defend the actions of policemen who are doing what their job demands: keeping law and order in a society that's going a bit black.

THAT'S WHY I'm getting sick and tired of some of the attitudes that seem to prevail in our society; but the sick and tired that I am is not the kind where a medical practitioner can tell me to take two aspirin and call him in the morning. That won't cure me of what I am tired of. I've got a different kind of tired, that I'm sick of the sick and tired of people who constantly claim our society is "sick." Our country is sick, our governments are sick, that's why all sick. They could be right you know, for I'm sick and maybe you are too. I am sick and tired of police officers being ridiculed and called "pigs" while cop killers are hailed as folk heroes. I am sick and tired of being told that religion is an opiate but that marijuana should be legalised. I am sick of the right of a free press but that freedom should not include teaching about God in school. I am sick and tired of common sense who almost canonise criminals, anarchists and criminal rapists but who condemn law enforcement if it is not used to punish the innocent.

I am sick and tired of riots, marches, protests, demonstrations, confrontations and all other mob tantrums. I am sick of people who are intellectually incapable of working with the system. I am sick and tired of reading so-called modern literature with its tinsy-tingy to read on the walls of public toilets. I am sick of cynical attitudes toward patriotism and I'm sick of politicians who no backbone. Yes, I guess I'm sick and tired and I suspect that some of you out there are too.

Snow serves many purposes

When we hear of the outstanding recreation facilities other parts of the world have, we tend to forget what is right on our own doorstep.

A prime example of this is the Valley Ski Club - nestled in the Battle River Valley, in one of the most picturesque locations to be seen for miles around.

On a glistering Sunday afternoon we set out from The Community Press home base at Sedgewick on what we thought was a routine assignment, but to say that we were more than a little impressed with what we saw, would be expressing it mildly.

The thought of the snow-laden hills in themselves was well worth the drive down Highway 36, but throw in another treat of nature—a lone male pheasant and his female entourage seen en route—and one could not help but be "taken in" by the scene at the ski hills as the slopes abounded with children and adults of all ages.

We found out from hill manager, Walter Vincetti that the club has been in operation for over thirty years, and had been moved to its present beautiful location about 15 years ago.

What we heard about the club, we liked. Primarily, it has been kept afloat through volunteer labour, and, as with any other venture, hard cash has its place, too.

Some municipalities have assisted with funds provided through their recreational master plan, but that appears to be the exception rather than the rule.

What really warms our heart is the tremendous use the ski slopes are receiving, not only from Flagstaff and Painters Counties, but also from many other areas of East Central Alberta.

Now if only Mr. Grounding co-operates, and provides six more weeks of winter.

The skiers can use the snow, as do snowmobilers, natural ice hounds need the cold weather, and the farmer needs the moisture in the fields.

Some utilities using gigajoules

While many natural gas utilities have converted their rates of measurement to the metric that step into the books for the Town of Sedgewick Gas Utility at present, according to Lawrence Kusend, town administrator.

On the other hand, North-western Utilities which serves such areas as Loughheed, and Hardisty, began the change in the books for The Alberta Public Utilities Board has also approved new uniform rates throughout the company's service area.

With metric energy billing, the heat energy which was measured in Btu's or therms will be measured in metric units, gigajoules.

In the metric system, energy is expressed in joules (J) and to multiples.

The prefix "giga" means one billion. One gigajoule equals 9.5 therms.

An average natural gas customer will use about three gigajoules per month for a natural gas water heater.

Average home usage will be about 300 gigajoules per year.

Now if only Mr. Grounding co-operates, and provides six more weeks of winter.

The skiers can use the snow, as do snowmobilers, natural ice hounds need the cold weather, and the farmer needs the moisture in the fields.

What Others Say

Our economy

Forecasters are having a little difficulty arriving at any clear and concise verdict as to what Canadians can expect from the country's economy. Everything seems to be in a confused state. No doubt regional differences, as you cross this broad nation, only add to the confusion.

Even ladies fashions are no longer a clear indicator. Traditionally higher hemlines meant a booming economy, and when the hemlines dropped so did our prosperity. Currently fashion houses are showing mini-skirts, skirts with hemlines at mid-calf and everywhere in between. No one seems to know for sure which way things are going, so it's left to the individual. If you are having a good year, or are expecting a good year you get and buy a mini-skirt or if you're looking for a new car you can get for a hemline well below the knee.

Our guess is that most will choose a style which just covers the knee.

If you have dark circles or a scar or a small blemish on your face, they can be corrected by the use of cover cosmetics.

To pick the proper shade you should choose a tint that is about a half-shade lighter than your skin. First apply a moisturizer to make blending easier. Then apply your foundation and go back and cover the blemish with your cover stick or cream. Dot it on, then pat gently with a sponge to blend. Get your make-up with a loose, translucent powder.

Seniors to participate in games

Though seniors in this province have their own Winter Games, they will also be part of the Alberta Winter Games in Lloydminster February 25-27.

Seniors, who have proven to be a lively set at Summer and Winter Games of the past, will compete in five events at Lloydminster: five-pin bowling, curling, cribbage, shuffleboard, and cross-country skiing.

Bowling is open to men and women 55 years of age and over, and will be played in 15 pots.

Shuffleboard is highly visible, and busy, at most of the senior centres across the province and the competition at the Games in Lloydminster promises to be keen.

One of the truly winter sports seniors can take advantage of at Lloydminster is the cross-country skiing, open to men and women 55 years of age and older.

In the Short Race, women will ski five kilometers, the men 10. In the Long Race division, the men head out on a 15 kilometre course, the women on a 7.5 kilometre course.

Cross is a special event at the Games, not classed as either senior or as one of the regular sporting events.

The chess competition is open juniors 17 years and under and seniors 18 years and over. The Games will serve as a showcase for this serious-thinking sport, introducing it to those who have never tried the game.

Conversion of farm trucks to propane economical in most cases

Anyone who uses more than 4,000 litres (L) of fuel per year in his farm truck will find it worthwhile to convert to propane.

This is the opinion of Edw. Thornton of Alberta Agriculture's engineering research branch. He says a properly-tuned, propane-powered vehicle will give a very similar performance to that obtained from a gasoline-powered vehicle. However, if the vehicle is converted for dual performance the performance from either fuel will suffer.

Mr. Thornton says a propane-powered engine has 4 to 5 per cent less power than a gasoline-powered engine at high speeds, mainly because the propane vapor displaces the air going into the engine.

He explains that propane has more energy for the same weight as gasoline, but that it has 25 per cent less energy than gasoline on a volume basis. Since consumption is about 18 per cent higher than for gasoline, a person can expect to get 10 to 15 per cent less mileage with propane than with gasoline, but, from the point of view of engine wear, propane is the better fuel.

Because it burns cleaner, there is less fouling of the spark plugs and less cost of oil. According to Mr. Thornton, most propane users experience less maintenance with propane than they did with gasoline.

What about the cost of propane compared with gasoline? The price for propane in Edmonton on January 1, 1982 was 15.8 cents per L for propane compared with 31.4 cents per L for gasoline. If you average 20,000 km per year at 14L per 100 km, it would take you one and a half years to pay for the conversion, which costs about $1,500, Mr. Thornton says. After this payback period, the cost of travelling any distance will be just over half that incurred by using gasoline.

The fittings, valves, lines, etc. required for converting the average farm truck to propane cost from $500 to $600, and the labor costs about $200. The tank can cost anywhere from $550 to $800 depending upon its size.

However, farmers, corporations and municipalities can obtain a federal grant of $400 to reduce the overall conversion cost. Information and application forms for these grants can be obtained through the Propane Gas Program, Energy, Mines and Resources, Box 3500, Ottawa, Ontario, K1G 0A6.

Although it is possible to convert a gasoline-powered engine to a propane-powered engine yourself, providing you follow the strict rules laid out in the Canadian Gas Association CAN 1 - 2145.3-MNH code book, Mr. Thornton believes it could be false economy. He points out that you should have automobile testing equipment for timing, etc. and a good understanding of the principles involved.

Most propane dealerships do the conversion for you or know where you can get it done, and some private garages are starting to do conversions.

Your local propane dealer should also be able to tell you where you can get the conversion equipment.

Mr. Thornton says his branch will be releasing a fact sheet in the spring on the technicalities involved in converting a gasoline-powered engine to a propane-powered engine.

Lougheed Rebekahs talk of assembly

Even though it was snowy cold, ten members gathered for the regular Lougheed Rebekah Lodge meeting on Wednesday, January 27th. N.G. St. Jean was in the chair.

Sis. Swanson and Sis. Ida New Black were reported unwell. Members were pleased to hear that Sis. Riddoch's husband was home from hospital.

Hospital visits had been made and members reported having visited Sis. Marlow and her husband, to extend congratulations and best wishes for their 50th wedding anniversary.

Discussion took place regarding the impending Assembly meeting to be held in March at Red Deer.

At this point, your reporter changed positions and put her notes on another paper so any errors or omissions may be blamed on her one-track mind.

Suffice it to say that there was a lively discussion on pertinent matters relating to lodge work.

Under Good of the Order, thank-you words were offered for good work well

CUTTER PARADE AT HARDISTY 1:00 P.M. FEBRUARY 6

The presence of a smoke detector in the Terry Handrick residence at Hardisty may have saved lives. The device sounded at 7:30 a.m. Sunday, January 31, awakening Mr. Handrick. Upon checking, he found a fire in the bathroom and unsuccessfully tried to extinguish it with a fire extinguisher. After evacuating his family, he called the fire department. Cause of the blaze is unknown.

May preserve pioneer farm buildings

Len Dutton, Kilian, head of the Battle River Tourist Association library committee reports that a request has been received pertaining to the preservation of CPR ready-made farm houses and stables which are still standing.

Mr. Dutton has informed the BRTA membership that such farms do exist in the Loughlin-Sedgewick area. He states there is the possibility that preservation of such sites could become a community project.

Beware of bird droppings

Elbow crews won't erase the blotches bird droppings leave on car paint. The shoe plates in bird droppings produce phosphoric acid so potent it has actually been known to eat through brick buildings.

Allowed to remain on the surface of a car long enough, bird droppings will eat through paint and metal as well. Professionally applied paint protection, such as Tidy Car's Preserv-A-Shine® gives car owners more time to wash off bird droppings before they bleach and damage the surface. No matter what kind of paint protection is on a car, the first sign of bird droppings calls for cleaning with mild soap, water and a touch of vinegar.

Another tip: If a car is parked in an area where birds congregate — a marina or waterfront, for example — keep the car in the shade. Direct sunlight will bake the droppings into the surface quickly.

National stabilization plan proposed for beef industry

The Canadian Cattlemen's Association, meeting in joint session with provincial cattlemen's associations, and representatives of provincial governments has determined that it is in the interests of the Canadian beef industry to develop a national, uniform stabilization program for beef cattle.

According to James Boyd, C.C.A. president, the continued development of different types of provincial support programs threatens the integrity and unity of the industry.

"Our industry and our market are too small to fragment but if we fail to bring an end to the proliferation of programs, that will be the inevitable result," he said.

The C.C.A. and provincial cattlemen's associations are therefore proposing the development of a tripartite stabilization program involving the participation of producers, provincial governments and the federal government.

While it is proposed that producer participation must remain voluntary, producers who do participate will be required to share in the funding of the program.

"C.C.A. proposes also that the program will be designed to cover all parts of the industry, namely cow-calf, backgrounding, and the cull and feeding sectors."

"It is our view that this approach represents a more industry response to beef industry problems than either national or provin-

Treat yourself to a Valentines gift

There's one name that's usually left out of our Valentine's Day gift lists that should be there. This year be sure to head your list with the person who ought to be your closest friend and companion - yourself.

If saying "I love you" to yourself seems strange and even selfish to you, you're probably never tried it. The truth is, the more you care about yourself, the more you're able to care about others. And when you care for anyone, it's important to take the time to show it.

"The better you feel about yourself, the more energy you have for meeting the challenges of life," according to Dr. Richard B. Stuenkel, psychological director of Wright Watchers Interiors.

"Great things can happen when people allow themselves the luxury of thinking about themselves in successful roles. Start changing the way you think of yourself now. You can begin a 'constructive cycle' in which you receive positive action from another and another and another."

If you've already found doing things for yourself difficult. Once you started, however, it will be easier and easier. If you don't know where to begin, here are some ideas to help you.

Maybe what you need right now is to take these holiday pounds. Mr.

Al Oaten, director of Wright Watchers of Alberta and Saskatchewan, says, "We all know how weight gained during the holidays can linger for months. It can undermine our self-confidence. Once we lose the weight, we often feel inspired to make improvements in other areas."

"This can also work in reverse. Tackling other areas in our life and meeting with success can give us the confidence to lose the extra weight. Whichever way you approach it, try to find a group of people who support and care about your efforts. This will build your self-esteem and make further action towards self-improvement easier."

If you decide to begin with something other than your weight, maybe one of these ideas will appeal to you:

Look through the catalogue of courses at a local school and take something that intrigues you. Exploring new interests is fun and exciting.

Try your hand at a creative project - writing, painting, learning a musical instrument. Don't worry about doing it "well" just allow yourself to create.

If you've always wanted to sleep until noon but feel guilty, try to get up one day and enjoy it. Take the time to read some books.

Legislative Report

Satellite TV plan will draw opposition

Gerry White and Kevin Pedersen of the Calgary Herald

The provincial government will attempt to establish its jurisdiction over satellite television in two applications soon to be made by private cable companies to the Public Utilities Board.

Associate Utilities Minister Neil Webster said recently "arrangements have been made" to have Glomax Cablevision and Progressive Cable TV approach the PUB for approval.

Glomax uses its cable network in Swan Hills and Fairview to transmit satellite signals from the big "U.S. superstations" to local news. Progressive Cable does the same in Hanna, Cochrane and Corralton.

The two companies' service is controversial because the federal government and its Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) is concerned that a massive influx of U.S. programming into Canada will be a detriment to the development of Canadian culture.

But the Alberta government doesn't share this anxiety and would apparently give the two companies a free hand to transmit U.S. programs if it can establish its own jurisdiction over satellite-cable T.V.

Significantly, Progressive Cable withdrew its application to the PUB last week.

Only one minor objection was held Saturday evening concerning the Hughesden and Hardisty 8 and under, and in the afternoon "our own 12 and under and 14 and under played against each other," Mr. Miller reported.

Los Miller, who was in charge of Hardisty Winter Wipeout Days for the last several years, explained the event was supposed to be held in late February or early March, but due to activities in other towns, the date had to be brought forward.

White Wipeout Days were designed to attract spectators and participants from other areas, it didn't occur that way, due to poor weather or conditions.

The Stampeder senior hockey game slated for Saturday night, also fell prey to the weather. Vixing were to have been the visitors.

Mr. Miller said, however the curl tournament went on, as did Hardisty Public Library puzzle competitions and games and stories, which were also held Saturday afternoon.

approval during the last round of public hearings of the agency last year. The two cable companies submitted to the PUB the first public step taken toward fixing provincial jurisdiction since the passage of Bill 40 last year when the government declared it had full powers over "non-broadcast telecommunications" in the province.

Webster said the government would soon issue regulations covering pay-TV, satellite TV and even certain aspects of existing cable television. Meeting these regulations would be a condition of receiving an operating licence from the PUB.

However, Webster's plans have run into some opposition from the owners of local broadcast stations and cable operations.

Local television stations are worried that new television modes licensed by the province will provide unfair competition to them.

Licensed by the federal CRTC, the local TV stations have to operate under strict standards of performance and Canadian content.

Webster doesn't want any content rules in provincial regulations, so pay TV and satellite-cable TV would be able to transmit a constant barrage of U.S. programs for which it is believed the public has an insatiable appetite.

The U.S. superstations in Atlanta, Chicago and New York broadcast sports events, gospel shows, Las Vegas-style night club acts and a variety of movies, both new and old.

Alberta cable firms are also concerned that they may be caught in yet another constitutional dispute between the federal and provincial governments.

Jim Tindall returned as Ag. Society president

Two officers at Sedgewick and District Agricultural Society held its formation in 1974 were acclaimed to office for another term at the annual meeting and supper, held January 27th after an excellent potpourri.

Jim Tindall was returned to the presidency of the society, and Carol Armitan continues in her capacity as secretary-treasurer.

All other positions were also filled by acclamation during the election of officers, with George Christensen as first vice-president and Carl Jacobson continuing as second vice-president.

Paul Douglas is a new member of the society.

Financial statements of the agricultural society, agricultural and agricultural extension board were reviewed and found correct.

With the Alberta Association of Agricultural Societies holding its annual meeting, February 28 and 29, Carol Armitan encouraged the directors to attend the workshop and annual meeting.

In the absence of the president, Mr. Christensen, first vice-president, chaired the business meeting.

Letters to the Editor

January 29, 1982

Dear Sir:
The Vegreville-Vernilion and Hardisty Sedgewick areas would be affected by contaminated water from a Hazardous Waste Disposal situated in the area between Bruce and Vining.

The Vernilion river rises in the level lands northwest of Vining, only a few miles north of the head waters of the Iron Creek. It flows north through Vegreville to Two Hills where it widens out into a series of long narrow lakes known as Ver-iron Creek and its tributaries drains the southwest portion of the Watrous tract east to the Red River. This creek has its origin in the level lands between Galesburg and Torina (Bruce area).

Of the three methods of hazardous waste disposal, the land-fill method has the greatest potential for contaminating the surface and sub-surface water. Periodic flooding in the years of heavy snowfall and rainfall creates two special hazards. Firstly, flooding of the land-fill and subsequent movement of contaminated water into the river system. At this time many towns draw their water from one of these two water systems.

Secondly, the saturation of the ground to the point where leaching occurs. Therein lies the danger of contamination of the sub-surface water. Sub-surface water in these areas is at a relatively shallow level. Contaminants seeping into the ground water system over many years could have disastrous effects. A pure water system is essential if agriculture is to survive.

A hazardous waste disposal study done by Reid, Crowther and Partners Ltd., released in March 1981, commissioned by the Government of Canada in association with the provinces of Alberta, British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, Yukon, and Northwest Territories states:

1. "Recommendation is alternative '7C'. That is a disposal plant with incinerator and secure land-fill in Southern Alberta.

2. No area in the County of Beaver is identified as a preferred site for a disposal facility.

Recommendations for the southern location are: stable ground with low water table level, no extensive agriculture, small population, easy access.

A hazardous waste disposal plant is needed in Alberta but not at the expense of the people or agricultural industry.

Sincerely,
Gerry Obeng, NDP candidate, Box 413, Forestburg, Alberta, S42-2159, Camrose.
Bob Sarrafian, NDP candidate, Box 645, Vegreville, Alberta, S32-3148, Vegreville.

Times are tough but could be worse

The recently-completed first ministers' conference illustrates more than ever the fact that Canada's economic status is related directly to that of the United States, whether we like it or not.

Not long ago, economists were predicting that Canada might experience an upswing in the latter part of 1982, but that was before the summit meeting between the federal government and provincial premiers.

And while the disgruntled premiers haven't had time to acclimatize themselves after being affronted, President Reagan comes along and tells the people of the United States that defence spending is to increase in 1983, and that there will be a record budget deficit to boot. Little chance for interest rates to go down!

Our provincial premiers, notably Alberta's Peter Lougheed, played the case for lower interest rates, and got nowhere. But on the other side of the coin, analysts predicted that lower Canadian interest rates would only mean that investment dollars would flow to the United States instead of being put to good use at home, where our own saving economy needs revitalization. A glut on the world oil market has resulted in the oil cartel reducing prices, and this coupled with a depressed economy, almost world-wide, has resulted in a cool-down for the Alberta oil industry.

Now Jean-Luc Pepin has come out and said that the federal government will listen to submissions concerning the "Crow Rate," with a view to bringing in a realistic rate for grain shipments in the fall.

And this at a time when the price of beef has been plummeting. Many cattle groups are lobbying for a national red meat marketing agency, but when tied in with increased grain shipment prices, soaring production costs will go even higher.

Even though times are hard, they could be worse. We don't live in a country such as Poland.

We like the philosophy of a Kilman resident as expressed to us the other day. He had fought in the Second World War. Sure, he said, there were hard times.

But he just remembered the good times.

The Third Column

BY TRUNCATE
"I Write as I Please"

"Thirty" has been written to the career of "A. W." Arthur Easty. Writer of The Third Column under the name Truncate, "I Write as I Please," Mr. Easty passed away suddenly at his Sedgewick home. Long-time owner-publisher of The Community Press, Mr. Easty sold the business to Monte Keith in 1960 and retired for all intents and purposes. But once a printer, always a printer, and Mr. Easty began contributing The Third Column on a weekly basis about three years ago. "A. W." was never at a loss for words, and always met controversial issues "head-on." In due respect to Mr. Easty, the office of The Community Press will be closed Friday, February 12, the day of his funeral. Mr. Easty is shown with the Silver Quill Award which was presented to him for 25 years of achievement in the newspaper field. With this tribute, The Third Column will disappear from these pages. Elks Hall problem solved

During the last two years there has been a planning problem in the Elks Memorial Hall, especially during the cold weather. A work party was called by the Strome Elks, to try and solve the problem.

Recently, the Elks decided that the drapes on the windows in the Hall needed a good deal of work. A work party was called by the Strome Elks, to try and solve the problem.

Keith and Ed McDougall visited Beryl at Breton on Sunday. Mrs. McDougall accompanied them and stayed on for a few days.

Mrs. Jane Rawe has been transferred to VIKING Nursing Home.

Mr. Chisholm held their weekly 500 party Thursday with three tables playing. Ladies high to Hat Head, low Mabel Robson. Gents high to Charlie Hayes and low Elmer Eshelby. Coffee and sandwiches were enjoyed before going home.

Honey Curtis left on Saturday morning with a group of friends for a Caribbean Cruise. Hope the weather is warmer.

Weekend visitors at Ruth and Allan Auburn were Ruth's brother and nephew, Jim and Rod Carter of Alton, and Mrs. P. Barovsky and family of Dayland. Early in the week they visited Mr. and Mrs. Leo Scheck and Sheila, Chavrin; Mr. and Mrs. R. Grunow, Wesley and Wade, Wainwright, and Charlie Auburn at the Viking Auxiliary hospital.

An enjoyable day was held at the Crown residence this past Sunday, when daughter, Linda, non-haw, Robert and two grandchildren motored from Sherwood Park. Linda and the boys went cross-country skiing and came back with healthy appetites.

Jim and Florence's son, Darrell and grandson, Jason spent two weeks in Strome with the folks, and as entertaining time was had by all.

Strome Elks and Strome Girl Guides and Brownies, are enjoying the opportunity of helping each other out on little projects. The girls made nice picnic tables and so the Elks came to their rescue and bought three nice tables for their party out at the Eric Wainwright's farm. These girls are being helped in the ways of Guiding and Brownies by Guiders Dorothy Wainwright and Eva Rasmussen, and also by Brownies, Sherry Zimmel and Tawny Orl Jovan. Mrs. The above leaders are just the bones, but then there are Patrol Leaders Wood (Gibson), Dianne Haman, and Bobbie Steiger, who also help out a great deal.

'Stress' is discussed at workshop
Learning to say "you're sorry" is an effective tool in combating stress, about 65 persons were told last Friday at a workshop held at Sedgwick Rec Centre meeting room.

The workshop, entitled "Stress and You," was presented under auspices of Alberta Agriculture, with similar sessions conducted at Brooks and Innisfail.

Dr. Edith Morey, of Ferguson Falls, Minnesota, workshop moderator, gave a talk on the aspects of stress, and in a workshop format, members of the audience were allowed to ask questions at any time.

He pointed out that if the body is maintained, a person can cope with stress. Rest periods were mentioned as an important part of this approach.

Mental well-being also needs to be based on being honest with one's self, and Dr. Morey emphasized that a person requires a set of principles to do so.

Also advocated as part of the healthful approach to life was the ability to cooperate, especially with the people one loves, and to get close to the family.

Other points emphasized as being important if stress is to be suppressed were - have fun, learn to laugh at yourself, put recreation into your life, and have friends and goals.

Alliance Legion Auxiliary Notes

Thursday evening, February 4, seventeen members attended the regular meeting of Alliance Legion No. 94 at the Lions Hall in rooms 30 degrees Celsius weather. Business was discussed and the club Pan Bazaar was set for Sunday, February 14. Marg Burgess will be catering.

Three members were nominated to work on the committee to organize an Agricultural Society.

The zone mixed spell was held at Alliance the week of January 23 - 24 with Sedgewick winning first. All who attended reported a good time.

Winners of the January "10 Draw" were Grant Buchanan $100 and Bill McPherson $50. February winners were Gary Miller $100 and Irvin Platz $50.

New faces at second semester of Central High School

Second semester classes have resumed in a most serious manner with students settling in to their new courses very quickly and earnestly.

We welcome to our school the following returnees and new faces: Evelyn Hunter, Steven Konajski, Rhonda Sorrento, Clinton Widdowson, Rhonda Beauchamp, Doreen Fisher and Glenn Thompson. Twelve students have left our school. We wish them success in their new endeavours.

Basketball and curling were the active sports in our school last week. The basketball team travelled to Hughenden on Tuesday and to Provost on Thursday to play two games, one against STV

Byline Ward

Again at the weekend "old man" wintered out some damage he is in control. I presume his chilly wind will be more to the phone lines, for I certainly didn't get any people phoning in their news, and we all know there had to be a good reason for that.

On Valentine's weekend the Double "A" Riding Club, will be holding a fund-raising dinner and dance with the senior Jorgensen's playing. If you're the type of fellow that forgets to let your mate chocolate or flowers for Valentine's, perhaps take her out to the dance will smooth the ruffled feathers! The riding club will use the proceeds to fund their annual free gymkhana in the summer.

Tickets are available from the Double "A" members or by phoning Charles or Brenda Wirt. To let me assure you there will be a donor prize draw at the dance, and a late lunch and turkey supper! What more can you ask for?

Keep fit classes will be starting in Alliance Thursday evenings. Instructors will be Edna Falls and Patsy Trevis. Feel free to phone them for information.

Speaking of keep fit classes, several residents of the Alliance community are fighting the never ending Battle of the Bulge. Many of us sit battling and bulging. One was so successful that Jack Bateman thought he would insult her and so told her she was starting to look like a scarecrow. She was so pleased she offered to pay him for the compliment that should hold it for a while!

Phyllis Alcorn and I had the pleasure of riding to Lila and Don Davidson's lovely new car last week, on our way to the Rombough's in Killam. Also in case anyone cares, Phyllis and I are taking the creative writing course (adult-ed.) offered through Creative Writers. It's called the Travelling course. Well, before you venture out for say "Tom-Pee-Pee" let me assure you that the name has a perfectly logical explanation and does not mean that our author/teacher (Gloria Sewal of Camrose) runs about in his/her nightgown. I might add that you're not to judge her teaching abilities on my new column - it's really far better than that.

On February 20th our Alliance Council series will continue with a group called The Wild Colonial Boys. It will be held at 8 p.m. at our theatre, try to keep that late open, as this sure it will be a highly entertaining evening.

Our Bank of Montreal staff were busy preparing themselves for the computer age, this past week. Several people trained for this purpose have been down assisting with the preparations.

One of the boys from the school, who had been to the Rombough's on their bus trip to Tijuana two years ago and hubby and I, were depending on his tall-tails, if he had gone into the ditch the other two vehicles would have followed suit, beyond doubt!

I would like to wish speedy recoveries to Art and Mary. I hope to see you again soon.

A welcome to newcomer Jerry and Gayle Buchart, formerly of New LIGO agent. Our Alliance 10 and under boys finally had the opportunity to play their first game last Friday night, at our school and against Castor. Our team was defeated but considering it was their first game, our boys played exceptionally well with a hat trick to David Towers and goals to Derek Rombough and Aaron Bulles.

Our boys will have a return match with Castor on Friday night, February 12. There was a lovely turnout of parents to cheer the boys on last Friday, and they appreciated it, why not join us on Friday night at the Alliance arena.

The trip home from Castor was a rather harrowing experience as we were travelling at one of the heights of the storm to Alberta. The flags of the Federal Republic of Germany, and of Panama. Canadian Ambassador to Iran, Ken Taylor (now Canadian Consul-General in New York) and Mr. Frank Karasek of Austria, the Secretary-General of the Council of Europe.

Travel Alberta, who have shown a great interest in our project, have arranged a meeting with our group for the end of this month to discuss a consultant's study which they propose to do for us.

The State of Alabama in continuing relationship with us have sent us information regarding a project they have initiated called the Canada-Alabama Fair Value Program. Included were beautiful lapel pins commemorating the flag of Canada and Alabama.

If you are contemplating a trip south of the border, the State of Alabama would make your money at par at many locations, which could mean a considerable savings considering today's exchange rate.

A company involved in the manufacture and erection of pre-fab buildings, and one having done business in this area, also has shown its support behind our project. Mr. Robert Greig of Zipperlock Industries of Calgary, while visiting Hardisty last fall, expressed great interest in the flag project and derided the vandalism and theft which had occurred to the flags belonging to the business establishments in Hardisty.

A very generous donation from Zipperlock Industries has just been received to pay for replacement of these flags. Any business person who was victimized in this regard, please contact the Zipperlock for replacement of your flag, courtesy of Zipperlock.

The Flag Society had previously planned a motion to extend honorary director.

Hardisty Flag Society obtains flags from Germany and Panama

The Hardisty International Flag Society continues to add and receive considerable amounts of mail as they work on their project. Last week's mail brought them the flag of the Federal Republic of Germany, and of Panama.

Articles in several of the large American newspapers regarding our project, have brought us many new friends, supporters and correspondents; a number of whom express their desire to visit Hardisty; and many who carry on a continuing correspondence with our society. All these letters are dutifully answered, making the work load very heavy at times.

The State of Alabama in continuing relationship with us have sent us information regarding a project they have initiated called the Canada-Alabama Fair Value Program. Included were beautiful lapel pins commemorating the flag of Canada and Alabama.

Large tent rented for Sedgewick Homecoming '82

Plans for Sedgewick Homecoming '82 moved a little closer to fulfillment at a Monday, February 18 evening meeting at the Rm. 403 Centre.

Chairman Jim Tindall and signing officers were authorized to borrow $2,400 as a downpayment to Little Acres of W. Interim for the supply of a large tent, floor-lins and other items for the July 24 event.

Pre-registration is strongly encouraged, and an information pamphlet will be sent on request by writing Mrs. 403 Sedgewick, TNS 403.

Chairman Tindall reported that he had received a phone call from a former resident, now residing in Port St. John, B.C. who had received a registration pamphlet. Among other topics discussed, Mr. Tindall said plans for an official opening are underway, with the agreement of Premier Peter Lougheed a possibility in a govt.

Some complaints had been received about areas not specifically mentioned in the invitation brochures. It was emphasized that the Homecoming is for local residents, ex-residents and the entire surrounding community.

Hein Whitten mentioned that he had received a phone call from a former resident, now residing in Port St. John, B.C. who had received a registration pamphlet. Among other topics discussed, Mr. Tindall said plans for an official opening are underway, with the agreement of Premier Peter Lougheed a possibility in a govt.

Flagstaff councillors to suggest regional plan changes

Flagstaff County council at its meeting on Wednesday, February 11, in spite of inclement weather, held a meeting which was held February 6, in spite of inclement weather. Back row, from left, are John McBride, new director; Ernest Kozh, vice-president; David Black, president; Jim Walsh, new director and Charles James, new director. Front row, Gwen Freeman, new director and Myrtle Arntsen, secretary-treasurer. Remarking on the right are Rod MacKinnon, Gudmund Erickson, A. B. Fella, Harry Jamieson, Ida Black. It was decided to participate in Sedgewick Homecoming '82 with an Open House and Tea at the Drop-In Centre.

Exception was taken to parts of land use proposals, in their application to a regional plan, also councillors agreed that the language used in describing suggested changes was as simple as it was supposed to be.

Councillor Alec Black suggested that if the province added by the Planning Act and Regions added by it, "then we wouldn't have too many problems."

While there was some opposition to the presence of a provincial appeal board, Reeves Bud Neas said local planning boards "could do as they liked."

Many unfavorable decisions have been made against the County of Flagstaff in recent months, through the appeal route. Some appeals have been made on grounds of competence, suggested Councillor Black and Councillor Jim Crawford agreed that "there have been some real losers."

Councillor Alec Black said there would be a "veto" if there was no room for compassionate grounds, a view shared by Reeves Neas.

Ordinary development is a major function of a Regional Plan, councillors said.

Killam Indian status in BRHL still uncertain

For the second time this A.A.H.A. president's decision, which was to allow the players to the Battle River Hockey League.

An appeal by Dayland of a previous decision rendered by Orest Korbut, A.B.A. to the Battle River Hockey Association president, was to have been heard by an A.A.H.A. appeal board.

If the A.A.H.A. supports our decision, postponed games will be rescheduled, however if it is against us then Killam will no longer cease to function in the BRHL," stated Mr. Frendrich.

The Indians, however, were told to go against Hillville. In further Provincial playoffs.

Winners of the Grand Challenge at the annual Killam Ladies Bonspiel which concluded Sunday evening, February 7, was the Colleen Probert rink of Loughheed. Family skaters called Colleen away and Barbara Mygland of Killam consented to fill out the team shown from left are Barbara Mygland, lead; Brenda Martin, second; Theresa Armstrong, third and Kim Martin, skip. The rink defeated the Davis Parvolden rink of Forestburg in the final. There were 25 risks entered.

Chalk up another one for rural living!

The joys of city life! We really wonder whether the citizens of that grand and glorious City of Edmonton would rather make a trade for a more sedate life on a country acreage, or for a lifestyle in one of our towns or villages, where some of us can even walk to our employment, in an atmosphere of clean country air.

Of course we are referring to the present situation in Edmonton wherein the transit workers took to the picket lines on Monday morning, leaving thousands of workers and students without public transportation.

No one will argue that the workers shouldn't receive a substantial pay increase, but their request for 17 per cent over two years, does seem out of line.

In the days before inflation took its skywards, the mere mention of such a demand would result in serious questioning of a union's sanity. Many of us still stick to that assessment.

The transit workers appear determined to "fight to the finish," and a long strike is predicted.

In one sense, the strike is bringing citizens together, as car pools become a popular method of beating the crisis.

But there are many others who don't own a car or can't afford costly taxi fares. What about them? People on the lower end of the wage scale - those who can least afford it - will suffer the most. That's life, but it shouldn't be that way.

And then on Tuesday morning, the City of Edmonton, as well as many other Alberta communities, both urban and rural, fell victim to a nurses' strike.

Chaos - that's what it is! At least the nurses are providing emergency services, so we can't be too harsh on them.

A recent daily newspaper article chronicled a day in the life of a registered nurse, including even the giving of enemas to a patient prior to an operation. While we are sure this is done on occasion, when nursing assistants aren't available, we are certain it is not common practice.

Another point in favour of our rural way of living - Flagstaff hospitals are not unionized, and unless the situation is critical requiring a higher degree of treatment - the local area will not be adversely affected.

On Saturday, February 19th, a junior hockey tournament was staged at the K.E. team rink and in spite of the cold weather, a large crowd turned out to see the games. The Dayland team with six players were the winners over the K.E. team to capture the top place.

A junior bonspiel was held in Dayland with the grand challenge being won by the William Pyron. His rink were the winners of four chocolate bars.

Killam carried men played the single team in a game of hockey recently. A large crowd witnessed the married man defeating the single team in an overtime game to the tune of 5-3.

James R. Halkom, well-known farmer of the Sedgewick district was the unanimous choice of delegates at a recent convention at Strome, to represent the Liberal Party in the next provincial election.

The Loughhead Legion Hospital last week was the subject of an article from all angles. The Hillier foursome from Killam won the final and are candidates of the finalized cup until next year's play-offs.

A slight outbreak of measles and scarlet fever is reported in Loughhead and discoloured. There was a few cases in which the victim was quarantined for several days.

The Sedgewick Central High Football Club is sponsoring a public bonspiel in the Community Hall, Eagles Key, coach of the Edmonton Eskimos, and a few of the players will be available to publicize football in this area.

At the Alberta Dairy-men's Association convention held in Edmonton, Mr. Grand, Chairman of the Sedgewick Dairy Pool won third place in the milk scoring competition. Mr. Chornan also won second place in the cream scoring competition and second in the aggregate score, grading dairy products.

Thomas Clouston, sitting member and chairman of the Killam School Divisional Board, was returned to office in Monday's election. Mr. Clouston was running against Mr. Paul Messure.

18 YEARS AGO

Always a highlight of past Winter Carnivals in Sedgewick, this years Queen contest was an exciting one. Miss Judy Clark of Killam was the lucky gal to be crowned the carnival queen. Truly the tax roll at Haddley is very dark, in fact they are burnt black around the edges. The building was totally destroyed, but it was insured. The important records of the Town of Haddley were not lost as they were in the safe. However, Mr. Pedlar will be in the next while re-creating records.

Macedonia in Killam sponsored a contest for the best model house. 11-year-old Ronald Bergstrom received a trophy for his model house. The owner of Macedonia, Joe Luczak, presented him with his trophy.

Frogs and Toads take over library

On February 6th, forty six children between the ages of five and nine enjoyed an afternoon of activities centred around Arnold Lobel's popular Frog and Toad series.

The program was sponsored by the library as a part of Haddley's Winter Wed. Days. Frog songs and Arnold Lobel stories were read out of the fun.

After signing the guest poster, the children were given name tags which identified them as frogs or toads for the day. Frog projects centred around a hopping puzzle, and cooperation and concentration were evident at each table.

Meanwhile, entries in the Frog and Toad coloring contest were being judged in the library.

First and second prize winners were declared as follows: Grade One: Sylvia Dery and Candy Brink; Grade Two: Darcy Krause, and Gregory Schmidt; Grade Three: Gregory Krause and Christopher Johnsonson.

Thoughts For Living

A number of years ago, a journalist interviewed the wife of a famous historian. The journalist asked Mrs. Haldane: "In your opinion, what would be a good recipe for happiness?"

Mrs. Haldane answered: "To equal quantities of generosity and thought for others, and a few drops of pleasant music, followed by the same number of kind words."

"Sprinkle truth with fun and merriment. Serve with wit and humor, and mix thoroughly with the spirit of love."

"Warm with bright looks and serve immediately."

Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary

The February meeting of the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary opened with the Auxiliary prayer. Due to the cold weather, there was no January meeting.

The minutes of the December meeting, were read and adopted. Old business from the minutes left discussed, this included the re-upholstering of some furniture in the hospital, not yet completed. The two new chairs ordered, have not yet arrived.

Jane Crane brought one of the new outdoor benches that were ordered some time ago, to be approved by the group.

These benches are very unique and will be very useful for patients who are able to sit outside in the summer. Jane was to purchase a picture frame on approval for the Homecoming picture, which she did. Kathleen Manning was to read the picture for hanging. There is still some silver Hospital spoons left for sale. If anyone wishes to purchase a spoon, contact an auxiliary member.

Thank you cards received were passed around for all to read.

The secretary read the financial statement reporting the income from the Hospital spoon sales, showcase income, pop machine, and memorabilia plus interest from term deposit, try favours for Meals on Wheels, as well as patients trays for sale. The minutes were taken care of.

Sharon Croser received a burry as she was a volunteer at Hardisty and is in her second year of training at the Misericordia.

The showcase report was read. Doreen donated nine assorted dolls, Myrtle Richardson donated a baby shower and Barb Matthews donated a white baby sweater.

It was decided to order Auxiliary pins for members who wish to purchase them. The Auxiliary Spring Bingo will be held April 25 in the Elks Hall.

With the many items of business being concluded the meeting was adjourned.

Missionary to visit Sedgewick Nazarene Church

Grace Rott, president of the Missionary Society reports an event-filled weekend ahead, featuring a return visit of Miss Hilda Moen, missionary to India. Beginning at 7:30 on Friday evening, February 19, there will be an opening rally service with choir and special music. A Ladies Prayer Breakfast is scheduled for 8:30 Saturday morning. For all the family there is an International Potluck banquet at 6 p.m. Hilda has promised to help the ladies fashion an Indian sari - you just need five yards of material.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Lee (see Joe Potter) who were sponsored by the Nazarene Church with the program under the leadership of Doris Swanson, Irene Potter gave a musical story contest and a trio of Ruth and Sonia Potter and Glynis Rott sang "She's a Small, Small Girl." Holly Magee gave a reading and gifts were presented in a race car by Glynis. Joy was assisted in opening gifts by her mother, Mrs. Leah Potter, and her niece, Sonia Potter.

The teens enjoyed a happy night at Frank Rott's on Friday evening. Back to the horse and cutter days.

Our best to those in Killam hospital - Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Swanson, and Mrs. Finnigan.

Sympathy is extended to Barbara Swenick and family in the loss of her uncle, Mr. Art Easley.

Pastor and Mrs. Haring attended an overnight retreat at Nahman Lodge last week, calling on Dr. Y's mother on the way home.

"Meet the Family" continues Sunday evenings with Grace and Herb Rott, and Jane and Dwayne Leadholm recently interviewed by the pastor.

Blanche Nelson

Sharon's sympathy goes to the family of Vivian Robinson who passed away recently. She will be greatly missed.

The Legion Ladies Auxiliary of Hardisty, spent Valentine's Day entertaining the residents of the Manor with games, reading of verses, and a sing-song with all joining in. A lunch was served by the Legion ladies.

A good time was had by all. Jim and Doris Vucich are new grandparents.

Double (Carlton) Smith

has given birth to a baby girl. The girl is named her one of each. The baby was named Aaron Michael.

I will keep her in my heart and will be writing the news for Hardisty.

It is really hard to report on happenings in and around Hardisty when so many others want to let you in on these deep day secrets and I very rarely get out to hear about them. There is only one thing that bothers me many people don't allow the reporter to convey the news to others.

I would like to thank those who did phone or drop their news items off to me. It was greatly appreciated.

Anyone wishing to take over this column is welcome to call The Community Press at 384-3641 Sedgewick or drop into their office during business hours. Yours respectfully, Blanche Nelson.

Wanda Pinner

At the weekly curling tournament, hosted by Vince MacKinnon on February 11, Martine Bosley, called herself a 29 hand, her first. Others playing were Marie and Ed Watkins, Arlin Swanson, Wilf Bosley, Mill Sim, Bud Denney, Geyran Baumgartner, and Vince MacKinnon. This week's winners were Ed Watkins and Geyran Baumgartner.

Our sympathy to the Robinson family on the passing of Bill's mother, Vivian. Get well wishes to Stan

Flagstaff Teachers to attend Central East Alberta Convention

"Broaden Your Perspectives" is the theme of the 1982 Central East Alberta Teachers' Convention to be held at the Westin Hotel in Edmonton on March 3rd, 4th and 5th.

Nearly 1,000 teachers from 19 school jurisdictions located in Central East Alberta will attend the convention. The jurisdictions included are the Counties of Beaver, Canmore, Flagstaff, Pincher, and Vermilion, the Public School Districts of Canmore, Neutral Hills, Front and Waterton, and the Catholic Separate School Divisions of Canmore, Killam, Provost, Thermo and Vermilion and Waterton.

Also joining the teachers from Central East Alberta this year are the teachers from Onion Lake, Saskatchewan.

Some of the many sessions ranging from "Broadening Your Perspectives" to "Managing Stress, Handling Loss, and Dealing with Mortality, to the future of Canada, viewing television critically, and dealing with computers will be repeated on both days.

Family life education, the extraordinary journey and microcomputers will also receive attention.

Other sessions will occur only once. Sp. and Thursday after the Minister of Education for Alberta, Mr. Justice John Brown, will speak at 9 a.m. on Friday.

During the two full days of convention, many educational displays of educational materials will be set up on the mezzanine in Westin. Socials take place both Wednesday and Thursday nights.

In addition, some 50 teachers will spend their convention week at Edmonton at the Blue Lake Centre. There they will take courses in cross-country skiing and day touring. A popular extension last year, the courses were well subscribed to in 1982.

The annual convention is organized and funded by the various locals in the Central East Alberta Teachers' Association. Convention area, and is attended by all teachers within these local areas. Proctor Nordstrom, publicity chairman.

Sedgewick Legion Curling members win most congenial award

Sedgewick Legion's Mixed Curling team won only two of four games played at the Provincial Legion Mixed Championships at Turner Valley on the weekend, however the team members won an award for being the most congenial.

Turner Valley Legion was the winner for the second year in a row.

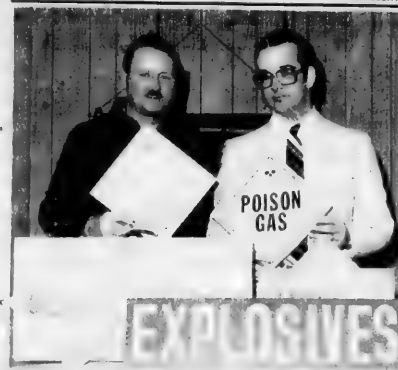

Team from seven teams participated in a round-robin

Of the four losses, one went to an extra and the skip's last rock decided the remaining three games.

Sedgewick won the right to advance by winning the Zone 3 playoff.

The Sedgewick entry was skipped by Jack Sparrow, with Arndt Gough, third; Dick Mathers, second; and Sylvia Shaw, lead.

When the artist completes his or her work, it is up to the rest of the world to interpret what the completed piece conveys. We have been told by some observers that this ice sculpture in front of the Dennis and Marion Chubb residence in Sedgewick resembles a Snow Mountain. What do you think?

Dangerous goods extension course held in Sedgewick

A train despatcher two years ago east of Sedgewick could have had serious results but it didn't.

Lorrie Poyser, Sedgewick councillor and local Disaster Services officer explained in that instance there were "too many and too few," although some of the tasks contained propane.

Incidents such as this are the reason that Alberta Disaster Services need representatives to municipalities to conduct Awareness Programs, said Paul Ripepl, training officer with ASD, who conducted Part 1 of the program at Sedgewick Community Hall on Monday and Tuesday evenings, February 15 and 16.

Part 2 of the course will be conducted at a later date by Stan Harbin, District Officer and Mr. Poyser.

Through film and discussion, Mr. Ripepl explained the dangers involved with the transportation of hazardous materials through a community, such as safety.

Propane, ammonia, dynamite, propane and liquid fuels, and methods in dealing with emergencies.

"We are trying to educate people to these hazards, and inform them of the resources available when required," said Mr. Ripepl.

Part of the instruction includes the identification of various materials and the signs used to mark them.

Mr. Ripepl said that the federal government has passed a Transportation of Dangerous Goods Act, and

Is by-election indicator of things to come?

Last week's "upset" in the Old-Didsbury riding, when Gordon Keeler made hay at the expense of the established political parties, will keep the political analysts busy for some time to come.

Prior to the by-election, all the money was riding on the established parties, however there were rumblings that the Social Credit would have a difficult time retaining the seat vacated by Bob Clark, former party leader.

It would be putting it mildly to say that the result sent shock waves from the Atlantic Shore to the Pacific Shore, with a definite lifting of eyebrows in Edmonton and Ottawa.

While Mr. Keeler represented Western Canada Concept, a separatist-minded party, he himself put that issue on the back-burner when pressed for his views by an anxious news media.

There is no doubt that many Westerners lean towards "separation" from Canada - but only as a last resort.

Western Canadians are incensed at Ottawa for its apparent disregard in matters pertaining to the West, but can do little about it because the major portion of the country's population is in the East. Therefore, Eastern Canada carries the balance of power in the House of Commons.

In a democracy, there appears to be no fairer formula than for the opinion of the majority to prevail.

Just over a year ago, Western discontent with the East was evidenced with large attendances at meetings, sparked by Elmer Knudsen's separatist leanings.

When it came time for membership, however, the support was mysteriously lacking. Perhaps many people had been caught up in the frenzy of the time.

But there is no doubt that many Westerners are fed up with the "system" as is now dictated from Ottawa.

And if I were Premier Lougheed, I would be more than a trifle worried, too.

Past political happenings in Alberta show that a party has come out of nowhere and formed the government in as short a space as two years.

When people feel their rights have been stepped on, they take action - at the polls.

Letters to the Editor

February 19, 1982

Dear Sirs:

In reply to your recent editorial on "country living" you take the position that registered nurses (RNs) don't do the dirty work! Many of my fellow nurses are employed in city hospitals and I can't speak for them, but I can speak for the thousands of RNs who work in a small country hospital.

Any one twelve hour shift on, and usually does, include from one to five nurses; cleaning up the waste and excrement from ill and convalescent patients; collection and visual examination of chest apertures; care of elderly patients; personal needs; care of a newborn baby that you helped deliver; brushing 20 pairs of dentures; turning and skin care every 2 hours on ill and elderly patients; mopping up the floor that someone did a "job" on; or cleaning up vomitus.

These duties are shared equally among staff nurses, RNs and RNAs alike. And these duties are besides the medications, page work, doctor's orders, patient teaching, and other nursing care.

My plight will read "she gave a mean enema and a painless needle."

I am not encouraging the strike, our hospital is not striking. But I do believe we nurses deserve more.

If you are critically ill or have a sudden heart attack, you can bet your bottom dollar that the RN will recognize the problem first and give the initial emergency care that will save your life, before the doctor can get to the hospital.

I love most aspects of nursing but my mental and physical wellbeing have decreased that I will leave nursing in the next three months - to be a store clerk.

And that is the reason for our nursing shortage.

We work hard and we care about our patients. Thank you for your time. Name withheld.

Alcohol and Alcoholism

Royal College of Psychiatrists set up a special committee to observe the instincts and reasons for one of the big problems of health and society. They would insist that all of us accept the fact that alcohol is a drug. For us to think that by treating a few alcoholics, society can permit drinking creating more damage and disability, the results shown are hardly enough to clear us of such a problem.

This book gives us practical ways for individuals to help themselves. With home entertainment, the host has a responsibility when serving alcohol. Don't offer excessive amounts above daily intake and always have non-alcoholic drinks on hand.

The Affluent Society - J.K. Galbraith
The author presents the third revised edition of The Affluent Society, the original having been published twenty years ago. Galbraith has brought up to date the facts and views of his reasons brought out in the last few years regarding economic life. It contains a new preface and a new chapter giving us acceptable information in finances.

The Silent Children - Linda Sanford

Parents guide to prevention of child sexual abuse. Linda Sanford tells us that children have an "inner voice" when it comes to personal needs. Adults teach children to confirm to them rather than listening to their own "inner voice". She tells parents how to help their children's feelings with respect.

Linda Sanford tells us one of the major public health problems is the concern of sexual abuse in children. With this book she presents information to parents so they can inform and protect their children.

Readers will find this a health book in understanding definitions as used in Criminal Law. For example, firearms and other offensive weapons is discussed and an interpretation is given so that a person can fully understand what is permissible and prohibited use and ownership of such weapons is meant. If you are interested in forms used by law relating to search warrants, summons to a person charged with an offence, subpoena to witness, and many others, you can peruse these pages. Perhaps you would like

Killam Brownies hold Thinking Day program

The Killam Brownies enjoyed a very interesting Thinking Day Program on Monday, February 22nd. As this is a time to think of Brownies all over the world, we learned about Brownies from Denmark, Holland, India and Sweden, and about the countries.

Our theme for this meeting was a visit to each country. First, Denmark, where Mrs. Lisa Brodie told us about the country and about being a Guide there. The Imp Six Group then added information that they had gathered and pictures.

Then, on to Holland, where Mrs. Lake told us many interesting things about the country and their life there. The Pals Six Group added their pictures and information.

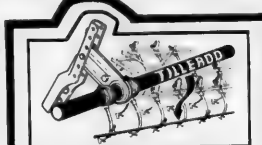

Next came India, where Mrs. Anna talked about life in India and answered many questions asked by the girls. She had some beautiful hand-drawn pictures to show us.

Then came Sweden, where Mrs. Anna talked about life in Sweden and answered many questions asked by the girls. She had some beautiful hand-drawn pictures to show us.

When you hit a rock with TILLEROD what happens?

NOTHING! Nothing stops you, nothing gets damaged. Tillerod is better because it is fireproof, not steel, and when it hits a rock it uses a strong-as-steel tillage tool just bonds and flexes right back. Yes, even bends up to 45 degrees without damage. Tillerod mounts easily on almost any tillage implement - why not equip an implement you already have?

Ask your Tillerod Oliver dealer where to see it demonstrated

Thoughts For Living

Some of the most important archaeological finds are made not with a spade, but by looking at aerial photos.

Viewed from a height, we can see the outlines of the fields, roads, tracks and ponds of earlier ages.

It's an interesting thought that if you have ever dug just a simple trench, then you have left a permanent mark on the landscape.

A ditch can be traced thousands of years after it has been filled in because the crops grow taller and greener there.

We cannot notice things like this on the ground, simply because we are too close to them.

Isn't this true of our lives? We are often able to understand our problems better if we can look at them from a distance.

Distance gives a sense of proportion because it highlights what affects the whole, rather than the parts. By taking an "aerial view" we can often avoid making mistakes, perhaps taking ourselves too seriously.

Strome seeks new Community Hall

Citizens of the Village of Strome are most anxious to acquire a new Community Hall to replace the antiquated Elks Memorial Hall which has called a public meeting for Friday, March 5th, to ascertain grants available.

Expected to be in attendance at the Elks Hall meeting are Gordon Strom, M.A. and others, including Ernest Lindholm of the Recreation, Parks and Wildlife Foundation.

Councillor Jim Crans, who is also Exalted Ruler of the Elks, explains that the 46 year old Elks Hall is outdated, and the cost of renovating the structure would amount to the same as a new facility.

Killam Indians lead Hinton

Killam Indians will carry a five-goal lead with them to Hinton this Saturday night as they tangle with the Hawks in the return match of the two-game total goal Provincial Intermediate "C" hockey series.

The hometown Indians knew they had been in a battle last Saturday night as Hinton played chippy hockey throughout.

The visitors drew the bulk of the penalties assessed by the Carroon off-side team, and the Indians prevailed 7-3.

Leading the way for the Indians was Brian Boniface, fresh from a Hawaiian vacation with two goals and two assists.

Doug Blumhagen capped a strong effort by netting two goals and helping on another, and Joe Spiller, a second-year player, also put the puck behind Hinton netminder Mel Benhau on two occasions as well as helping on one of Blumhagen's drives.

At 2:30 p.m. of the second period, Brian Boniface gave Killam a 2-1 lead, aided by Dallas Elzary and Joe Spiller, added to the Killam count on an unassisted effort.

The second period ended scoring was 4-1, as Doug Blumhagen held the range on an empty net at 13:25 after being set up by Joe Spiller.

Killam threatened to break the game wide open early in the third but the Hinton goalkeepers made three outstanding saves.

However, moments later, Brian Boniface put in a rebound. Assists went to Doug Blumhagen and Bernie Dowse.

Doug Blumhagen closed out the Indian scoring at 15:28 with Fortlander in Hinton cooling his heels. Boniface and Derek Keldorfer helped on the play.

Flander got the second Hinton goal at 19:33 making the final score 7-3 for the Indians.

The Indians survived a Dayland protest and were restored to active status in the Battle River Hockey League, and are competing the schedule before participating in league playoffs.

Ambie Mallet looks back on his 98 years required to live there for six months of the year. Ambie and Bert built a 12 x 20 house out of lumber, and "hatched" for a number of years until Bert married Violet Stauffer, now a resident of Flanagan Lodge. Brother Bert died in 1941.

Ambie left the homestead and purchased a three-quarter section from an American, later adding another quarter-section.

The location was two miles south of Forestburg, near a store.

"I was still backing at the time but I got acquainted with a girl who was working in a bank, then we finally got married," he recalled.

Back in the early days of this century when it was difficult to set out a living, many people from the unsettled areas of Canada paid heed to the slogan "Go West, young man."

One such person was Ambie Mallet, who left Little York, Prince Edward Island at the age of 20.

That was back in 1904 in the times when "the big attraction" was a "free homestead" Mr. Mallet related shortly after he had observed his 98th birthday on February 15th at Flanagan Lodge in Sedgewick.

Although admitting to some "minor health complaints," Ambie's faculties are exceptional for his age, and he encountered little difficulty in turning back the pages of time, to recall his early life.

His first stop was at St. John's, Manitoba, near Winnipeg, where he worked on the harvest, stocking grain there missing in the threshing.

His cousin, Leslie Bryanton came with him, returning to the "Island" after the harvest. However, Mr. Bryanton returned the next year and took a homestead in Saskatchewan.

Ambie's brother, Bert came out to Alberta the year before (1903) to work for a farmer at New Norway, and this provided the link which was to see Ambie "grow" with the province to the present.

It was in 1906 that Mr. Mallet took the step that was to result in homesteading.

Continuing to work for Mr. Farguharson under the same financial arrangements, Ambie took "time off" and with brother Bert and friend, Walter Jones who had a team of horses, they travelled to Hastings Coulee, south-west of Forestburg and picked out their homestead.

Under the agreement with the federal government, 36 acres of land had to be broken over three years, and the homesteader was also Leaving Winnipeg, Ambie came to Weyburn, and spent a few days with an uncle who was a general merchant, while awaiting his brother, who picked him up when a load of grain was brought from town.

That winter, Ambie worked for a Mr. Farguharson for four months.

"They were very nice people - they took me with them. Their parties and visiting," he recounted.

In the spring of 1906 an agreement was reached whereby Mr. Mallet was to receive 120 a month for the summer months, helping with the crops and tending to the cows and pigs.

The next winter was spent hauling logs across frozen Dried Milk Lake to a sawmill, then returning with the lumber.

But looking back, he has "no regrets" about his life on the farm.

The Mallets had visited the West Coast while living on the farm, and retired to Victoria where his wife, Annie, died in 1966.

He came to Flanagan Lodge in 1980, where one of his favorite activities is shuffleboard.

The Seed Corner

Joe Cummings

With seedling just a little over a couple of months away, we as farmers have to finalize our cropping decisions.

For some who have placed their fertilizer down the tube last fall or applied pre-emergent chemicals, the decision has at least been partially made.

Once we decide what we want to grow we have to decide what we are going to do seed. According to the 1980 seed drill survey, a lot of farmers may not have made the right decision. Only 10 percent of the commercial seed graded Canada No. 1, and 21 percent was rejected.

In these days of such high cost inputs as fuel, seed, machinery, fertilizer, fuel, spray, etc., it is hard to believe that almost a quarter of the seed going into the ground was graded as "reject."

In this same survey, Balfour Pedigreed graded 81 percent as No. 1 seed while only 1 percent went as rejected. This survey also noted an 11 percent drop in the number of samples grading No. 1 at the farmers drill, compared to the same samples that left the seed plant.

This suggests that a little more time spent cleaning truck boxes, augers and seed bins would pay good dividends.

This year with most grain of good quality and good germination, a lot of farmers will be cleaning their own seed. Before you pick up your phone and dial your seed plant manager, it may pay you to take a better look at the grain you are going to ask him to clean. Go out to the bin, grab a sample and take it to the kitchen table. Your wife won't mind it could make the difference between vacuinating in Hawaii or Edmonton next year.

Take a ruler and separate your seed from the rest of the impurities in it, whether they be wild oats, ergot, other weed seeds or admixtures such as barley in wheat, or vice-versa. If you don't like what you see on the table after a few rubs of separating the grain, chances are the seed plant manager won't either, and you may end up as one of the 21 percent sowing seed grading "reject."

Maybe that phone call should go instead to a seed grower or seed house, who specializes in growing or handling good quality pedigreed seed.

Good seed can pay good dividends in the crop you harvest next fall.

Lougheed Happenings

Seems as though news is difficult to get. Everyone is busy with hockey, curling, skating. The ladies are also busy quilting quilts, doing their needlecraft and going to craft parties also taking in some of the Further Education Programs, hearing no time for entertaining in their homes.

Mark Cochran has returned home after a stay in an Edmonton hospital having surgery on his hand, which was injured last summer. The weather has been very good the last few days with the snow melting down some, so it helps when a strong wind comes up. The town is busy cleaning the snow off the streets.

A cribbage journey was held at the Wilcoxon Centre Thursday, February 18 with 3/4 tables playing. Prime winners were ladies high, Verna Stett; low, Christina Armstrong; gent's high, Pete Grove; low, Ralph Stett.

Another one will be held on March 4.

A whist drive was held at Goose Creek, Friday, February 19, with six tables playing. First, Shirley Simpson, and Harvey Simpson; Sweep, Moly Anderson, and Arnie Adamson; mystery, Esther Cameron, and John Black; travelling, Shirley Simpson and John Baker; consolation, Helen Sutherland, and Ralph Stett. See you at Bellville, Friday, February 25.

Some of the younger people don't know these people, but they lived here in thirties and forties. Mr. Bruce McDougall of Calgary passed away last week. Bruce and his brother had a garage in the old Bank building where the new Town Office and Library is now. Also Mrs. Codi Weir, nee Vivian Dickson of Vancouver died last week. Vivian's parents had the railway station here.

Get well wishes to Mr. George Rawlins who is very ill in the University Hospital in Edmonton. The family has been staying up there quite a lot of the time to be with him.

Lougheed takes Sedgewick in Rec Hockey

Lougheed Coyotes Rec Hockey team were able to beat the odds and the Sedgewick Rec team on February 18th with an inspiring 7-3 victory. Problems began when only seven players showed up for the contest involving the Coyotes and the Sedgewick team who had a full complement of 14 players.

The Coyotes jumped into a 3-0 lead early but Sedgewick was able to come back in the latter stages of the opening period with two goals of their own. The period ended with the Coyotes leading 3-2.

Half way through the second period, difficulties for the Coyotes worsened when one of their players along with a Sedgewick player were ejected from the game for engaging in fist-fuffs. The team never lost heart after this incident however, and the period ended with the Coyotes leading by a score of 5-3.

For the entire third period the Coyotes were forced to play with only five forwards and a goaltender and to their credit, they not only played extremely well defensively, but they also managed to pick up two more goals offensively, to make the final score 7-3 in their favour.

To be commended for a fine team effort while being at short handed are Larry Bob and Gerry Smith, Harold Hart, Rick Butcher, and Michael Pelton.

Top sharp shooter for the Coyotes was Bob Smith with a hat trick.

What To Do When the Taxman Comes - Thomas M. Ferguson
The author tells us to be honest in preparing our tax reports and that an internal checking must be set up to be sure we do this. He says this administrative branch of the government has hired workers to do the job, and that if any of us want the Income Tax Act to be amended we would likely have a greater chance to get it put through than Revenue Canada. Thomas Ferguson gives insight into issues such as Office Audits, Special Investigations and maverick plans of help where it can be.

Thoughts For Living

The preacher held up a large white handkerchief for his congregation to see.

Near the middle of the handkerchief was a small black spot.

"What do you see?" he asked.

"A black spot," someone replied.

"That's strange," said the preacher.

"Can't you see the white handkerchief?"

It is too often like that when we look at each other.

OUT OF SIGHT OUT OF MIND

Or the wrong approach to crime ignores it and it will creep up on you. It is a fact that the most common way to find out if you are being followed is to look in the rear view mirror. If you see a car following you, it is a sign that you are being followed. If you see a car following you, it is a sign that you are being followed. If you see a car following you, it is a sign that you are being followed.

Anglican Church News

Dennis Martin
The biggest crowd ever, turned out last Friday evening for the annual St. Edmund's parish potluck supper, held at the Loughheed Parish Hall. This year we were joined by the Loughheed Parish. The Rev. and Mrs. Richard and Cora served hours of love and punch to mark the tenth anniversary of Richard's elevation to the deaconate and to mark his appointment as Canon of St. Edmund's.

Following the beautiful supper, the rectory delivered his annual State of the Parish Address. He noted that the past year had been a good and well blessed one, and hoped that the Church would play in integral part of our lives.

He announced that our Bishop will be with us three times this year, and he noted that he is now preparing for confirmation the largest number of candidates in the history of St. Edmund's. The rectory's address was followed by a thoroughly nostalgic and enjoyable old-fashioned sing-along with Ken Routledge at the piano.

The Seed Corner

March is "Good Seed Month" a month set aside by the agricultural community to promote the use of good seed and to keep farmers abreast of the latest developments in the seed industry.

New varieties are constantly being developed and the promising lines are entered in the annual seed trials. These trials are conducted for a number of years. If one shows promise of having a superior value, the plant breeder will take his variety before a board who will decide if the variety has sufficient merit to become a standard variety.

Once it gains acceptance as a named variety the breeder's Seed Distribution Committee will allocate seed to select growers in the area of adaptation. It may also be multiplied during the off-season in a country with a warmer climate, or "down under" in order to get it out to farmers sooner.

Even so, the time between development of a variety and its availability to the farmer is a long one. It is for this reason that the seed industry is constantly working to improve its methods of seed production and distribution.

For the farmer, the seed industry is constantly working to improve its methods of seed production and distribution.

Precautions urged for home safety

The week of March 1-7 has been designated as Home Safety Week in Alberta by the Alberta Safety Council's Home Safety Committee in an effort to reduce deaths and injuries caused by accidents in or around the home.

Falls are the most common accidents in the home. More than 1,800 Canadians die from falls every year and some 250,000 are injured; many disabled for life.

The Home Safety Council recommends that residents check their homes for hazards, starting at the level. Keep floors and main traffic areas clear of clutter. Use only non-skid scatter mats that lay flat at all times. Repair or replace any broken or torn floor coverings, and use floor wax sparingly.

Stairways should be well-lit and clear of clutter.

Use handrails and walk - don't run - on stairs.

Bathrooms require special attention, says the Home Safety Committee. Use non-skid mats in the tub or shower and on the floor to avoid puddles on slippery wet floors. A grab bar inside the tub is a good safety feature.

Good lighting is important inside and outside the home. Switches should be easy to locate and easy to reach.

Outside the home, keep steps and sidewalks clear and in good repair. Tools and garden supplies should be stored - not scattered around the yard.

Personal safety habits are important too. Don't use boxes or chairs to help reach. Obtain a sturdy ladder or step stool and use it carefully. Avoid carrying loads which block vision.

Use proper footwear at all times and be alert.

The Home Safety Committee is aware that in spite of being alert for hazards and taking reasonable care, some falls are inevitable. Therefore, learn how to fall to reduce the severity of the fall.

Try not to tense; relax and let your arms and legs help you roll as you land. Rolling spreads the impact to the fleshy parts of the body, which reduces the severity of the fall.

Yes, there are some exciting things happening in the Adult Education Field in this county, as well as in the remainder of the province.

The Provincial Association of the Alberta Association for Continuing Education have completed plans for the spring Conference scheduled for late April at the Banff School of Fine Arts. Hopefully, co-ordinators from throughout the province as well as other interested persons will gain much knowledge and information to bring back to the local area.

Strongest contact, Betty Mohler, is taking registrations now for the upcoming course in Sewing a Lind Blaser planned for mid-March.

The course in Stenograph will be well received, with a full class of ten enrolled. Paid up registrations will be accepted first, so those not yet paid have little time to do so.

Plans are getting underway for a Welding course - an ongoing one at a week course with instructor Nick Gars, planned for the Sedgewick area.

Invitation to host '85 games received by Flagstaff council

An invitation to bid on the 1985 Alberta Summer Games was received for information last Thursday by Flagstaff County Council.

Reeve Bud Ness pointed out that a large grant is available, however, discussion revealed that there might be a problem obtaining volunteers.

Secretary-Treasurer Orville Linness said he saw situations where volunteers would be interested for three or four months, then lose interest.

To host the Summer Games in the area would be a three or four year project, he stated.

Referring specifically about the swimming aspect of the Games, Councilor Barbara Gibb said she knew people at Hardisty and would try to get them involved.

Such a project would require total county participation, said Councilor Glen Miller.

Reeve Ness said the county would have the facilities, but several towns would have to act as hosts.

Accommodation would be a problem, commented Councilor John Crawford, however, Councilor said school facilities were used for the Alberta Winter Games.

"Let someone else lead the parade," suggested Councilor Alex Blais.

Hardisty nominations for mayor, councillors

The transfer of Hardisty from the St. Lawrence County to the County of Hardisty was announced by the resignation of the mayor, ten days before nomination day.

Mr. Bumpall could run for mayor or council, if he so wishes.

Linda Dwyer is Hardisty's deputy mayor, and the remaining councillors are Hilary Gray, a school teacher; Mrs. Miller, a gas plant manager; and Don Campbell, a C.P.R. employee.

The terms of office will expire in October 1983.

Funding of ambulance service is discussed

The Flagstaff Ambulance Authority System is "down" for its service. Councilor Alex Blais stated last Thursday at the Flagstaff County council meeting.

Mr. Blais said most ambulance systems in Alberta operate through the hospital, or privately, and that the "Flagstaff" system is in the minority.

Reporting on a recent conference at Red Deer, Councilor Blais said discussions took place on funding methods including a per capita grant, unconditional grant, specific grant, or placing the ambulance system under provincial control, similar to health.

The councilor said that Flagstaff wants to avoid government take-over of ambulance service.

Councilor Blais said that probably funding would be provided 80 per cent by the province, 20 per cent locally, and the service be under local control.

Various levels of service were also discussed at the Red Deer meeting, including Emergency Response Unit, the System used in Flagstaff.

Hospitals Minister Dave Russell attended at Red Deer, "but said nothing about ambulances while reporting a lot of other projects have been achieved."

Area ambulance co-ordinators Harry Hahn of Hardisty, Lawrence Duxman of Kila, Eldon Sather of Dayland, and Joe Merchant also attended.

County survey buildings for energy loss

Rising energy costs have resulted in Flagstaff council taking steps to deal with the problem.

Council agreed last Thursday to obtain the assistance of the Alberta Energy Survey to determine where improvements could be made at the County Building, County shop at Sedgewick and at Central High School.

The last monthly bill for the county building and county shop was "well over $2,000," stated Secretary-Treasurer Orville Linness.

It was determined that schools are the largest users of energy, since they are the largest buildings.

Recent monthly bills for the school and the County Building were both placed at $2,000 each.

Councilor Barbara Gibb suggested the schools are kept too warm.

"It's not good when you have to send kids out in the cold to school wearing only T-shirts," stated Councilor Linness.

Reeve Bud Ness said that overheat fans to gym might be a good idea.

Councilor Glen Miller, school board chairman, agreed but added that the fans would have to be screened, the same as lights.

Window surveys are presently being taken in some schools, but it was pointed out that windows are sometimes left open unnecessarily, as well as doors.

The Energy Bureau uses an infrared system.

Cheryl Bearliss, treasurer of Sedgewick Curling Club for more than 40 years was presented with a life membership and commemorative plaque during last week's men's bonspiel, March 1 to 7. John Charron, president, made the presentation.

County Library Board ... victim of inflation

Flagstaff County council's action to set aside the formation of a county library board for the time being is only the tip of the iceberg.

It is easy to see that rising costs for everything from energy to materials-and education-will send this year's mill rate soaring.

Add to that the fact that the county has an accumulated deficit of $370,056 which council wishes to eliminate this year and one gets the idea that there will be an effort made to cut down on services provided.

It's a fact of life that all levels of government right from federal to municipal have been fighting a losing battle in recent years, as they attempt to "balance the budget."

Remember President Reagan-he made such an election promise-to eliminate deficit financing, but had to go back on his word.

In the County of Flagstaff, services are at a level as good or better than most other M.D.s. For example, an excellent road system, Waste Management System, and education system.

But the price is increasing, and regardless of county council's intentions, cut-backs in many areas of administration cannot be made. In other words, council's hands are tied.

And adding to council's woes in 1983 will be a new general assessment system, up to the present, farm residences have not been assessed as such, but this will be done commencing in 1983. Of course farm exemptions based on an index will rise accordingly.

But the farm owner will be the loser in the over-all picture, as properties are assessed at a "real" sale price.

Getting back to the county library proposal, Flagstaff would have to contribute money in order to get money (provincial grants) money which it feels it cannot do at present.

A county library board is an excellent proposal, but like other "new" projects, it will become a victim of inflation.

Dear Sir:
Like my fellow businessmen, I regret the inflationary causes of the recent hike in postal rates. Similarly, I regret having to pay more for paper, envelopes, printing, and the other overheads of my business, which is direct mail marketing.

I am, however, growing a little tired of the almost daily attacks on Canada Post Corporation, reported by news media. I'm tempted to think what Michael Warren, the new Crown corporation's president, has called "Post Office bashing" has become the national pastime, replacing the weather, Trudeau, Clark, Broadbent, or Air Canada (take your choice) as a means of riding out critics of our post office.

If you're not entirely content to reporting negative news, may I offer you recent experience with the Post Office.

My company operates the Farm Homestead Mail Co-op a direct mail service, reaching farmers in Ontario and the Prairie Provinces. Essentially, our householder mailings are directed to farmers only, and depend on the knowledge of local postmasters and their ability to provide this selective service.

Our most recent mailing to this market was an excellent success and to the complete credit of postmen and their staffs in the four provinces, the National Accounts and Sales department of Canada Post.

We now have an indication that Canada Post officials in British Columbia and the Atlantic provinces are willing to co-operate in a similar way, thus giving us coverage throughout English-speaking rural Canada.

For one, an optimistic about the future of the new Crown corporation and that your readers should know of at least one contented Post Office customer.

Yours very truly,

Dear Sir:

The Hobbema Hawks of the Alberta Junior Hockey League announce this week that the dates of the Annual Spring Assessment Camp will be held March 30, 31, and April 1.

The camp will be held in the community of Hobbema and will be open to anyone and as General Manager, I explain, "We are concentrating on the smaller centres and rural areas because we know the players are out there but many of them just don't get the chance."

"Our team was made up of players from these areas this year and for a team with nothing to start with, we were really happy with our showing but there is room for improvement as always."

Anyone wishing to attend this camp or requesting any information is asked to contact the Hawks office at 545-5455 or 763-5404 (evenings) or write to the Hobbema Hawks Jr. A Hockey Club, Box 61, Hobbema, Alberta, T0C 1N0.

FLAGSTAFF

UPDATE

Flagstaff Family and Community Services
Telephone: 345-3976

Flagstaff Family and Community Services is an agency that provides and helps communities provide social support services for Flagstaff residents.

When the service is one that will serve the whole area, responsibility for this service is assumed as part of the Flagstaff FCS program. Occasionally, local programs are needed to meet the specific needs of local communities. These programs are often organized by FCS with assistance from local community members and are partially or fully funded by the agency. Once the local service can operate on its own, FCS turns these local services over to a local group who must then provide 20 per cent of the funds while FCS provides 80 per cent of the funds.

This area has many projects. There are playgrounds in Alliance, Depressed, Hardisty, Killem, Loughed and Sedgewick, and a Meals-on-Wheels program in Alliance, all operating on a local level. The Meals-on-Wheels program in Killem, up to now, has been operated by Flagstaff FCS. Home Support Services and is now ready, after a year of successful operation, to be turned over to a local group.

The group has not been found yet but plans are in place to begin operations as of April 1, 1982.

The cost of this local program will then be covered by fees for service, a FCS grant and a small amount of local funds.

Killam Kindergarten operates alphabet store

Furnace problems and cold weather combined to make January a short month for kindergarten. Mrs. Karen Knevel substituted while Mrs. Polge was ill. Parents were presented with a short program and a gift of "My Alphabet Book" made by each child, for the Valentine's party. Cookies with names on them were the lunch treat. A thriving Alphabet Grocery Store has been in operation. Even some millionaires might agree with me! That very wealthy American, John D. Rockefeller, once told a Bible class that he believed it was every man's duty to get all the money he could fairly and honestly, and to give away all he could. "What is success?" he asked. "Is it money?" "Some of you have all the money you need to provide your wants and needs. The poorest man in the world is the man who has nothing but money." Canon R. Conrad.

Cosmetic and Skin Care Corner

As with everything else, cosmetics also get old and may deteriorate and cause allergic reactions or infections. The cosmetic most prone to bacteria is mascara and in order to avoid irritation to the eye, your mascara should be replaced every three to four months. Because of the high moisture content in some creams and oily make-up it makes a good breeding ground for bacteria. If the consistency of a cream changes or suddenly smells funny or makes your skin itch, it's time to throw it out. Most creams are good for six months. Powder eye shadow and pressed powder are good for eight months, but the brushes and applicators should be periodically cleaned. Cosmetic makers add preservatives to help kill micro-organisms that get in your make-up but remember the preservatives can break down and stop working with age, so it's best to keep your cosmetics up to date.

Central students learn craft of weaving

A first at Central High School, students in Ruth Ball's clothing and textiles class are preparing their own yarn for conversion into wall hangings, as part of a "farm to fabric" study.

Obtained from sheep at the Donald Ball farm, 13 miles south of Sedgewick.

First, the sheep were shorn and the wool was washed and carded at a custom woolen mill.

Residues spinning white, wool from black sheep is being used by the students, also buffalo wool obtained from Sedgewick Taxi.

Explaining the process, Mrs. Ball said the remainder was doing a research project on the various steps in the unit, such as the spinning wheel, weaving and dyeing.

In the drying process, the students were to experiment with beet juice, onion skins, leaved and pumpkins, as well as chemical dyes.

In the first unit, the girls made blue and the weaving course started in February.

Most of the girls appeared genuinely interested in the project, but they unanimously chose the present over the past when asked if they would have liked to have been around in the pioneer era.

Melanie McElroy holds an article of weaving and teacher Ruth Ball holds a skein of hand-spun yarn.

Why are these people on Canada's most wanted list?

There are jobs in Canada that cannot be filled because of a shortage of skilled people. Technology is moving faster than some industries. And if Canada is to remain competitive in international markets we must meet the employment challenges we face now.

Our hope is in informing young Canadians about the opportunities in the fields of skilled trades and the new technologies. At Employment and Immigration we have helped hundreds of thousands of young people discover options they never knew they had.

Federal government programs help train them so they can take advantage of those options. By special funding to institutions and colleges, Canadians get classroom education in priority subjects. And virtually all of the apprentices training in regulated programs are supported by some form of federal government assistance.

That helps people find the right job, and industry find the right people. And that helps Canada work.

Telephone hotline assists home bakers

Alberta homemakers can now phone away their baking blues. Robin Hood Multitools, a leader in Canada's home baking industry, has introduced a new telephone hotline staffed by an experienced home economist.

The hotline, open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday to Friday, will answer baking questions and suggest recipes.

Homemakers can call a toll-free number 1-800-333-1112, from anywhere in Alberta for instant baking advice.

The hotline is aimed at food professionals as well as consumers. "We expect to get our share of calls from experts such as home economists in government, business and education," says Charlene VanderGriff, Robin Hood's Consumer Consultant, who organized the project.

"Questions on high-altitude baking, yeast breads, pastry and flour are some of the most common queries with home bakers in this province," says VanderGriff, "but we will try to resolve any baking problem which they may encounter."

VanderGriff says there is a real need for this type of service, the first of its kind in Canada. "We want to help preserve the traditional skills of experienced home bakers and make them available to everyone."

"The Alberta hotline is a pilot project which we believe has possible future application throughout the country."

From Hardisty

Much interest shown in flags

Activity begins to pick up for the Hardisty International Flag Society as we head towards the spring and summer season. A recent meeting with representatives of Travel Alberta was most productive, as these people continue to help us in their encouragement and support.

Recent phone calls for information to the Town of Hardisty and to the Flag Society have been received from the C.B.C., the Western Embroider in Ottawa and from Mr. Tommy Cormack, assistant to Senator Bud Olson.

A request to borrow world flags by the A.F.S.F. in Calgary for an Ice Review unfortunately had to be denied.

Another person of note has accepted an honorary directorship in our society, this being Mr. Raymond Terillon, the Canadian representative to the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees.

One of our honorary directors, Mr. Franz Karsak, the Secretary General of the Council of Europe has sent us two copies of the Council of Europe. We venture to suggest that these are the only flags of their kind to be found outside of Europe.

The mail this past month has also brought us flags and messages from Greece, Luxembourg, Mexico, and the People's Republic of China.

The T.I.A.L.T.A. convention companion tour visits Hardisty Friday, March 12, and besides viewing the flags and messages on display at the Drop-in Centre, they will be given a conducted tour of the town by Councillor Linda Brewer, and treated to a luncheon featuring dishes from the Ukraine, Italy, Germany, Pakistan and the Caribbean.

Don't forget the next international event on March 26th in the Legion Hall. It will take the form of a "Lock of the Irish Sale."

A draw for a pot of gold will be one of the features. Contact any members of the Flag Society for free pick-up items to be donated for the sale.

March came in like a lion when the Hardisty Silver Saddle 4-H Club held their monthly meeting on March 1st.

The Junior and Senior members answered a roll call by giving an impromptu speech and the pre-ween members answered by naming their favorite winter sport.

June Crane told us about different clinics that will be held in the coming months. We discussed our club uniforms and the Light Horse club gave us air-rups in exchange for a day's work cleaning up the rodeo grounds.

After the meeting was adjourned, we had a quiz on horses, then we had a film on training horses which was very good.

Details of Library Board explained

The setting up a county library system was approved by Flagstaff council last Thursday, because members fear a hefty increase in this year's mill rate might result in the cutting of present services.

"Libraries in Flagstaff are growing by leaps and bounds," said Ms. Gray, pointing out that the eight libraries in Flagstaff serve all but two villages.

Presently, Flagstaff libraries receive $200 each annually but under a county library board, $23,285 would be made available.

A county library board would not have to set up physical library, council was informed.

Formation of a regional library board was also discussed.

Also $9,296 of the total recreation grant of $48,000 goes to libraries. Under a basic formula, Flagstaff would be required to provide $2 per capita ($53) amounting to $9,506, while the province would provide $13,959 based on a grant of $3 per capita.

If a county library board was set up, it could consist of from five to ten people, with up to two county council representatives for liaison purposes, council was told.

Ms. Gray commended community libraries such as the Alliance and Forestburg libraries, which are supported by funds raised by local library boards.

Provincial assistance at present for these libraries is 1.5 times amount spent in a maximum of three dollars per capita.

On the evening of March 5, The World Day of Prayer, services were successfully held at the Merita Silver Saddle 4-H Club. The United Church and Catholic Church from the Alliance area were represented. Several lovely hymn selections were given by the Seven Day Advent people and by the United Church choir. A delicious lunch was enjoyed by the service.

On Sunday, Cliff and Carol McBurnett attended the baptism of their grandson, David Clifford, son of Kevin and Debby McBurnett, at the Trinity Lutheran Church north of Loughheed. Following the service the McBurnetts enjoyed brunch at Kevin and Debby's home.

Four brothers and friends, Debby and Margaret were coffee callers with Hazel, Len and Mary on Sunday afternoon. Len was really impressed with Faye's 4-wheel drive truck which pulled his tractor off an icy field approach. Faye will likely never let Lenard hear the end of that one!

Another break-in has been reported in Alliance. A few weeks ago it was the school and on Sunday night, Orville Falls had several hundred dollars worth of possessions stolen. Please don't beat Church. The United Church and Catholic Church from the Alliance area were represented. Several lovely hymn selections were given by the Seven Day Advent people and by the United Church choir. A delicious lunch was enjoyed by the service.

Ken Geddes and Marie were in Edmonton on the weekend, celebrating Ken's birthday with their daughter, Elva. Elva must have been good cake. Marie's been on a starvation diet ever since.

Our local hairdresser, Lou Bateman, has run into some tricky competition. I suspect her husband, Dave gives a better perm than she does.

Pat and Ben Balmain and family of Stettler spent Sunday with Irvin and Ethel Fink. They celebrated Ben and Kim's birthday - no ages were given?

The last weekend of February saw five Kinsmen and their wives as well as one single member attend the annual Spring Zone Convention held in Inverness, B.C.

In conjunction with the meetings, a giant toboggan race was held. Our team finished second, but somebody obviously felt our toboggan was great, so it was stolen on the Sunday morning.

Anyone spotting a giant orange litter tube, please report it to the Sedgewick Kinsmen. It was an enjoyable weekend for everyone.

March is a busy month for Kinsmen. As well as the Sno Golf, we are cooking breakfast for the Provincial "D" Banquet Tournament on the morning of March 27th. That evening we will be accompanying our Ki-

Hardisty out of BRRPC

The Town of Hardisty's association with the Battle River Regional Planning Commission has come to an end, terminating April 1st. It matters who you buy a kitchen from.

Some kitchen dealers give you a "wham-bam-thank-you-Mam" kind of installation. Other kitchen dealers take care to give you every attention. How will you know which to choose, before it may be too late?

Example: Examine the kitchen cabinets they sell. Merit cabinets are warranted a full 3 years against defects in materials and workmanship. That says a lot about a cabinet. It says a lot about a dealer too.

And wanting Merit says a lot about you. Merit is not as expensive as it looks. Merit is sold only through reputable kitchen planning professionals. For complete kitchen planning service, and worry-free installation, call us today. We're your Merit dealer. We'll show you how to get started.

Jack and Hazel Shaw celebrate 50th anniversary

On Saturday, February 13, family and friends gathered to honor Jack and Hazel Shaw, of Sedgewick, on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. John Seymour and Hazel Dianne were united in marriage on February 13, 1932, at the Sedgewick United Church. The ceremony was officiated by Rev. MacLean. John emigrated to Canada from England in 1920 and has always lived on the farm. Hazel is the daughter of the late Clifford and Agnes Streich of Killam.

The celebration began with a lovely family supper in the Anglican Church Hall, catered by the A.C.W. (of which Hazel is a life-time member). The hall was festively decorated in gold and white streamers and bunting. The head table was centred with bouquets of white and gold mums and carnations, gold tapers, and a nautically decorated cake, prepared by Joyce Bergshead and Nora Bergshead.

Seated next to the "bride" was her original attendant, Irene (Debbie) Thompson. Jack had travelled from the way from Salmon Arm B.C., also John Streich (nephew).

Supporting the "groom" were Mr. George Streich (nephew of Hazel) from Kamloops, and Cliff Shaw (son-in-law). At the 40th tables were seated 34 members of the immediate family, including 18 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. These were: Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Overbo, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Overbo, Karl Overbo, all of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. Sven Jensen, Courtney Jensen, Victoria; Kathy Erb, Valenzoni; and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Bergshead and Terri, Mr. and Mrs. Rick Bergshead, Ryan and Cheryl; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Bergshead, Sedgewick; Mr. Cliff Shaw, Sedgewick; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jones, Dumas, of Lorry and Mickey, Prince George; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Jones, Steven, Graham, and

Mr. and Mrs. George Shaw, Tracy and Susan, Stony Plain; Lorna Shaw, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown, granddaughter of Jack and Hazel; Mr. Paul Reid, grandson of Takoyukht, were unable to attend because of distance.

Mr. and Mrs. David Anderson (granddaughter) and Cheryl of Dover, were also unable to attend, but phoned the following granddaughters: Special guests were Nora Bergshead, daughter of friend and neighbour, and Irene Pfeiffer of Calgary.

Following the supper, Lawrence called on family members wishing to pay tribute to their parents. Rhona related some trials of "being the eldest," and anecdotes about her parents, Jack and Hazel. She also related with the "Puss" (as youngest), with her mother will, spoke on the perils and privileges of being the "baby" of a big family. Alice, by means of poetry, gave the history of Jack and Hazel from 1912 to '32 and proposed a toast to "Mum and Dad," and Joyce spoke of her parent's love and life together.

Lawrence then read the numerous "official" certificates of congratulations from: our local M.P.'s, our Premier, The Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, the Prime Minister of Canada, and from the Prime Minister of Canada.

The party then moved to the Community Hall for open house where 150 friends signed the guest book and enjoyed refreshments prepared by the family. Music was provided by Ray Kolosovsky and his group from Loughheed. Jack and Hazel enjoy a good dance and were still "going strong" at 1:30 a.m. They individually thanked everyone for coming and Jack's wish was that "all you married people here get to celebrate your 50th anniversary."

The evening closed with an enthusiastic rendition of "The There's a Jolly Good Couple," by all present. Carol of Thanks

We would like to express our sincere thanks to everyone who came to help and celebrate our 50th anniversary. For your good wishes and all your lovely cards. We "Thank you" to our family "The Shaw kids" for making the day such a memorable occasion for the people to the girls who are fortunate enough to be co-nieces. While they are co-nieces. While they are co-nieces.

Jack and Hazel Shaw.

Lakeland Rodeo Association promotes queen contests

Lakeland Rodeo Association, organized in 1979, has in three years, grown from a small regional rodeo association to what may well prove this year to be the number one association in Alberta.

The C.P.R.A. in 1981, recognized L.R.A. by inviting the top three contestants in each event to become C.P.R.A. card holders.

Last year L.R.A. boasted almost 500 members but with the big money rodeo and the offering for this season, the membership may well double.

In 1981, cowboys travelled from Killam to Fort McMurray and from Bonnyville to Hinton, bringing rodeo and its rewards to many Alberta residents.

In many communities rodeo has been the number one attraction. It provides new facilities, renovates the old, and provides jobs for such projects as artificial ice. This, of course, is only possible because of the hard-working rodeo communities.

One of the projects undertaken by most rodeo communities is a queen contest. This allows each member in a community to have a personally involved, whether they sponsor and help a queen contestant or simply buy or sell tickets.

There are many advantages to a queen contest. It is a number one fund-raiser for the facilities that many communities take for granted. It also provides support for the various service clubs and organizations that belong to our communities. We must not forget the benefits to the girls who are fortunate enough to be co-nieces. While they are co-nieces. While they are co-nieces.

tainly rewarded for their hard work with prizes, the most important benefits are probably those of personal growth.

Rodeo is Canada's number one sport but this is only possible because of the rodeo communities and their communities. In recognition of this, L.R.A. is the first association to sponsor a queen contest at their Finals Rodeo.

Here, each girl who was named queen at her local

L.R.A. rodeo is invited to compete for Miss L.R.A. With no tickets to sell and over a thousand dollars in prizes, this can be a truly rewarding experience for the girl and her parents.

The reigning Miss L.R.A. is Aigle Blaise from Strathmore, Killam 1981 rodeo queen. Black Bros. professional contractors from Rosalind, Alberta, will be supplying the stock for the June 4 and 5 L.R.A. approved rodeo in Killam.

The Seed Corner

Joe Cameron

Beware "Grown From." Every year about this time of year you can pick up almost any farm paper and see this type of ad. Usually it is put in by a farmer who has bought one of the newer varieties of grain and the ad reads "Grown from Certified Whatever."

Anyone interested in buying seed from these fellows should ask themselves a couple of questions:

1. Why have this individual taken the steps to become a seed grower?

The answer to the first question could be many factors, few of them good reasons to buy from this individual.

The answer to the second question could be many reasons you bargained for. Did he clean his truck out completely before loading his seed last spring? Was his grain dry cleaned? Was there any grain in the bulk trailer he used? How clean was his seed bin or the ones he put grain in during harvest? Did he clean out his auger before using it? Did he clean out his field? Was the combine shut down for half a day while he cleaned it out? Did you see him and his family out in the field last July or August rugging the underbelly? Was his seed treated so that it would meet the disease-free standard? How is his weed problem? Would he recognize clovers, sometimes misnamed as "weed" problems, would he be able to find the cause of suitable land? In the case of repeated, did it have proper isolation distance from other crops that could prevent cross-pollination? These and other precautions are second nature to any established seed grower. He knows that sometime during the summer the crop inspector is going to walk his fields, and if things aren't in tip-top shape in his report and our association at Ottawa will decline to seed.

If you are in the market for seed, be very careful of a "Grown From." Make it Certified and be sure.

Committee to see if county able to hold '85 summer games

A committee to look into the feasibility of holding the 1985 Summer Games in Flagstaff was formed at the annual County meeting, held Monday evening, in Sedgewick Community Hall.

When it appeared that county council was reluctant to take on such a task because of the vastness of the project, several citizens thought otherwise, and through spokesman, Manfred Jewswain presented the case for holding the Games here.

The motion to form the committee was made by former councillor, Al Randa, with representatives to come from Rec Boards, school board and county council.

Reeve Bud Ness said that council considered the Summer Games "a big project" and that "but counties would have to put out."

Mr. Jewswain agreed that this would be the only way

County annual meeting notes

Mayor Bud Ness reported at Monday's annual County meeting that 22 miles of new road had been constructed, one and one-half miles under contract and the remainder by county crews.

Councillor Glen Miller announced that Mr. Cherran, assistant secretary-treasurer of the county, who had been on a year's leave of absence, had submitted his resignation.

Reeve Ness informed a spokesman from Hardisty that the idea of a County Library System had not been shelved, but would be considered at budget time.

A discussion of the new assessment for 1983 took place with the suggestion that perhaps the system leans more toward the urban-dweller and was thus "discriminatory." A member of the audience said he is "still looking for the definition between the acreage owner and a farmer."

Former Councillor Al Randa in his Municipal Finance Association report, said a doctor's house at Galahad had been purchased by the County in the early 60's in hopes of attracting a doctor, "but we were never able to get one to come and stay." Other homes owned by the county had been purchased and erected their products and services.

Recently, trade fairs in other Alberta locations have proven successful in creating a focal point for business activity.

Approximately 60 booths will be available for exhibition to get one to come and stay. These booths will feature standardized decor and lighting.

With a June 11 deadline for submission of a bid, Mr. Jewswain said there are serious time constraints.

Suggesting that perhaps a full-size swimming pool would not be possible with a $250,000 budget, Mr. Jewswain briefly outlined the list of events, such as archery, basketball, road racing, equestrian, field hockey, golf, horsehoes, lacrosse, roller skating and slow-pitch.

Sedgewick Killam Club's first No Golf attempt on Saturday had about 25 entries, with those participating reporting a good time. Amusing in making the event "official" are from left, Mayor Ernie Koski, Ken Preston

Lots of controversy at County annual meeting

After Monday night's "Town Hall" annual meeting of the County of Flagstaff at Sedgewick Community Hall, there should be all kinds of contenders for seats on County Council when election time rolls around in 1983.

That's what Councillor Rolf Jacobsen said - perhaps tongue-in-cheek - at the conclusion of a meeting which was attended by nearly 300 persons, and which hardly ever had a dull moment.

Mr. Jacobsen said he was pleased with the turnout (there were only about 30 raterayers at last year's gathering) and welcomed the interest shown.

But we don't think the momentum caused by the possible location of a hazardous wastes plant in the county (subsequently squelched by council after a Concerned Citizens Committee went to work) will carry over into another year, although there are after-effects.

To say that council was placed on the "hot seat" would be an understatement, as raterayers fired from the hip, almost from the opening bell of a four-hour long meeting.

Fleeting questions about possible dumping of hazardous materials at the Flagstaff Sanitary Landfill site, to the quality of education, to the possible holding of the 1985 Alberta Summer Games in the area, councillors were constantly on their toes.

And elected officials weren't the only ones to face public scrutiny, as one raterayer posed the "hypothetical" point of a paid county employee "grossly exceeding his prerogative," all-the-while being serious.

The raterayer suggested that the person - without naming him - had attended a September 14 meeting with the Hazardous Waste Team, unknown to council, and in a later letter had authorized drill testing, also unknown to council.

The questioner said that if "someone had exceeded his authority, let him admit it."

Reeve Bud Ness re-iterated his stand that he has "no further interest in a hazardous waste plant," adding that the matter brought up "had been attended to."

So, as you can see, it was a "large evening."

Now for October 1983 nomination. Any takers?

The General Store always was a hub of the community in days gone by. Not only could a person buy the staples of life, hardware supplies, candy from a medicine jar for the child, pen, and clothing materials by the yard for the lady of the house - the General Store was a gathering place to talk about the topics of the day. D. A. Bickell's General Store in Sedgewick, no doubt, was one such place. Another request to readers: if you have any old time photos which you wish reprinted in The Community Press, send them along with as much information as possible. Photos will be returned in the same condition as received.

Neighbours are key to crime prevention

Sharon M. Chevrux
The best form of crime prevention and home security is your neighbours," according to Cpl. R.J. Williams, Crime Prevention Coordinator for Red Deer Sub-division, R.C.M.P.

"If neighbours are alert to spot suspicious activities, strangers or their vehicles and report to us, we have a better chance of catching criminals before they commit a crime, or apprehending them afterwards," he said.

This belief by R.C.M.P. officers and concerned citizens led to the formation of a Rural Crime Watch Program in Alberta in 1979, the only province to institute it so far, although Saskatchewan is currently assessing its value and other provinces are expressing an interest.

Patterned after the Neighborhood Watch Program operating in Alberta towns and cities since 1975, the Rural Crime

Watch Program has attracted nearly 4,000 members from Central Alberta so far. They have already achieved some outstanding success.

For example, an armed robbery at Standard last year was quickly solved when Crime Watch members reported suspicious activity in a local campground. Police investigated and discovered the robbers "hided up" there.

But the Rural Crime Watch measures success in other ways too. Part of the program involves teaching people how to make their homes and businesses more secure and identify their property, so stolen items can be recovered more easily.

Participating members are issued special stickers predating their involvement in the program, and when these stickers are prominently displayed, they are often enough to discourage criminals.

R.C.M.P. officers say thieves do not want to touch marked items because they are too hard to dispose of, and too easily traced.

Another aspect of crime prevention promoted by the Rural Crime Watch is the Lady Beware Program. Women of all ages are given the opportunity, often through the schools, to hear lectures and see film teaching them how to avoid being attacked or falling that, how to deal with attackers.

Participating members are issued special stickers predating their involvement in the program, and when these stickers are prominently displayed, they are often enough to discourage criminals.

Our Alliance Concert series group will have their final presentation of the year on Saturday, March 20th, 8 p.m. at the Alliance Gaiety Theatre. The Church Mice Players of Camrose will be presenting two one-act plays. The first play is entitled "After Margritte" and is a British farce of the who-done-it mystery type, leading into comedy. The second presentation is called "Moonlight Magford" a sympathetic drama dealing with the question of insanity and reality. A door prize draw will be made at the end of the evening, awarding the winner with a free pass to next years concert series.

A tremendous amount of work has gone into the organizing of these concerts, and they certainly are a "basher in the cap" for our town. The only way we can show our appreciation of the venture and encourage them to continue, is by attending the performances. So, hope to see you there.

Sympathy is extended to the George McLean family. George suffered a fatal heart attack on Tuesday night. Services were held in Alliance on Saturday.

Several out of towners were in Alliance on the weekend attending the funeral services of Jack Campbell.

Staying with Ken and Maria Geddes were: Don Geddes and Lillian Covert of Washington, Bill Geddes of Oregon. These people are cousins of Ken's and half brothers and sisters of Jack Campbell's. Also staying at the Geddes home were: Elva, Mike and David of Edmonton.

Because I'm a rather happy type of news reporter, I failed to get to the birthday party of Tracy Towers of Killam in last nights game. Tracy was nine years old on March 17th. Helping her to celebrate were the Gordash families, Edna and Harry Towers, and Earl and Gladys Sklar. Related greeting, Tracy.

Also late getting into the paper are the Akorn supper guests, a week ago Sunday. Present were Marie and Roy Randle, Mary Edister, Ethel and husband Don Bow, and Marie's brother, Jack Barman and his wife, Gladys, all of the Olive district.

A week ago, Saturday, the Castor 15 and under (Tim Akorn, Byron Bullock and Dean Rasmussen) played a provincial game in Provost and lost 4-9 in an exciting game.

Art, Helen and Pat Wolf were down visiting over the weekend. Art and Helen stayed with us and Pat spent Saturday night at the home of Irene Baird-Helen. Pat and Irene also joined the Denney Towers family, Dale Barmann family and our brood for supper in the Tasty Mill at Castor Saturday night following our 10 and under hockey tournament.

Our Alliance 10 and under won the "B" division trophy in Castor's tournament on Saturday. Their first game was against Castor, our boys were defeated 5-3 in a ridiculous exciting game (I say ridiculous because I know it's not normal for mothers to be having fun and falling in them during a nights game). The boys then handily defeated Haines to win the trophy. Player awards were presented in both games, our deserving winners were Derek Rasmussen and Aaron Bullock. Every member of the team played his heart out and I only regret that their weren't enough trophies for each player. Several boys got their first goals of the season and I'm sure each of them felt a bit like an ace. The next day we were re-heating his goal (for the 4th time) when in an unfiled voice he queried, "Do you know when everyone was getting me on the back after the goal and everyone was cheering, did you see my uncle Mike?"

The tone of his voice summed it all up, he must have felt the rockets of a dream come true being released.

Weather and ice permitting, the mothers of the 10 and under will be challenging them to a game this coming Sunday with a pot-luck supper to follow. I hope I can ref as I won't have to let go of the boards.

Ede Akorn has her granddaughter, Dagny living with her, and attending school in Sedgewick. Dagny is the daughter of Don and Isabel Dahl. Sincerely hope she enjoys her stay in Alliance.

Thursday night's blizzard disrupted a lot of carefully laid plans for many people. A lot of people had unexpected overnight guests due to the lack of visibility and the road conditions. I'm ever so pleased to report that there were no serious mishaps as a result of the blizzard. I'm told the Jim Bullock family or at least part of the family spent the night in their car, thankfully the temperature didn't drop too low.

Laverne and Denny Wessner of Strona were down visiting Laverne's men, Grace McDermott on Sunday. They have just returned from their southern holiday, looking very relaxed and brown. Grace thought the time was a pleasure to behold, as in her words, she's so sick of looking at white stuff. Betty Rasmussen visited with them while they were at Grace's.

Obviously the time didn't do much for our Betty, as she's digging in her heels and says she's not going to Vegas, even though her ticket has already been purchased. She's given up smoking, and now gambling and travelling. For goodness sake, Betty don't give up playing the rummy.

Bob and Ruby Morrow have returned from their three-week holiday and report having had a very nice time.

Supper guests with Bill and Myrtle Richardson, Monday night were: Ken and Dorothy Findlay and Jim, Ed and Nancy Barmann, Jeff and Karie and Beth and Roy Kelle and Tina.

That Nancy and Ed sure do get around. On Saturday night, they were at Vernon for supper with Pat and Donna Corack and Sunday night with Beth and Roy. The upsetting part is that Nancy is finished dining now and can enjoy all these lovely invitations - some people have all the luck.

Muriel and Virgil White of Bentley were Wednesday and Thursday visitors with Helen McPherson. Speaking of Helen, I watched the taking at the Rac Centre Thursday night and both Helen and I can plainly see that no one makes an error dialing. It's just those unpredictable disks that cause the trouble.

Ken's dad, Mr. Findlay, fell last Sunday and broke his hip. At the time of this writing, the family was awaiting word regarding his condition following surgery to set the break. He sincerely hopes the recovery will be an easy and successful one.

Deep sympathy is extended to Vivian Clark and her family in the untimely death of her brother, Ken Beasley, of Wainwright. Ken was only 29 years old and killed in a plane crash in the Grande Prairie area. Vivian just recently lost a 19 year old nephew. It sometimes makes one wonder just how much one family is expected to bear.

Jack and Mary Rasmussen stopped to visit with Ron and Lorna Platz at Port McLeod on their return trip from Arizona. They are expected back in Alliance Monday or Tuesday.

Breda McCarty is to be the owner of a lovely new white car when sometime this week her nephew will deliver it.

Sedgewick Ladies' Curling Club annual bonspiel which concluded Sunday night, March 14, had 29 rinks in competition. The Mary Simons rink of Sedgewick won the Grand Challenge and was awarded the Sedgewick Co-op trophy. There were three generations on the up rink and a niece of Mrs. Simons. The Kim Martin rink of Lougheed took the Hard Luck prize, and the Fran Chapelle rink of Killam had the biggest end - a six-ender. Sedgewick Club President Linda Dye makes the presentation to Mary Simons, skip; Helen Leeb, third; Pam Leeb, second, and Betty Woodley, lead. The Chapelle rink was second in the first event with the Mary Piche rink of Sedgewick in third, followed by the Sharon Ann Whitehead rink of Hardisty.

Winners of the second event at Sedgewick Ladies' Bonspiel was this Forestburg entry of Doris Farvolden, skip; Virginia Vollmer, third; Wendy Marcinkowski, second, and Alison Tibble, lead. The Veer rink of Irma was second, with third going to Linda Dye, Sedgewick and fourth to Georgina Brandingen, Sedgewick.

This Sedgewick-Killam rink of Tusi Simola, skip; Pat Southern, third; Donna MacPherson, second, and Sue Harts, lead, took the third event at the annual Sedgewick Ladies' Bonspiel. Second was the Nyall rink of Daynaad, with the Gladys Lien rink of Lougheed in third place, while Aritha Gould of Sedgewick took fourth.

Villing will Grace Ward over the weekend was her grandson, Craig Ward from Sherwood Park. That likely indicates that Craig's old enough to drive and that in turn means that I really am getting old.

My coffee shop connections tell me that there are a lot of rigs in our area, including Sedko, Tri-City, and Badger. One of the Sedko men was quoted as saying that the Alliance coffee shop should be the "Real People". He's quite taken with the friendliness of the town - he's just not sure if any of them are normal.

As most of you know the "Easter Bunny Buffet" and events are to be held at the commercial hotel again this year. Forgetting hotel, people, some of them, will be on hand to witness the event - we request that everyone be on good behavior to impress them! There will be contests for the Alliance students to draw and name the "First Space Age Bunny" to be born in Alliance, and for the adults to guess the names of the Mr. and Mrs. Easter Bunny.

I saw Barclay Spady at the show on Friday night. I'm not sure if parents, Linda and Lorne were down or not, strange that one is alone.

Robert Keichinger apparently is without scruples for he stole the Easter egg decoration from the hotel and let several of the coffee shop gentlemen take the rap. The mayor refused to be searched as he felt a search would be diminishing and belittling to someone of his stature. What a disgusting thing, Robert, we can only hope your fellow Lions deal with you fairly.

Meals On Wheels continues to be a success in the town. The total of meals served last week was 26. We're very proud of its success.

I'm sorry to report that Mrs. Irving is back in Gadsbad Hospital, and her sister-in-law, Cassie Irving has returned to Castor. Hope you're home soon, Millie.

Kerry Peters will become the new waitress in the hotel. Kerry and her husband, Lynn live in the former Lynne home. John is a dry-waller by presently in the University Hospital awaiting open heart surgery. His co-workers from this area wish him a speedy recovery.

Arnold Malone, our M.P. aide with a picturesque book of Alberta.

On March 14th, numerous Alliance people, myself included, attended the Progressive Conservative Association annual banquet. See Laura Towers' article for full details. Their guest speaker was the Hon. John Crosbie, M.P. The crusty Newfoundland is certainly not to be mistaken for a soft-spoken politician. If there is an opinion to be voiced he does it with a flair and often an engaging wit.

Over the weekend, he on his fellow Newfoundlanders or opposition politicians.

Speaking of the P.C. time in power is explained that they had been in power long enough to conceive but not long enough to deliver. When their government was defeated, he said his wife travelled to China (in his words to find out what Canada would become in a few years time, under the Liberal Government). Acting on impulse, he sent a telegram to his successor McEwen saying "I wish you were here." In his opinion things were perfectly lively in Alberta and Newfoundland, it was just the spaces in between the two that were causing the problems.

A lovely banquet was catered to by Castor's Shangri-la and super entertainment provided by Bud and Lucy Marshall.

On behalf of the Crowfoot constituency, Laura Towers presented John Crosbie with a pictureque book of Alberta.

Arnold Malone, our M.P. aide with a picturesque book of Alberta.

I might add that I was highly insulted when the powers-that-be neglected to invite me to join the "press table". Likely because my editor failed to supply me with a T.V. camera and microphone - oh the trials and tribulations in a reporter's life.

On Friday, March 19th, the Neufelds will have the official reopening of the Alliance Sundries store. If you haven't been in to see Bernie and Edna and all their remodeling fees by all means drop in. The changes are both remarkable and lovely. They're certainly willing managers and "aim to please" so feel free to make any suggestions as to products you'd like to see on their shelves.

The ladies of the Alliance and area Women's Institute are serving coffee every Tuesday morning from 10-11 a.m. It's a social morning - a chance for newcomers to meet other ladies and all children are welcome.

Any Anglican man who is interested in forming a Brotherhood of Anglican Men should contact Canon Conrad. If there is sufficient interest, the Brotherhood will be organized in April. A charter and financial support are available from the Diocese. Could it be that the A.C.W. will have some competition?

A special meeting of St. Edmund's Parish Council will take place January 23 at 8 p.m. at Sedgewick Parish Hall. This meeting is necessary to comply with certain forms, issued by the Diocese. All delegates to Council are urged to be there.

Bible study sessions are held each Wednesday morning at 10:00 at the home of Helga Alfölder in Sedgewick. Everybody welcome.

Our next general meeting will be held on April 8, at Alliance. The public are encouraged to attend these meetings and have input into council activities.

The Stenwork course is full at this time, however, if we get enough students we can work in a day course as well as this evening group.

A Special Project planned for early fall is Typing and Office Procedures. It will be a sixty hour instruction session, so hopefully, students will get a fair ground for office work. Interested

"Uncle Walter" Klinger passes

Walter Klinger was born in Barrowville, Minn., on December 14, 1883. He came to Alberta in 1911 and died on a homestead in the Battle River area, the S.E. 30-40-10-W. In 1915 he was elected to the legislature and served as a member of the S.E. 34-40-11 from 1915 to 1917.

Walter was married to Cora Wolf on August 20, 1924.

They lived and farmed together until 1945 when they bought a home in Hardisty. They continued farming until 1950, when they sold their land to George Saraga. They also sold their home in Hardisty to Luffy Laska, and moved to Alliance, where purchased the Bert Pollard property. He then had a saw sharpening and filling business which he continued with until moving to the Flagstaff Lodge in Sedgewick in 1975.

Walter was a music-lover and played the violin for his family in his younger days. He was also of an inventive nature, and his hobby seemed to be "fixing" or making things work, and was helpful when he had to figure out why things didn't work, and finding a solution to it.

His health forced him to move to the Killeen Auxiliary Hospital in May 1979, where he was cared for until he passed away quietly on March 3, 1982.

Funeral services were held on March 7, in the Merna United Church, with Rev. Alex MacLellan officiating. Walter's favorite hymns, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "Abide With Me" were sung. Special organ selections which he had requested many times, were "In the Garden" and "Beyond the Sunset". Organist was Helen O'Reilly.

Walter was predeceased by his wife, Emma in 1964; by his sons, Earl and Morris Klinger; three brothers, Frank, Max and Otto Klinger; two sisters, Mrs. Rosa Tamm and Mrs. Freda O'Reilly.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Elsie Perry of Minneapolis; two brothers, Earlhart and Carl Klinger, both residing in Flagstaff Lodge; one sister-in-law, Mrs. Doris Klinger of Killeen, and many nieces and nephews.

Palbearers for "Uncle Walter" were four great nephews, Harold Klinger, Ken Klinger, Lloyd O'Reilly, and Alvin Marlow, and two nephews-in-law, Ralph Halls and Sinclair Miller.

Interment was in Merna Cemetery, with Pao and Sons Funeral Home in charge.

The Seed Corner

Joe Cameron

SE Can was incorporated in 1975 as a non-profit corporation whose function was to distribute seed of improved varieties to members and to promote the use of seed of these varieties.

Membership is open to any grower or seed company who has the facilities to grow and distribute seed.

The annual membership fee is $100 and the member must collect a levy or royalty on any certified seed of a SE Can variety, and forward it to the association.

Supporters of SE Can can point to the many positive things SE Can has helped bring about. They currently handle over 70 varieties including Strows and Johnston Barley, Cascade Oats, Columbus Wheat, and Tule. Canola seed which are suitable for our area.

Dr. Konrad's Alex and the new higher-yielding Andromeda are assigned to a private company for distribution but the principal remains similar to SE Can with royalties going back to the grower, or research institution.

Detractors of SE Can can point to the fact that a levy of seed based on the levy on royalty is included in the selling price. However, if a SE Can or other privately controlled variety has the potential, to put a few bushels, per acre into the farmer's bin, this becomes a minor concern.

Canadian, it doesn't seem to have a very strong voice with our "rivals" in Ottawa at the present time.

Mr. Birbeck passed away in the University Hospital, Edmonton, after a very brief illness at the age of 87 years, 9 months.

Robert Birbeck of Alliance was born in Cumberland, England on May 18, 1894. He was the son of Richard and Jessie Birbeck.

He completed his schooling in England and came to Alberta, Canada with his older brother, Abraham in May of 1911 and settled just south of Loughheed.

In August of that year he began work on the farm of which his still resided at the time of his passing.

He was united in marriage to Marion Thompson on April 6, 1923. To this union, one daughter, Rose (Mrs. Birbeck) was born.

Farming was an important part of Mr. Birbeck's life. Even though he quit farming actively in 1970, his life always revolved around his farm, since he had lived on his homestead almost 70 years.

In earlier years he was active in such community activities as the Community Hall Board, U.F.A. and the Alliance R.E.A.

At the time of his death, his estate was still very active and he kept up to date in all current affairs.

He was predeceased by one brother, Abraham in 1911; one sister, Isabel in 1919; his mother, in 1920, and his father in 1950.

He is survived by his loving wife, Marion; one brother, John, both of Alliance; his daughter, Rose, his grandsons, Dwayne and Bruce Barnes, of Hardisty; four granddaughters, Darlene (Mrs. Robert Wolf), Dianne (Mrs. Robert Wolf), and Lorraine of Hardisty.

Also two great-granddaughters, Sherri and Tanya Wild.

His funeral services were held at the Alliance United Church of 1911 and Reverend Ted Hiscord officiated. Mrs. Carol McDermott accompanied the casket.

Basketball season over for Central High School

Last weekend's basketball season ended for the Lams and Rams. The boys finished their season in Dayland on March 12 when they participated in the regional playoffs against Hughenden and Dayland.

The boys had advanced to the regional by defeating Coronation in the games but were defeated in the regional playoffs against Hughenden and Dayland.

The Lams finished their season with a tournament in Coronation on March 12. The Lams defeated Coronation by a score of 60-34 and lost to Coronation 51-38. Mr. Meier, coach of the grid, Mr. Ackersville, coach of the boys, Mrs. Ackersville, scorekeeper, and helper, and Mr. Brennie, our bus driver, and assistant coach, spent many hours with the team. We thank them for that.

The basketball teams are now selling caps to raise funds to help pay for their season's expense. Your support is therefore still needed. Please buy a Central Rams or Lams cap.

Badminton practices under the direction of Mr. Chale, started last week. A county invitational Tournament will be held at Central on March 27.

Mr. Sparrow and Mr. Doody will accompany the Industrial Ed. 20A and Industrial Ed. 20B, classes to the NAIT Open House on March 19.

Parents are reminded that they are invited by NAIT to attend this open house on March 19 or 20.

Students are presently writing tests and handing in assignments in preparation for report cards on March 26.

Parent-Teacher Interviews will be held on Tuesday, March 30.

The road past the Post Office is certainly busy these days. A large number of gravel trucks are hauling from the gravel pit on Paul Meunier's through Hardisty, to a stockpile situated on Highway 13 between Sedgewick and Killam. It's sure the work was really well done at this time of year, since the cold winter has slowed all trucking operations.

Last weekend, being mild, saw the town crews out in force, removing snow from the main streets in Hardisty. It was plowed and hauled away, so should help when spring does finally arrive for good. This job of moving snow has been a full-time occupation in the last couple months as it has in all Alberta towns. Also many water lines to residences had to be thawed, as well.

Harold Moody is working on a pipeline near Calgary, Anne travelled to Calgary and spent some time visiting Harold and their daughter, Pat, and her family who live in Calgary.

On March 5, the Women's World Day of Prayer service was held in St. Paul's United Church. This service was written by Women of Ireland, so it was fitting that the message should be delivered by Dottie Cahill. Dottie spoke on the life of St. Bridget, an Irish saint. Members of the Anglican, Catholic and United Churches took part in the service and after, shared the lunch served in the Christian Education building.

The Sunshine Club held its annual meeting at the home of Vickie Cullen with 14 members present. After the usual opening procedure, KOP's member, Eleanor Tweedy, had their anniversary party and installation of officers on March 8th, with 14 members and three visitors present.

We had one KOP's member graduate, Irene Felder, with a loss of 28% lbs.

She also will represent our club at Provincial Recognition Days in Red Deer as our 1981 Queen.

Our outstanding member award was won by Verna Gibb.

Due to weather conditions, Loughheed School was unable to hold its Education Week activities on the date planned, and postponed activities to March 8. Parents and friends spent the first part of the afternoon visiting classrooms, enjoying displays and student work, and talking to teachers.

Edgerton tops Loughheed in Rec Tournament

The Loughheed Coyotes Rec. Hockey team held a two-day tournament in Loughheed on March 12th and 14th involving eight teams.

In quarter-final action, the host Loughheed team defeated Strome by a score of 6 to 2. In other action, Irma beat Hardisty 11 to 8.

project: Environment ...reinvesting in nature

The Heritage Fund helps to ensure the preservation, protection and enhancement of our renewable land, water, air and forest resources.

Through forward-looking management our land and water resources will continue to serve Albertans in recreation, agriculture and industry.

Forestry is a growing sector of our economy. The "Maintaining Our Forests" project will aid in renewing and improving the productivity of our forests. The Alberta Reforestation Nursery is producing seedlings to ensure our forests are continually replenished.

Former industrial land is being returned to its initial productivity through the Land Reclamation project.

Both the Slave Lake Outlet project and the Peddie River Basin Development will provide protection from flooding, reliable water supplies for communities and future recreational development.

The concept of enhancing our renewable resources reflects the fundamental aim of the Heritage Fund.

Since 1976, 30% of the revenue from your oil and natural gas—non-renewable resources—has been placed in the Fund. The Heritage Fund is committed, over the long term, to help secure our future.

This active commitment to improved renewable resource management is just one visible way that the Heritage Fund is working today... for tomorrow.

The following were elected to office for the next two years. Kathy Vandewerk was elected president; Grace Kells, vice-president; Barbara Hays, treasurer; and Betty Kells, secretary.

Barbara and Betty will continue to send cards to the persons in the hospital. It was decided to change the remembrances to persons in the hospital, to a card with money instead of fruit baskets, since often the fruit is wasted if the person has no appetite.

Donations were approved to be made to the Diabetic Association, the Cancer fund and to the Heart Fund. A thank you card and donation was received from Jean Halberg for lunch served after the committal at the cemetery for Lawrence.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess and her committee.

The monthly meeting of the United Church women was held in the afternoon on March 11. The meeting was opened with a responsive reading. After the reading of the minutes, an annual report was given on the activities of the U.C.W. for the past year. There were no changes in the officers as each member of the executive agreed to remain in office for another year.

The Christian Education Building has been extensively renovated during January and February and now presents a most attractive interior. The cement walls were insulated and covered with gyproc with some windows removed. The ceiling has been lowered and new fluorescent lights installed. New bulletin boards have been framed and permanently installed on the walls.

The whole interior has been painted a lovely oyster color with dark trim on doors and woodwork. Near the end of February, the U.C.W. ladies held a work day when the floors were scrubbed and waxed, chairs and tables cleaned and the hall generally put in shape for Sunday School to begin March 7.

The U.C.W. paid for the biggest share of the cost of this renovation with the Church bazaar assisting in some areas. A discussion was held on the curtains and blinds for the windows. It was decided to purchase blinds and use the present curtains.

The proposed budget was presented after which the seventeenth was given by Helen Anderson. This was on the subject of "Radiant Health" and was very informative.

Plans were made for the Easter Tea and Bazaar Sale. The next meeting will be one week earlier than usual on April 1. A delicious lunch was enjoyed by all.

Congratulations to Robin and Rick on the birth of their 6 lb. 3 oz. son, Edson Jason Richard, born Wednesday, March 10th, at Camrose Hospital.

Frank Matthews and Terry Cunningham of Calgary were recent visitors with the Barney Matthews.

Welcome Centre committee meets at Loughheed

The regular meeting of the Loughheed Welcome Centre was held Monday, March 8 with eight present.

President John Black was in the chair.

The minutes of financial report and correspondence was read and dealt with.

New score cards are to be ordered. We are pleased to accept the Kinella Senior Citizens invitation to visit them on the 24th of March.

Our card parties are still well attended and really enjoyed. The crib games held every second Thursday are enjoyed as well.

There will be two more card parties and maybe just one more if Mr. Winter decides to stay.

There will be dining every Friday at 2 p.m.

"HANK" FMC 3068

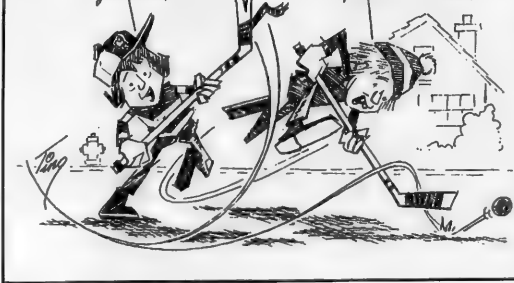

Spring is bull sale season, and Larry and Penny Merts of Kinella sold two at the Edmonton Northlands Charolais Sale on February 17th. One was a son of their senior hardy "Hank", who was on close in the show, and brought $2,650 in the sale. He sold to Cliff Dwyer. It was a good sale, averaging $2,080 for yearlings, and $2,225 for two year olds. The strong sale of Charolais bulls is a reflection of the premium prices paid for Char-cross calves each fall.

Town personnel have on several occasions tried to relieve the problem but because of the terrain, water continues to flow into the foot-dred "lake" as manholes are unable to cope with the overflow.

Many people have been seen skirting the "lake" so far, however not all have been successful. Also many have been reported looking as thick ice and snow continues its melting process.

Night-time freezing has assisted in preventing the situation from becoming more of a problem than it is.

Sedgewick Lake to be cleaned up

Responding to Colvin Beaudoin who raised the issue, President Vic Albrecht said a joint meeting had been held with the Killam and Sedgewick chambers of commerce.

Mr. MacGregor also said that the sign at Highway 13, indicating "Sedgewick Lake 3 km" is "an embarrassment".

Put on a smile . . .

Way back when life was more casual, Springtime supposedly was a time for turning one's attention to thoughts of love, but modern-day "progress" has taught most of us to be more realistic in our approach to day-to-day life.

The world revolves around finances to the point that it is the end to the means for many of us, and in these days of economic difficulties, it is most trying for anyone to put on a smile and sweep our problems away.

But the approach of spring with its longer periods of daylight and bright sunshine has to have some therapeutic effect, even on the most hard-bolted-of us.

Spring is a time of birth for many farm animals; the depressing cold days of winter and the snowstorms will be pushed into the background, and when we get rid of the flooded streets and mud, we can really get down to the task of preparing for that longed-for green grass-and yes, even summer holidays.

Many of our readers have had the opportunity to visit the faraway islands of Hawaii or Barbados as they tried to forget the depressing winter of Flagstaff, but many suffered from the change in weather on their return.

In these days of stress and strain, most of us neglect something that is very dear to us—our health.

So put on a smile and don't be so pessimistic. Spring is here!

Two one-act plays end Alliance Concert Series

The final production in the 1981-82 Alliance Concert Series was presented Saturday evening, March 20th. The entertainment was a distinct change of pace from our previous shows. Two one-act plays were skillfully presented by the Carriere Church Music Players.

The first play dealt with an English legal drama and was entitled "After Marguerite" by Tom Stoppard. It was a farce, depicting observations from several people - each viewing the same incident with totally different connotations. The resulting confusion develops the play in witty British fashion.

The second drama, "Mooncalf Mugged" by Brianee Duffell and Helen and Neil Leary, cleverly dealt with the clarity of insanity, which in itself seems a contradictory term. However, the play led us from believing the main actor, Shere Pyrah, was insane to the point where we doubted our own diagnostic powers.

The plays were totally different in appeal, allowing the audience a choice of preference.

The Church Music Players were so-named because their only available place to practice was in an abandoned church. I have no doubt that the music of their songs has been highly entertained throughout the practice sessions.

The group came to Alliance early Saturday to assist on their props and were royally fed at the Commercial Hotel, compliments of the Concert Series group.

To this group, on behalf of the community, I would like to say thank you for a years great entertainment and we shall be looking forward to your 1982-83 season.

Knox Killam afternoon group is organized

The ladies of the Knox Church, Killam, met in the church hall to discuss what direction our group should take now that we can no longer carry on the responsibility of being a U.C.W. Mrs. Doris Saunders conducted a short worship service. A poem about the Ladies Aid, a Bible reading from Psalm 139, a meditation about Old Age in this Space Age, a hymn and a prayer closed the service.

After a lot of discussion, we decided to call ourselves the Knox Afternoon Group, Sheila Child, chairman, Doris Saunders, secretary, and Linnie Fortner as treasurer, comprise the officers.

At our next meeting we will see slides presented by Ed Poe. Anyone interested is invited to join our group which will meet every third Wednesday of the month at 2 p.m. in the church hall.

A new U.C.W. has been organized and is getting started. They will welcome all women at their evening meeting. Watch for their meeting date.

Shelia Child conducted the program. She gave a few thoughts about the problems of the aging as reported in The Observer. Lunch served by Margaret Dutton was enjoyed by all.

Killam Library has successful open house

Killam Public Library held a successful open house and book sale on February 27 with over sixty people dropping in to have a look at what our library has to offer them. New books were on display and the local art club had several attractive paintings placed for public viewing.

With monies received from Alberta 75th anniversary commission the library developed its children's center and also purchased the library dock. During our open house, two story lines were held in the 'center' and a draw was made for a children's book after each session. Winners were Patricia Tyson and Trent Stang.

A door prize was drawn for at the end of the afternoon with Darlene Van Dremar winning two books. Remember this is a public library and you are welcome to use our facilities. We have books that cover almost any subject and if we don't have what you need, then we'll do our best to get it for you.

Some subjects covered in our library: aircraft, addition, art, baking, behavior, birth, conservation, crafts, collections, death, dictionary, divorce, encyclopaedia, education, earth, farming, folklore, finance, geography, government, games, history, humor, handicaps, inflation, immunity, invention, justice, jingles, juveniles, Killam, Kennedy, kilogram, law, law, his, music, marriage, medicine, nutrition, needlework, news, olympics, ocean and coastal, politics, philosophy, poetry, questions, quarantines, Queens, religion, radio, radio, science, sports, sight, travel, technology, theory, universe, United States, ultraviolet, vegetables, vowels, velocity, war, wit, wiring, x-rays, xylem, xmas, yard care, youth, yearbooks, zinc, soap, yodel.

Much enthusiasm at scuba diving course

The first scuba course was held at the Killam Pool over two consecutive weekends.

The course was considerably condensed in order to cover the amount of material, theoretical knowledge and practical skills, and enable the candidates to finish in time.

All participants were very enthusiastic and the enthusiasm spread to other interested persons. On Sunday, March 14 several people were invited to try to breathe out the regulators and get a taste of what scuba is really like.

Several of this group have expressed an interest in such a course and as a result another course is scheduled in the near future. Information can be obtained from June Gair, pool supervisor.

Card of Thanks

I would like to say a "special" thank-you to all of the volunteers who helped to get our swimming pool ready for the 1982 season. It is very gratifying and rewarding to know that the people who care enough to make our pool a bright and happy place to come to. The job of getting the pool ready was a big one with this year installing the new filter system, painting along with all the other maintenance. Thank you all for your help.

Walker donation largest ever by private citizen

The $30,000 scholarship fund set up by Sid Walker of Killam in recognition of contributions by members to 4-H is one of the largest ever given to 4-H in Alberta by a private citizen, according to Doug Norman of Stettler, regional 4-H specialist for East Central Alberta.

Through an open-ended trust arrangement, the fund can have future donations added to it, and the interest used to provide grants for scholarships and travel. The fund will be administered by a board of directors, and the grants are available to any 4-H member in the province. However, members in the 'Flagstaff District' will be given preference.

Mr. Walker believes that the 4-H motto of "Learn to Do by Doing" has been, and still is, extremely important and beneficial to young people.

Flagstaff Players to perform Dracula

The immortal Dracula will come to life again as the Flagstaff Players present the three-act thriller, Monsieur Dracula, by Edmonston playwright Warren Graves, May 6, 7, and 8th at the Sedgewick Community Hall.

The play has all the flavor of the classic novel by Bram Stoker, including bats at the window, black dogs - "with eyes like burning coals" - and a little garlic - to keep the vampire away from your door.

The Flagstaff Players are very pleased to sponsor one of the musicals of the Association's Community Opera. This year the opera is Puccini's La Bohème (in English). The production will be performed in the Sedgewick Community Hall, Sunday, April 18 at 8 p.m., with tickets available at the door.

The Flagstaff Players are also sponsoring a visit by the University of Alberta Mixed Chorus who will present a concert of choral music which will span many musical eras - from the Baroque to the Ultra-Modern. The U.A. Mixed Chorus is now in its 36th year of operation and during this time has acquired a reputation for musical excellence. The mixed chorus will perform in the Sedgewick Community Hall, Friday, April 23 at 8:15 p.m. with tickets at the door.

The Seed Corner

Joe Cameron

A couple of years ago, Lefty O'Connell, of the Seed Corner, was asked to give a one-day seminar, before a group of bankers representing the various branches of the Canadian Credit Union, about some of their seed.

I knew there would be a lot of loud questions thrown out, but they didn't disappoint us. Anticipating questions relating to the credit union and the business of farming, I made up a list of questions, and answered them as best I could.

For example, if you grow making heavy and you are informed that you have more than one variety in your sample, the best seed is the one that is the most uniform.

Similarly, if you get a lot of seed and you want to plant and get the word back that they can't meet the "double O" standard, you may still sit the seed in the ground.

But you have lost the option of selling it when you want to and possibly the advantage of a larger quota. Also, if you pick up a new seed because of using inferior seed from a neighbor for the sake

Hardisty Happenings

Grace Kells
Congratulations to Henry and Maureen Hays on their successes at the Edmonton and Calgary bull sales. In Edmonton at the show and sale February 19th and 20th, their two-year-old L1-rossian bull placed third. Then the Hays took a two-year-old Limousin bull to the Calgary annual spring sale on March 13. This time, they received the award of Grand Champion. Henry and Maureen travelled to Calgary on the Thursday of the force winter storm, and were held up at Bowden as the highway was closed for a time. There were a lot of vehicles in the ditch, but after 12 1/2 hours from the time of leaving home, they arrived safely in Calgary. After having such a bad trip, it must have been an even greater relief to win Grand Champion.

Jim and Ann Davidson travelled to Edmonton where Jim had been admitted to the Macleod-Reid Hospital to undergo tests.

Best wishes to Brian Demaree and Shiraz Fournier who were married March 20.

Dianne and Lorraine Kells of Edmonton visited their mother, Grace Kells over the weekend of March 13. On the Sunday, March 14, they all travelled to Forestburg to attend the baptism service of Doug and Cathy Kells' young son, Sheldon Douglas, born January 24. The service was in the United Church in Forestburg and Lorraine Kells became Sheldon's godmother. Sheldon is the youngest of Cathy and Doug's three children with Tessa, three and Shane, almost five.

Later in the day, they all attended the carnival presented by the figure skating club in Forestburg. Shane, in his first year of skating, took part in this. There were a large number of skaters and a good program was presented.

On March 20, the Canadian Bank of Commerce marked their 75th anniversary in Hardisty. To celebrate the occasion, coffee and doughnuts were served in the bank on Friday. Bud Hutchinson, the day and that they had been busier than usual.

On March 16th a supper meeting of Flagstaff Rural Crime Watch Association was held in the Elks Hall with over 100 persons in attendance. The Royal Purple colored to a most delicious meal of roast beef, after which two films were shown. One was about locks and methods of security and the other was "Lady Beare and death with wings" in which women can protect themselves. Two guest speakers, Sgt. Frankie and Const. Harris of the R.C.M.P. detachment in Killam.

COMMENCING SAT., MARCH 27

Lu Golke has returned from his winter holiday in Phoenix, Arizona. Kevin spent a week there and returned with his father.

We are happy to welcome Peter and Maureen Beard and daughters, Leanne and Sally to our community and to Canada. The Beards have emigrated here from New Zealand after sampling Canadian life for two past summers. Peter, a professional pilot, has been working for Air Agro Services the past two crop spraying seasons while he and his family enjoyed a working holiday in Canada. Liking our country, they arrived February 23, to take up permanent residence here, living in the home formerly occupied by Bob and Doreen Lakene. Peter will be working for Air Agro Services.

Bob and Doreen Lakene visited the Beards in New Zealand earlier this year and spent three weeks touring the country. Then Bob and Doreen spent three weeks travelling around Australia. There they met Allan Burton of Longueville who is visiting here and spent some time together.

The Lakene's then met the Beards and were a week in Biji on the way home to Canada. They all arrived here February 19. Doreen said it was a wonderful holiday, that they enjoyed very much, especially with the temperature there being in the mid-eighties and playing house to her it was minus 35 degrees Fahrenheit.

Congratulations to Joe and Russ Copeland on the birth of their first child, a son, born March 10 in the Hardisty Hospital. Michael James weighed 6 lb 7 ounces, 14 ounces. Congratulations also to the new grandparents, Bob and Doreen Lakene, and grand-grandparents, Lefty and Brenda Lakene.

Shooting must be on the way as the Trap Shooting club are going to hold their own competition, annual Snowball Shoot at the Hardisty Trap shooting range.

On March 20, the Hardisty Figure Skating Club held their annual carnival in the arena with a good crowd in attendance. The clubs instructor was pro. Ron Hoffman of Hardisty and she had her skaters well trained to present a good program with the theme being "Super Heroes." About 40 skaters took part ranging in age from 3 years to 16. The guest skaters were a group of precision skaters from Vermilion. These 14 girls were real crowd-pleasers.

The carnival queen was Nicky Cahill and she was chosen by votes of her fellow skaters. A lottery had been held by the club and five winning tickets were drawn, each for $200. Ticket No. 1 was held by Judy Walker, Lorna Granger and Wendy Hays of Amel, Delores Coates of Longueville won both the second and third ticket draws. No. 4 was Lynn Miller and No. 5 Warren Field.

Lougheed W.I. International Women's Day is topic

The Lougheed Women's Institute meeting on March 9 was held at the Welcome Centre with the president, Mrs. Veronica Probst in the chair. Thirty members and several visitors were welcomed. The library committee reported a busy time cataloguing books. Plans were finalized for the bake sale to be held at the library, March 12.

A motion was made and carried that we have a potluck supper on March 29. Members canvassed for the Red Cross the morning of March 15 and for Cancer on April 5. This will be in the Village of Lougheed.

The roll call was answered by donations of clothing to Centre Can in Camrose. Those who didn't show for the roll call were asked to pay a fine.

Mrs. Shirley Waite gave the program. The topic was "International Women's Day." Women's Institute members have lobbied a long time to have a woman judge in the Supreme Court and this was gained.

Andrew wins Bantam 'D' honours

Any team that can average 71 goals per game should be able to win something and Andrew Aas did it. He was named the Provincial Bantam 'D' Championship series played at Sedgewick Rec Centre on the weekend.

A devastating attack and ice puck-handling in the opposition end gave goal-tenders nightmares throughout the 18-game tournament, however, other teams besides Andrew were able to fill the net.

In every game except one, at least one of the teams counted double figures and that was in the Foremost-Canmore game which Canmore won 7-4.

Andrew started along the victory trail by knocking out Wembley 14-2, and demolishing Bash 25-3, then in their third outing, Andrew coasted over Bentley 15-7.

That set the stage for Sunday's final games as Canmore took Wembley 10-2 to earn the honours against Andrew in the finals. Andrew scored seven unanswered goals against Canmore in the final period to win going away, 15-4.

Andrew outlasted a stubborn Foremost team 14-11 to gain its final berth in the final.

Jim Tindall of Sedgewick, chairman of Zone 7 for the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association presented the 1981-82 trophy to Gary Moschak, captain of the winning Aces, while Billie Jones, coach of Sedgewick Bantams and Gary Culbert, manager, presented gold medals to the winners and silver medals to the losers.

Sedgewick Bantams as hosts for the championships, lost 1-6 to Canmore in their Friday morning game and Health nurse retires after 23 years

A career which spanned 23 years and eight years at one time. Where there used to be as many as 120 at clinics, now there are an average of 25 to 30.

While the early clinics may have been large, Mrs. Hilker fondly recalls the volunteer assistance in chapering rendered by local ladies groups.

School grade testing continues to be carried out, but now there are fewer additional calls required, the community health nurse stated.

Follow up and visiting for tuberculosis was a "big thing." Now there are drugs to combat it, but still low up calls have to be made.

"The emphasis has shifted to pre-natal, post-natal, pre-school testing and other programs, and more programs have been set up such as parenting programs and geriatric services," Mrs. Hilker said, in comparing earlier programs to the present.

Actually Mrs. Hilker started with the Sedgewick staff for a few months back in 1957, but was asked to fill in while another nurse was on leave. She wanted to get her diploma in 1959, and has been on the job since.

There have been many changes over the past years, but this hasn't been much in the type of workload and in the number of employees.

"For 10 years, I was alone. I was the janitor and the stenographer," Mrs. Hilker recalls of the period when the office serving Flagstaff County was located in a former dress shop, now a tuxedo shop in Sedgewick.

Headquarters for the health unit is in the new, newly-constructed county offices in 1969, before moving to its present quarters on Main Street, near the Bank of Montreal just over one year ago.

During the early years there was much more communication than today Mrs. Hilker said, explaining that booster shots last as long

Thoughts For Living

When my niece, Joanna was about five years old, she asked me if there would be dolls to play with in heaven.

"I wouldn't think so," I replied cautiously.

"Then I must play with Susan all I can now," Joanna declared. And now, way, she wheeled in her dolls' pram and was soon laughing her favorite doll under a little sheet and blanket.

As I watched Joanna, I thought how wise she was to play with her doll while she could.

She had already learned the importance of doing things now.

Strome plant gutted by fire

A Tuesday morning fire gutted the Strome family's commercial building at Strome, operated by Strome Enterprises.

Brian Steiger, owner of the business, which manufactures concrete and welding tanks, said the amount of damage will have to be met by insurance adjusters.

According to Mr. Steiger, the $300,000, outburst was caused by static electricity. Strome, Dayland, and Strome family brigades responded to the alarm and had the blaze in the wooden building under control in about one hour.

Why are these women such a valuable Canadian resource?

Canada is rich in resources. But our most precious resource is our skilled workers.

Right now, there are jobs in Canada which can't be filled because we're short of people with the right skills in the trades and new technologies. More and more, finding the right person for a job means finding the man or woman with the right training.

At Employment and Immigration we're creating a new National Training Program to assist in on-the-job and classroom training in the skills Canadian industry needs now, and in the future. Part of our program provides training for women in non-traditional jobs.

The rewards are great because training in priority skills is a key to job security in the 1980's. And more women are entering the trades each year. Last year over 22,000 women took part in on-the-job training. Thousands more benefited from training in the technologies and other career areas.

That's an investment in Canada's skilled work force. It's an investment in Canadian industry. And it's an investment that helps Canada work.

Hardisty Public Library

For library patrons who are interested in historical fiction there is a good selection on the shelves from which to choose.

When the background to a good yarn is authentically researched, a person can enjoy a fine story and learn a great deal about the era in which it took place. Some of the well known writers who are members of this approach are Daphne DuMaurier, Taylor Caldwell, Mary Stewart, Antonia Fraser, Elizabeth Goudie, Catherine Cookson and Jean Plaidy, who also writes under the name of Nora Latta. Although all these ladies are English, we must not forget to include our own Pauline Gedge in their number.

These writers span hundreds of years in their search for absorbing, accurate subject material. Mary Stewart, Antonia Fraser, Taylor Caldwell, and Jean Plaidy have often delved into medieval to Elizabethan times, while Catherine Cookson, Elizabeth Goudie, Nora Latta and Daphne DuMaurier have concentrated their research into the last 200 years up to the early 19th century.

To all, a thorough understanding of the social conditions and politics of the time is paramount to the success of their novels. This is so because it often accounts for or influences the behavior of the characters that spin the yarn and this is the delight of historical fiction.

One such example is revealed in a new addition to the Hardisty Public by Daphne DuMaurier called "Jamaica Inn". The book, smuggling on the southwest coast of England in the mid-18th century is a fact of history. Why and how it was used as a cover-up for an even more gruesome trade and the torment of mind and body which the heroines, Mary Yellan, endure in the fascinating thread of the story. Daphne DuMaurier's story is the most intriguing characters with a masterful use of the English language to choose.

While a novel set in the past often becomes a commentary on the social and political conditions of the times, it also helps us to have a deeper understanding of the emotional and physical trauma of the people who lived through those times.

An excellent example of this is found in Elizabeth Goudie's "The Rosemary Tree." Gifted with word mastery, Ms. Goudie has woven a story of fascinating personalities. They are ordinary people into whose lives the author has taken her part.

At times one thinks, "people are not like that, they don't think that way," but one gradually comes to believe quite the opposite. There are two different stories woven together with a number of side stories, all linked by the main characters.

First, there is the amazing English vicar with whom every reader can sympathize a little, his adorable children, such as different yet so believable, and his unfulfilled wife.

Then there is the former boyfriend of the latter. His story involves his efforts to come to terms with the chaotic remnants of his life which has been shattered by the results of his own actions and weakness of character.

Into each story comes the refreshing, Mary O'Hare. She is another link that is interwoven into the book as a whole. The men have difficult adjustments to make after devastating wartime experiences while the women are all seeking meaningful self-fulfillment. The circumstances of their path cross "Jamaica Inn" for more surroundings tells an absorbing tale set in the late 18th century.

The library has several other novels by these two authors.

For those who enjoy a saga of several generations the "House of the Lattas" is highly recommended. It follows the history of a single building and the family who owns it, over seven hundred years. The reader, regardless of age, tolerance, dialect, adores, contrasts and is fascinated by one character after another. For historical fiction lovers, this is a must.

Finally, if you have never indulged in a story by Catherine Cookson, after just one such experience you will be as hooked on her as are the Louis L'Amour devotees on their list. She brings to stark reality the conditions of life at the turn of this century in industrial northwest England. She constantly draws on her own experiences and the reader rides with them.

The merrily Catholic faith of the past which often brought torment to and tore families apart comes through clearly, while the story explores its main characters with depth and sensitivity in a deeply compelling way. "The Cinder Path" by Catherine Cookson is an excellent example.

Overdelivery - an option we as farmers should look at.

Every permit book holder is entitled to deliver up to 20 tonnes of wheat, oats, and barley to the elevator of his choice, to deliver the product cost of purchasing pedigreed seed.

This can be either foundation, registered, certified or bulk certified seed wheat, oats, barley, rye, flax, canola and forage seed.

In English, this translates into about 734 bushels of wheat, or a little over $3,000 that you can apply against the purchase cost of the seed.

The amount that you could buy with 20 tonnes of barley or oats, would of course be less.

This allows a farmer to upgrade his seed or at least a portion of it at very little out-of-pocket cost, and by doing so will increase his profits and upgrade the product he sells both at home and abroad.

In view of the potential for improving the product offered for sale, I'm not too sure why a producer is not taking advantage of this option. In the case of Bulk Certified you can be assured by one of the best in the business at the Canadian Wheat Board.

Taking advantage of the overdelivery option is a fairly simple matter. Upon the purchase of pedigreed seed, your dealer or pedigreed seed grower will complete a Seed Purchase Declaration. In the case of Bulk Certified you will also receive a Statement of Sale of Bulk Certified Seed.

Editors Note: Since the article was written, the power cut-off has been rescheduled for Monday morning, April 11th from 8 a.m. to noon.

How can it be that, on Palm Sunday, a major festival on the Christian calendar, TransAlta Utilities would dare to discontinue electricity from 8 o'clock in the morning until 11 noon in the devoutly church-going town of Sedgewick?

The Rev. Canon Richard Conrad was outraged to see the announcement of a power interruption on the morning of Sunday, April 4th. The implications for worshippers are immense. There can be no organ. There will be no lights. And, of course, there will be no bread of her family on the feast of her brother's Discom.

Gordon, a long-time Sedgewick resident, Gordon paid away in Canmore Hospital after being in poor health for some time.

St. Edmund's Parish Council met last Tuesday evening, and spent a very stimulating two hours, recording the views of St. Edmund's for the Discom case on the Anglicans in Mission project. The Bishop, as usual, was suitably impressed with our work.

Heila Affholder and Donna Martin paid an evening visit to Edmonton to attend a National Women's Conference planning meeting.

Sedgewick Co-op Implements depot rated No. 1 in Central Alberta

The annual meeting of Sedgewick Co-op Implement Co. Inc. was held March 19 in the Sedgewick Anglican Church Hall. About 50 people were in attendance for a delicious roast beef supper. The meeting followed by Rod Jacobson as Chairman.

Various reports were given by Delegate Ben C. Hart, Regional Director North Pacific, District Manager North Pacific, Deputy Manager Blair Clark, and Depot Committee Chairman John Baker.

Of major interest, as has been the case for the past few years, was the financial status of C.I. in spite of soaring interest rates, a troubled economy and lower prices for farm produce. C.I. was able to hold its own in the farm machinery business over the past year.

A tremendous amount of money has been spent on research and development, but has paid off with many improvements in the machines being produced. A new financial package from governments and other Co-op groups has been accepted, making the outlook for C.I. very promising.

Gross sales of farm machinery increased by 30 per cent and membership also increased by 800. One of the highlights of the year was the fact that it was the No. 1 depot in Central Alberta, with a 5.5 per cent return on gross sales.

The Rec Centre presented at least 18 prizes for 350 games, but only two 300 plus were awarded this year.

Provincial, Battle River finals at Killam this weekend

A "hot hand" by goaltender Jerry Price, and the peaking of Brian Bowles at an opportune time, are assets that could carry Killam into the final of the provincial championship, and possibly bring them the Battle River Hockey championship as well.

On the provincial front, the Indians took the North-east Alberta Intermediate "C" title last Friday in Westlock against the Wolves by squeaking out a 3-2 game victory.

These two evenly matched teams opened their home-and-home total-goal series in Killam last Wednesday with Killam setting for a 5-1 draw.

By winning the series with Westlock by a four goals to two margin, Killam won the right to meet Trochu for the Provincial Intermediate "C" Championship, also a two-game total-goal affair, with the first game in Trochu tonight (Wednesday).

Area hockey fans will have the opportunity to see the Indians play at home on Friday night, with the provincial crown on the line against Trochu.

On Saturday night, the Indians will be at home for the first time in the Battle River Hockey finals, with the last four-team series final at once game a piece.

Killam management claims that the BRHL executive did not notify them until late Saturday afternoon that they were to appear in Hardisty that night for the first game of the longer final.

Last Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Goddard Eriksson visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Watt in Lenoir. They had an enjoyable afternoon visiting and playing cards. Bob and Margaret are both enjoying good health and will be remembered to all their friends at Sedgewick.

Nine tables of card players enjoyed the Card Party on Wednesday afternoon at the Senior Citizens Drop-In Centre. Prizes for the high and low scores were won by Mrs. Ruth Eriksson (who was tied with Mrs. Gladys Hope) but was on a cut of the cards) and Mr. David Davidson. Consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. Gwen Freeman and Mr. Gunnar Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Culkin of Black Diamond, Alberta were here to visit her sister, Mrs. Peggy and her brother-in-law, Mr. Scott, both of Flagstaff Lodge. They also spent a couple of days visiting Bob and Ethel Ness. Mr. and Mrs. Don Good of Edmonton were here to visit her mother, Mrs. Peggy. They also attended a family dinner and together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gossau.

Early registration sought for Homecoming '82

Emphasis on early registration for Sedgewick Homecoming '82 on July 2, 3 and 4 was placed at a committee meeting, held March 31st, after Helen Whitten reported that only $1,110 had been received to date from their source.

At previously, the deadline remains at June 1st for advance registration and it was voted to retain the package registration fee of $30 for adults and $15 for children six to 12 years, after much discussion. A commemorative pin will be included in the package. Registrations can be sent to Box 440, Sedgewick.

Mrs. Ida Black, Mrs. Stale Drayner, and Mrs. Hazel MacKinnon attended the 500 card game at the Kilian Senior Citizens last Thursday and Susan came home with first prize.

The Friday night Norwegian Whist at the Senior Citizens Drop-In saw four tables of folk enjoying the game plus two people playing crib. Prizes for the highest scores were won by Mrs. Susan Drayner and Mr. Roy Leslie.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Truss journeyed through the Saskatchewan storm and finally arrived at Edmonton where they spent the weekend. Mrs. Royd returned with them for a visit.

There will be a dance in the tent on Saturday to help visitors in to register on Saturday, and Sunday, for the children, a banquet supper. Saturday evening followed by the official opening, various displays in the school, ball games and a joint church service after breakfast on Sunday.

Several of the events are scheduled for Sedgewick's main street where food booths will be located, and at the Rec. Centre where a large tent will be erected for the children's activities.

Chairman Jim Tindall advised that the office is being made to secure Alex Molt, television newspaper, and formerly of Sedgewick, as a member of the committee for the official opening and that Premier Loughheed had been invited as guest speaker.

It was agreed that special recognition be given to anyone who has been a continuous resident of Sedgewick or district since 1907, and names will be accepted by committee members.

There will be bingo from 5 to 9 p.m. both days, History Book prizes in the Community Hall on Friday and Saturday. Prizes to the Mayor's Orchestra also on Friday.

It was suggested that personnel be at the highway to lead visitors in to register on Saturday, and Sunday, and show them where they will be staying, providing maps at registration, and to visitors on how to go, and having registration at the Tourist Information Booth, and a joint church service after breakfast on Sunday.

Hockey finals scrapped

Finals of the Battle River Senior Hockey League have been scrapped because of a scheduling conflict between the Battle River League and the St. Lawrence Valley League.

Only two games of the best four-to-five series were actually played, with Kilian the winner on both occasions. The series resulted in one game being defaulted, the league president, resigning, and the series being brought to an abrupt halt last Saturday morning by the league's vice president.

Due to Kilian being involved in the Provincial Intermediate "C" Championship, their rigorous schedule between the two leagues took an exacting toll, and no doubt had a definite bearing in the final decision.

Bad blood had existed between the Indians and some other teams in the Battle River League over the Kilian team's use of four players from the Ontario-Veteran army in the persons of Dallas Eklund, Calvin Eklund, Jerry Price and Bernie Doss - four players who provided a solid nucleus for the Kilian hockey team.

The Alberta Amateur Hockey Association eventually ruled that the quarterfinals were eligible to play for Kilian, noting that amendments to the BCRH constitution pertaining to a working-class game, had not received AAAA sanction.

Word out of Kilian is that the Indians would prefer to complete the series, however, it is also understood that Hardy's claim the series was "getting too rough."

Actions of some of the Kilian team were said to have a bearing on the Hardy's position.

Last Thursday (April 29th) in what has turned out to be the last game, Kilian was at home over the Stampede by 5-2.

score in the game which saw Hardy receive 43 minutes in penalties and Kilian 38 minutes.

Monday, March 29 at Hardy, the Indians had blanked the Stampede 5-0, so the series would end "officially" with Kilian winning two games on the ice and Hardy one (off the ice).

Hardy was awarded a game by forfeit on Saturday, March 27. Kilian did not have a game until Saturday afternoon and claimed it was too late to see a hockey team for that night.

The Stampede and their fans at the Hardy's Arms were awarded the game when the puck was shot into an empty net, and the league ruled that Kilian would have to play in Hardy's on Monday, March 29, which they did.

Score in the 4-3 game which Kilian was at home on April 1 were for Kilian: Brian Bowles, Joe Spiller, Doug Schindler, and Calvin Eklund; and for Hardy: Bill Zimmer and Doug Ramsey.

For all intents and purposes, the Battle River Hockey League folded up its tent last Saturday morning when Albert Gossau phoned ed Kilian officials to inform them that the series was over.

Mr. Gossau, league vice-president from Irvine, was acting instead of Gary Wolanski of Viking, league president, who had earlier resigned.

Hardy wound up the regular schedule at first place, and also had the league's top scorer, in Gary Bromby, the league's most valuable defencemen in Brent Elm, as well as the top rookie in Todd Baumgartner.

The inconclusive final series, however, brings small consolation to either team.

Central High School Scholarship Fund requires assistance

The Central High Scholarship Fund is once again soliciting donations from local organizations.

The fund was originally instituted in 1954 by the Rev. Vernon Whitaker. He felt the leading Central High Academic Grade 11 student intending to go on to higher education should receive some monetary reward for his or her achievement. Several local organizations agreed with him and began making small annual donations.

Over the years - the organizations supporting the Scholarship have changed some dropped out as their own roles changed and others joining the effort. The fund has grown from its first goal of $10,000 in 1954 to an amount approaching $50,000 in recent years.

Usually one recipient a year has been chosen but at least two occasions the award has been split between two students achieving nearly identical marks.

Last year's donors to the Central High Scholarship Fund were Alliance Legion, Allman, Lions, Argyle Women's Institute, Hardisty Agricultural Society, Hardisty Elks, Hardisty Sunabon Club, Hardisty Legion, Hardisty Goodwill Club, Sedgewick Agricultural Society, Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce, Sedgewick Legion, Loughheed Women's Institute, Loughheed School Auxiliary, Loughheed Legion and Loughheed Rebekah's, Kilian Legion, Kilian Lions, Kilian Lodge and Badigan Holdings Ltd.

Central High sincerely thanks the above-mentioned organizations and solicits their help in maintaining the fund again this year. In addition they would appreciate the support of any other groups.

Letters to the Editor

Killam, Alberta
April 6, 1982

The Editor
The Community Press
Sedgewick, Alberta

Dear Sir:

We would like to compliment your paper on the editorial and factual reporting of the Kilian Indians hockey situation.

We do not expect Hardisty Stampeder fans to be impartial, but is it too much to ask that they be factual?

This is in reference to the letter to the Editor, on page 9 of your March 31, 1982 edition, from "Disappointed Fans in Hardisty."

It states that fans from throughout the province showed up in Hardisty to watch a "scheduled" game in the R.R.L. final. When was this game scheduled?

The referee-in-chief was not contacted to sign new referees for the game and the Kilian Indians Executive were first notified that Hardisty wanted to play that night at 4:50 p.m. of the same day. They informed Hardisty that it was impossible for Kilian to organize their team at that late hour, and that they would not be in Hardisty that night.

Until late that Saturday afternoon, Kilian assumed that the series would start Monday, March 29, 1982. We "assumed" because the Hardisty Stampeder did not have the good common or human sense to call the K.I.U. referees and say when they intended to start the series.

We will agree that the executive was put in an embarrassing situation, but they put themselves there. And in regards to the question of good sportsmanship, what about Hardisty refusing to complete the series?

We realize that they were looking for "good sports" would finish a series.

Yours truly,
Margo Kusber and Gibb.

The load consisted of seven animals from the Hawkins farm; three brought to Stanley Gould of Roseland and two of George Campbell's, Dayland. The Pioneer Hotel has long been a part and parcel of Sedgewick's history, and has withstood the ravages of time to remain open for business at its old stand. While the exact date the photo was taken is unknown, it has to be considered one of the town's landmarks.

Note the line of the staff, who probably excelled at their positions in a time when "service" really meant "service."

Killam 4-H'ers in Ottawa exchange

Although the weather didn't show it, the Spring Season had already dawned on Tuesday, March 23. This was the night that the Killam 4-H Light Horse Club held their meeting. It was a very exciting and interesting meeting, and almost all of the members were present.

We began the night with an official meeting, which included such things as the 4-H exchange trip and the information for our next meeting.

We found out that we have been accepted to the 4-H exchange trip to Ottawa and the qualifying members will be leaving on the first week of July. A new 4-H exchange trip was introduced at the meeting to go to Oregon, in the United States. The members from our club have already sent in their applications and are anxiously awaiting the results.

After the official meeting we all did a bit of "spring cleaning." Most of the members had brought their sadgles to be cleaned, and one of the members, Teresa Laine, demonstrated the proper technique for cleaning a saddle. After the demonstration, we all got into the fun and started washing, scrubbing, preserving and drying all parts of the saddle. It was a very useful and learning activity for the members involved.

It was decided that our next meeting was to be a "bring-a-friend" gym party and meeting. All members are allowed to bring a friend and play all different kinds of gym sports on Friday, April 16th. Bonnie Bagdan.

Legislature Report

Brennan enquiry still leaves cloud of suspicion over former ministers

Guest White and Kevin Peterson of The Calgary Herald

The reputations of one cabinet minister and a former minister have been tarnished by the findings of the Brennan report on Edmonton annexation land dealings.

Mr. Justice William Brennan found that Recreation and Parks Minister Peter Trynchy's "carelessness" in not checking the location of Edmonton-area land he owned amounted to "negligence."

And the judge found that former attorney-general Jim Foster acted improperly in his intensive lobbying of cabinet ministers on behalf of both clients and himself.

The Brennan enquiry released earlier this month brings to an end the controversy surrounding the involvement of ministers, former ministers and former government officials in Edmonton-area land purchases shortly before the cabinet announced its annexation decision.

Brennan was generally satisfied that no confidential information about the city's new boundaries approved by cabinet was leaked before the public announcement was made.

But he did take issue with the involvement of former ministers involved with companies specializing in Edmonton-area land.

"Whether or not such ap-pealation proves to be accurate, but particularly, so if it is, an ugly cloud of suspicion of impropriety, will almost certainly descend upon them."

He urged cabinet ministers and officials to stay clear of such involvement in the future.

Despite Brennan's citing Trynchy with negligence, Premier Peter Lougheed refused to ask for the minister's resignation. Instead, Lougheed took issue with Brennan's finding.

The premier said Trynchy could not have checked on his land's location because it was placed in blind trust when he became a minister.

However, a legal description of the land was included in Trynchy's declaration of interest statements filed with the legislature in 1978 and 1980. And though Trynchy testified he put the land in blind trust in 1979, it was still Brennan's view that he was careless not to have checked his own declaration of interest statements filed with the legislature in 1978 and 1980. And though Trynchy testified he put the land in blind trust in 1979, it was still Brennan's view that he was careless not to have checked his own declaration of interest statements filed with the legislature in 1978 and 1980.

Materials required for books on barns

Residents of small localities throughout Saskatchewan and Alberta are being asked to provide local knowledge and suggestions to a forthcoming book on one of Western Canada's vanishing landmarks - the barn.

Research is nearly half complete on the book which is being written and photographed for publication in 1982 by veteran agricultural writer Bob Hainstock of Winnipeg. He will be travelling throughout Western Canada at different times of 1982, following leads suggested by local residents.

The Manitoba portion - is almost complete. The book will highlight existing examples of historically or architecturally interesting barns. Mr. Hainstock is asking local residents to offer suggestions on sites to be included.

These suggestions might include barns that show ethnic influence, unusual building materials, unusual building methods or locations, unusual shape or size, or just plain interest for many different reasons.

Barns might be thatched, log, sod, brick, stone, pole and mud, or metal. They might be round, T-shaped, L-shaped, connected to house or silo. They might be found at universities or research stations, museums or farm grounds. Age is not the most important factor.

Suggestions, along with directions to the site, should be sent to: Bob Hainstock, 11 Chippewa Way, Winnipeg, R2J 2E3. Photos or informal material welcome and will be returned promptly.

In cartoons, Twenty Bird and Sylvester are always at odds, and that's the way it appeared at a recent draw with proceeds going to projects of the Loughheed kindergarten. The odds were in Sylvester's favour, however, because Steven Smith was inside the Sylvester costume - and guess what, Twenty, donated by Ann Smith, was the prize given away by Sylvester. The winner was Alice Lowe of Hardisty. Randee Johnson holds Twenty while Shirley Johnson, kindergarten president looks on as Sylvester makes the draw.

Notes from Sedgewick

Betty Walsh
Mr. and Mrs. George Jerry went home after a month's vacation in Arizona, mostly at Mesa. Marge told me that they had a wonderful time but wish the weather around here had been a bit more spring like when they arrived home.

Sorry I'm not home to collect your news but I came into Kilham Hospital on the evening of Tuesday and at time of writing am still here. No, I'm not having a holiday, no, I don't have a boyfriend in Kilham. If I was on holiday I'd rather be in Florida and I'd quite happy with him boyfriend. The highest scores were Mrs. Minnie Dine and Mr. Roy Strohbecker. Receiving consolation awards were Mrs. Herta Howells and Mr. Bill Russell.

The Legion Bingo held last Tuesday in the Community Hall was very well attended. Over 350 prizes were played in addition to the large crowd present. The Legion is donating $1,000 from the proceeds of this bingo to the Cancer Fund.

Kinsmen Corner

See Golf 12 is now history. Although the tournament was below par, the people that were there enjoyed themselves immensely. The main topic of discussion last month was Sedgewick Lake. After considerable discussion, it was decided to take on the lake project on a co-operative basis. Of course, this is providing we have approval of the town council. A group is to meet with them at their next meeting.

The Larry Truss house was full for the Easter weekend and all the "kids" were here. Scott, Carol, Megan and Chelsea, Derek and Kevin and Sabah and Turvi of Calgary, Reed, Turvi

I know there must be lots more Easter visitors but there's no more time this week. So if you have any more please ring me, it's so much easier if I can get the news earlier and don't have to spend so long on the phone on Tuesday.

Early March 27th, Kilham assisted in cooking breakfast for players in town.

Our $100 month raffle draw is ready to be on sale in a couple of weeks. There will be 100 tickets sold at $25, each and 12 draws for $100. If you would like us to hold one, contact my Kinsmen.

The Community Press

A Weekly Newspaper Serving the Communities of Hardisty, Loughheed, Sedgewick, Kilham, Strome and Alliance.

SINGLE COPY 25¢

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21, 1982

Volume 73- No. 28

Newspaper being published for 75th consecutive year

"Another year has slipped by" - that's what then-publisher A.W. Easty said in the Thursday, April 17, 1982 edition of The Community Press.

The late Mr. Easty was referring to the fact that he was the publisher of the first issue of Volume 45, Number 1, "another publication year has come to a close."

In his column, "Personal Stuff," A.W. stated the fact means further that he was commemorating the 45th year of the publishing of a weekly newspaper in Sedgewick.

And according to our mathematics the publishing of the edition of The Community Press and The Enterprise means that the current publishers - Monte Keith and Rick Truss - are carrying on a tradition that is now entering its 75th year.

Somewhere along the line, the volume number has been changed, but the fact remains that a newspaper has been printed in Sedgewick continuously since 1908 when A.J. Honey first started the newspaper.

The "Standard" as it was then known was taken over by the late A.L. Easty in 1915, and he continued until 1930, when several local papers were combined into the present Community Press.

The late A.W. Easty took over as publisher in 1943, and sold out his interests in September 1969 to Monte Keith. The newspapers and printing operation are now operated under the aegis of M & K Publishing Ltd.

Of course, The Community Press and The Enterprise serve the entire County of Plagiat, and the urban municipalities within its boundaries.

With the passage of time, the electronic media (particularly television) has changed the role of a weekly newspaper to some extent. But the fact remains that without a community newspaper, an area loses much of its identity.

At a time when individualism is slipping into the background, we believe it is a newspaper's duty to see that this doesn't happen entirely.

Dr. S. Theodore Jacobson, President of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Canada was the guest speaker at the Sunday morning service at Bethania Church, Sedgewick. Pastor Jacobson suggested that more people should study Luther's Small Catechism and by doing so, they wouldn't have as many problems with their own lives, and with other sects. From left are Pastor Carol Qualley, Pastor George Qualley, Mrs. Jacobson and Dr. Jacobson.

Hardisty Flag Society has Premier as Honourary Director

Premier Peter Lougheed is the newest addition to the list of honorary directors of the Hardisty International Flag Society, having graciously accepted the invitation issued last month.

He joins the growing list of national and international v.i.p.'s to throw their support behind our project. Plans and messages have recently been received from the states of Mississippi, Arizona and Montana.

On the international scene, we are in receipt of the flags of Turkey, Indonesia and the People's Republic of Bangladesh.

As well, Isabel Nelson has donated a full-size flag of the People's Republic of China, for which we are most grateful, as the flag received from China has been miniature. Mr. R.L. Johnson of St. Albert sent the flag to Isabel and she in turn donated it to the Society.

Many phone calls and previous letters have also been received in the past month indicating the future support of Nigeria, Lesotho, Malaysia, Hungary and Jamaica. The newly-appointed remainder of unused merchandise at the consignment market to be held April 24th in Hardisty.

The nad plight of the trees in the Derwent Park is of great concern to the Flag Society as the next agenda is the main outdoor flag display area.

Councillor Drever has been asked to have this matter placed on the next agenda of the Town Council. If the Society is successful in its application for employees under the Young Canada Works Program, we will be able to supply a full-time worker to look after the park area. However the lack of a watering system seems to be the main problem, and it is hoped that it can be rectified by the town.

Killam's Rec Director takes new position

Killam's recreation director for nearly three years, Brian Bowles will be leaving shortly to assume new duties as recreation director for the County of Bearhead, starting May 3rd.

Mr. Bowles, a native of Red Deer, was a member of the Killam Indians senior hockey team, and was a key factor in that team's successful quest of the Provincial championship "C" championship in the season just closed.

Among his duties in connection with his Killam Appraisal and recreation activities, Mr. Bowles assisted with the minor hockey program.

Killam Community Recreation Board is considering applications for the position.

Under the chairmanship of Craig Grant, the recreation board met on Monday evening to review the past year's activities, also the financial statement, and to be updated on the Killam Area project, which includes the installation of artificial ice.

Two vacancies on Hardisty council were filled at a by-election held last Wednesday, April 14th, when 95 voters cast ballots.

Town Administrator Wes Peiffer said there were over 200 eligible voters.

Elected to council were Steve Measure, a contractor, who led the polls with 83 votes, and Belva Dowdall, a house officer with the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce who received the approval of 77 electors.

Mark Leonard, an IPL employee and relative newcomer to the Hardisty area, received only 20 votes.

The Killam team are assured of a welcome in the league under new management.

Our apologies to all concerned for this drastic action, especially the players and fans of the teams involved.

Albert Glasgow, President B.R.H.L.

Thanking you for your public service.

Mrs. Myrna Budgown Publicity.

Is full-scale war on the horizon?

With economic conditions being as they are around the world at the present time, don't be too surprised that the confrontation between the Argentines and the British over the Falkland Islands doesn't have far-reaching consequences.

Far from being a minor "squirmish," the Argentine's invasion and take-over of the Falklands has ranked the British to no end and has served as an escape valve for this once-proud nation, from its woes at home.

It's not too far in the past that the entire Free World depended on Britain for survival—the Battle of Britain, the manoeuvring of lantern-jawed Winston Churchill in the nation's darkest hours during the Second World War—many present-day Britons were there during the blitz.

While it cannot now be considered the bastion of democracy, Britain is stocked by a proud race, and it is this trait that has compelled Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher to ask for the return of the Falkland Islands with no strings attached.

After all, most of the inhabitants are of British origin and show their allegiance to Britain (there are about two dozen Canadians there, too).

It's a glorious picture we can conjure up (television helps) of the British fleet sailing across the ocean blue (the Atlantic). Remember "Rule Britannia! Rule Britannia! Britannia rules the waves."

The islands have been under British rule for 150 years, and most countries consider them to be British. The European Common Market partners of Britain have placed trade sanctions against Argentina in support, and Canada has also suspended trade with the aggressor. (We never could understand why we have to import corned beef from Argentina).

While it is clear that the United States is on Britain's side in the dispute, it cannot come right out and say so. It appears that the efforts of U.S. Secretary of State Haig will end in failure.

In the other corner, it is common knowledge that Cuba and Russia are supplying Argentina with intelligence data.

The sides have been drawn, and the main contestants maintain that they will not back down from their stand.

Many Canadians fear war—it's never pretty, and the impact is devastating, but statistics show that more lives are lost during peacetime in highway and air disasters, and the like.

50 Years Ago
A light rain visited this section of the Sunny Press on Monday evening. Further east the precipitation was much heavier and made the new highway very slippery, so slippery that one car jumped off the grade near Boki and rolled over in the ditch.

A number of Miens girls who were dressed to represent Old Man Depression, were seen last Saturday marching south from the Old store corner, each carrying something good to eat. After taking for a considerable time and climbing a very steep pile, the girls chose sides and played a very enjoyable game of softball. Old friends of Norman W.G. Cruz will be interested in knowing that he was awarded a third year scholarship in Arts at the Convocation held at St. Stephen's College, Edmonton, last Friday.

The Hamilton and Watson Co. has bought the stock of the Metro Store. Mr. Hamilton will soon put in a sale at the Metro store to dispose of the stock. Mr. Watson, who has been in charge of the store since his father's death, has returned to school to complete his grade twelve course.

The power went on the blink at the Crescomy Monday afternoon for several hours, and work was at a standstill. The staff had to work at night to finish up. The air was close and blue when we chanced in right in the middle of the sit-down.

At J.E. Gosnell grocery store in Sedgewick, blue and gold pens were on special - 2 for 27 cents. Brooms were also on special for a low 55 cents.

18 Years Ago
This week the volume number of The Community Press reads 45 and the Edition number reads 1. This means another publication year has drawn to a close. It means we are celebrating the 45th year of the publishing of a weekly newspaper in Sedgewick. The paper was first started by A.J. Hasey, in 1908, who published "The Sentinel" until 1915 when it was taken over by the late A.L. Eastly, who continued until 1930, when several local papers were combined into the Present Community Press. The present owner, A.W. Eastly, took over in 1943 and so is just commencing his ninth year as publisher.

The Loughheed correspondent suggested that the village council take a tour of the outlying sidewalks and lighting signs. When it is dry, we don't worry about sidewalks; when it is wet, the crowding, one and all, are a disgrace. Town council had signs saying "Road Unsafe, travel at your own risk."

25 Years Ago
It was noted that the Town of Hardisty proceeded with the building of a curling rink, using the balance of the recreation grant and a donation of $5000 from the curling rink; construction to start as soon as the donation is received from the curling club. The material estimate of Crose Building Supplies to be accepted, subject to government approval.

The regular meeting of the Sedgewick Village Council was held recently. The Village has purchased the C.P.R. Water Tower and all accessories, and a crew has been hired to take down the tower and move it to a new location at the fire hall. A crowd estimated at over four hundred attended the annual Mass Choir Concert of sacred music presented in the Community Hall, Sedgewick, last Friday evening. An offering was taken which amounted to $101.57 which went to the Pagskill Lodge Auxiliary, sponsors of the program.

18 Years Ago
The English 58 class from Sedgewick Central High School took over The Community Press this week as a special project included in their course. The group reported on meetings and recent events, planned and copy, designed pages and road proofs.

Congratulations to the Dayland volunteer firemen for a job well done on Friday evening when lightning struck the dome of the Greek Orthodox Church. They were there in short order after the R.C.M.P. turned in the fire alarm. Have you noticed the bright flare in the Merna Outlook? The Atlantic Nickelodeon Central Plant struck since last fall, was put into operation last week.

Sedgewick has always been noted for its July 1st activities, and this year will be no different. While July 1st festivities will be held as usual on Thursday, July 1st, the following three days - July 2, 3 and 4 have been dedicated to commemorating "75" marking the town's 75th anniversary. Of course, all these activities are open to anyone from the surrounding districts, as well as those from far away. This scene is of July 1st, 1927 when one and all met on the Main Street.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
April 19, 1982
Concerning Battle River Hockey League playoffs being suspended. On March 29, 1982, President Gary Wolosinski resigned.

It became the task of vice-president Albert Glasgow to set the remaining play-off games. The annual meeting stated the games were to be played three nights a week. The games were set, on the first night April 1 in Kilam against Hardisty. At this game, the vice-president and two league delegates were refused re-entry to the Kilam arena by the manager under the orders of the Kilam executive. Past President Lady Lumy was also barred from the arena.

This open disregard for league authority resulted in the termination of the series by acting President Glasgow. On April 14 at a league meeting, it was decided to suspend the suspension of Bill Gibb, Allan Freidrich, and Don Kueber from participation in the Battle River Hockey League for one year, in any capacity. The trophy was not awarded.

The Kilam team are assured of a welcome in the league under new management. Our apologies to all concerned for this drastic action, especially the players and fans of the teams involved. Albert Glasgow, President B.R.H.L.

The Hamilton and Watson Co. has bought the stock of the Metro Store. Mr. Hamilton will soon put in a sale at the Metro store to dispose of the stock. Mr. Watson, who has been in charge of the store since his father's death, has returned to school to complete his grade twelve course.

The power went on the blink at the Crescomy Monday afternoon for several hours, and work was at a standstill. The staff had to work at night to finish up. The air was close and blue when we chanced in right in the middle of the sit-down.

Thoughts

For Living

Have you heard of the statue of Christ that stands in the Cathedral Church of Copenhagen?

Much larger than life, it was the work of Bertel A. Thorvaldsen, who was acclaimed as the most eminent sculptor of his time. It stands with arms outstretched in invitation: "Come into Me and I will give you rest."

A remarkable work, but here is the most remarkable thing of all about it: it is only possible to see this Christ when kneeling at His feet. Before you see His face you must bend your knees to Him.

Canon R. Conrad.

5-4-H Horse clinic held at Killam

On Saturday, April 10th, the Killam 5-H school gave the scene of another successful 4-H Horse Clinic.

Marilyn Manning, R.N. and former 4-H member, now of Edmonton, gave a very interesting clinic in the morning demonstrating how to handle emergencies that may occur on the trail.

She covered everything from applying a pressure bandage to controlling bleeding, to splinting a broken leg and loading a victim on a stretcher made from a larlet or two poles and a blanket, or jacks.

After lunch break, Jim Rodgers, a professional judge who works closely with the horse industry branch, proceeded to give a very detailed and interesting demonstration and talk on what to watch for when buying or breeding horses.

He explained at length the common faults that are bred into horses today and the disastrous results, such as how bad confirmation hinders the horse's ability to perform as it should, and the different veterinary problems that occur.

About 50 interested people attended from seven different 4-H horse clubs, coming from as far away as Youngstown and Baymore.

There were 10 members present, and Vice-President Freda McGhie was in the chair.

Mrs. Matthews reported on the Jost Rally held at Waterville which she represented the Branch.

It was voted to send the usual donation to the Provincial Bureau Fund. The extra dishes from the cupboard are to be given to the Parkland Manor.

It was reported that the Auxiliary benches, which had been taken to the Lions Park shelter, were being badly abused, and it was decided to offer them to the hospital or the Parkland Manor.

Four of our members to appear with seven members of the Kildan Branch, had joined in the funeral service for Mrs. Margaret McClements and laid to rest in the land following.

The meeting closed in order, and a lovely lunch was enjoyed.

Sister Lilian Skoberg with Sister Roberts Riddick, a member of Loughheed Rebekahs.

Is 65-year member of Loughheed Rebekahs

On Wednesday evening, April 14th, a very enjoyable and memorable occasion took place in honor of Mrs. Lilian Skoberg, a sixty-five year member of Loughheed Rebekah Lodge.

Forty-two Rebekah sisters from Loughheed and Sedgewick, as well as the President of Alberta Rebekahs, were present at the assembly held at the home of Mervin and Hazel Skoberg to congratulate Mrs. Skoberg and extend their best wishes to her.

She was a charter member when the Lodge was instituted on March 29, 1917, and has held continuous membership ever since. Until recent years, she was a very active and intermediate member of her Lodge. Mrs. Skoberg was presented with a corsage and bouquet of flowers from members of her Lodge as well as a friendship book of verse from Sister Lila Rebekah Lodge in Killam.

Mrs. Edith Whipple, president of Rebekahs Assembly, presented a tiny three-line lapel pin to Mrs. Skoberg, a personal gift from her.

A special cake had been decorated for the occasion with Rebekah symbols surrounding the Central 65' decoration.

Mrs. Skoberg has resided for the past 24 years in the Flagstaff Auxiliary Hospital in Killam.

La Boheme opera is well received

An appreciative audience attended Sunday's performance of the opera, La Boheme in English, at Sedgewick Community Hall, by Community Opera, a touring company of the Edmonton Opera Association.

The Puccini opera directed by George Cotton had William Schofield as musical director, and was sponsored locally by Flagstaff Players. Cameo appearances during the Greenwood Village nightclub setting during Act II were made by members of the Flagstaff Players including Les Noworothy, George Christensen, Diane Bourne, Ken Affolter, Barbara Bratland, Judy Parker and Nora Aulenbach.

In four acts, the opera had as its principal setting, Paris.

Battle River Light Horse Club outlines year's activities

Battle River Light Horse Association's committee has made for the coming year.

For years, we have had a good turnout of riders and spectators at the annual supper and dance on January 23. Although the weather didn't co-operate, there was a good turnout and everyone enjoyed the evening.

The Hec Haw Gang was in the form. The past year's queen candidate, thrilled us all and I must give some advice to any future queen candidate; unless you want to look like this queen, do not compete in the plywood race. New officers were installed at the annual meeting and at the February meeting some changes were made for the coming year.

In Zone 5

Travel Alberta to conduct tourist destination study

At a recent meeting of the Battle River Tourist Association, members were advised that Travel Alberta has announced a new tourism Destination Area Study which will be conducted immediately. It is known as the Battle River Tourist Destination Area Study, and is responding to Alberta Tourist Zone 5.

The purpose of such a study is to provide an inventory and assessment of the tourist resources in East Central Alberta (Zone 5), along with potential tourism development opportunities being identified.

The Department of Alberta Tourism and Small Business have had such studies completed by consultants in Southeast Alberta, Grand Centre/Bonnyville, South-West Alberta, Grand Centre, and the most recently completed study was the West Central Destination Area.

Battle River Tourist Association believed in December, 1980 that no indication of this fact, BRTA contacted the Honourable A. Adair, Minister of Alberta Tourism and Small Business expressing a deep concern that the area had been completely left out.

Adair advised BRTA that based on interest and support for a Destination Area Development Program, it would be possible that the program could be extended to other regions in the province in 1982 and at that time, part of, or all of Zone 5 could be the subject of a destination area study, if the program was extended.

Upon receiving Adair's reply, BRTA immediately swung into action to be certain all ground work would be in place when considerations were made for 1983 for extending the program was extended.

By the end of the year, BRTA had a plan for the study, and was ready to begin the study.

17th, BRTA monthly meeting to be held at Consort to explain the Battle River Area Study and to indicate how the study can directly involve and benefit the entire area. President Land urged that all member municipalities have at least one representative at the June 17th meeting in Consort.

President Land expressed appreciation to all members who supported having the study and said it certainly points out that working and lobbying strongly together, results can be forthcoming.

President Land advised that Travel Alberta had indicated a desire to have BRTA Manager S. Clemens actively involved in the Battle River Area Study and also to have her sit as a member of the Steering Committee for the study.

Members fully supported Mrs. Clemens involvement, and also approved a request by BRTA to the immediate Past President Robert Brown of Leduc act as back-up BRTA representative on the study.

Jeanette Crone is president of Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary

The annual meeting of the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary was held April 13th, with 12 members and special guests including Dr. Cahill and Mr. Lou Goka, enjoying a supper at Sato's.

After the dinner, the ladies moved to the Drop-In Centre for their meeting and election of officers.

Vice-President Hilary Gray opened the meeting with the members reading the Auxiliary Prayer. Secretary Erma Matthews read the minutes of the March meeting as well as the minutes of the 1981 annual meeting. Roll call by Marion Egan was answered by 13 members.

Bingo plans for April 25 were finalized. New business arising was about hospital

Faithful Enterprises gave the Auxiliary the best plan and quality of material for the cost, or one set of out of door furniture will be ordered for this summer.

The East Central Regional Hospital Auxiliary Conference will be held in Hanna on May 28. It is hoped that some members will be present at this meeting.

June Crone read the annual Hospital profit and loss statement. It was decided to add $4,000.00 in place of the $3,000.00 previously stated.

M.C. Harold Morrison welcomed the family, sister and brothers of the couple and friends.

A toast to the bride and groom was given by Walter Kobitsch and replied to in the form of a few stories 50 years ago, by Vera Hendricks.

FLAGSTAFF FURTHER EDUCATION COUNCIL

Put a little "class" in your life

Looking ahead to fall programming in this county, I see some really good things happening in the various areas.

Folk in Sedgewick interested in Photography will be fortunate to have Instructor Shirley Linton of Forestburg running a fall course.

Also Sylvia Gidley has lined up a Guitar instructor and is in the planning process with a fall course. Hopefully, we will be able to offer more wedding courses, since the present course was over subscribed, which indicates there's lots of interest in that area of adult education.

Loughheed students in place for adults will move on to Level II. Exercise programs for Seniors shouldn't pose a problem since we have been running an instructor course, so hopefully, resources people will be available in that area of programming. Aerobic Dance for Seniors is another planned course.

The co-ordinator will be attending an Alberta Conference on Adult Education at Banff School of Fine Arts next week. Any messages left on code phone will be attended to when I return to the office on May 3, 1982.

WHEN WE PROMISE POWER TO ALBERTANS, WE HAVE GOOD GROUNDS.

One of our services about Alberta's first power company.

At TransAlta Utilities, we've been doing a lot of things for a long time to make sure that Albertans have a sufficient and secure supply of electrical energy.

Back in the 1950s, we looked beyond the surplus of low cost natural gas and saw the day when this fuel would become prohibitively expensive for power generation. We also predicted a time when the prior claims of the domestic user and the petrochemical industry would put natural gas out of reach for our purposes.

And so we turned to Alberta's vast resources of low-sulphur coal as the answer.

To fuel our new generating stations, we began to buy coal properties at 1950s prices. Coal properties which, together with those we would subsequently acquire, will enable us to protect our customers from energy price and supply uncertainties for decades to come.

Now, thirty years later, we can confidently promise power to Albertans because we have fuel in the ground to back that commitment.

And we're still looking into the future. We're supporting research into alternate forms of energy - solar and wind power. We're keeping abreast of the latest developments in nuclear energy. We're continuing the search for economically feasible hydroelectric power. And we're maintaining our solid financial capability to raise the necessary capital to build future plants. At the same time we will continue to offer an opportunity to Albertans to invest in the growth of their province.

Meanwhile, back in the present, we take pride in what we do today. This includes our 99% Canadian ownership. Our development of a strong, innovative management. And the maintenance of a neighborly presence in the communities we serve.

TransAlta Utilities. Power for Albertans is our prime concern.

Citizens fed up with economy . . . another party bites the dust

When there is an election reversal, it supposedly comes as a "shock" to many, but considering the present economic down swing in Canada, many provincial governments have been toppled from their position of power for this very reason.

The latest government to taste the bitter bullet of defeat is the NDP administration of Premier Alan Blakeney in Saskatchewan, as anti-government feelings sweep the country.

It's a fact of life that when times are good, the party in power has an easy time to retain its place in the sun—but in difficult times, disgruntled voters aren't hesitating in ousting the cause of their troubles.

Even if it means turning the other cheek, and turning to another political entity, be it an established party or the recently-formed Western Canada Concept.

In light of recent events, the government of Alberta must be having second thoughts about its future.

It has come under fire for its handling of the Heritage Trust Fund; for its handling of the Alameda heavy oil extraction facility and its apparent imminent demise (perhaps the Ontario government will be the saviour), and for inferred in discretion in dealing in the City of Edmonton.

Premier Lougheed must be looking over his shoulder at the result of Monday's Saskatchewan election which saw Grant Devine and his Progressive Conservative party sweep 57 of the 64 Legislative seats.

Where did Mr. Blakeney go wrong? It appeared that he was showing concern for the Western Canada Concept party, and called a "snap" election to decimate this organization before it had time to formulate policy.

One thing for sure—the WCC is disgruntled with the federal Liberals and opposed to implementation of the metric system—and supports separation from the remainder of Canada, however the issue of separation as yet has not been established as a clear-out party tent.

And Mr. Blakeney may have been consulting political suicide by ordering striking Saskatchewan nurses back to work. After all, the NDP is supposed to be a party for the workers.

Prime Minister Trudeau has stated that he would like to stay on until Canada's economy is in a better state of well-being.

Our Constitution has now been brought home, thanks to the perseverance of the federal Liberals, but that task being achieved, perhaps it's time to have a federal election and "clear the air"—at least for a while.

Work is going well on Flagstaff Lodge in Sedgewick. By Wednesday, it is expected that ninety percent of the concrete footings will be completed. Construction is well underway, even a little ahead of schedule. It is hoped the Lodge will be ready by October.

At Kilham Electric, Richard's Special was delivered, any color, for a low $299.00.

A woman and her daughter were watching a typical, routine movie of the Thirties on T.V. after the day had ended with the usual chitchat, as most women of the day did, the daughter turned to her mother, and said, "Mom, your movie ended where ours began."

This news item is to whom it may concern:

On February 17th, Mr. Errol Larson went to the Kilham dumping grounds to get rid of some garbage. He heard a whisper in the dump, and upon investigation found that the sound was coming from a lean, black Labrador pup.

Also at the scene were four other Labrador pups—fourteen to date.

It is speculated that the female survivor, called Serena, clung to life by the mere fact that she had the benefit of body heat from the other pups.

It was very cold at the time this find was perpetrated.

Thanks only to chance and human compassion, Serena has survived and has a very good home with Errol and Anna.

We thought perhaps you the readers, would like to know.

Word was received on Monday by cable from England that Sgt. Observer Roy Perrier had arrived safely after a flight across the Atlantic. We are informed that Sgt. Perrier was a member of the crew of a large Catalina Flying Boat, which made the eastward trip. He has the distinction of being the first Sedgewick boy in the armed forces, to fly across to England.

At J.E. Gornall Grocery Store in Sedgewick, Kubota's coffee, 3 lbs. White Seal Keta salmon was only 19 cents per lb.

Spring must be here as we notice the Lougheed boys are now very hard and are spreading the ground with a very thick carpet of white snow, so a Merry Christmas to all again.

Back in the early days of the Sedgewick community, Brown's Lake, now known as Sedgewick Lake was a favorite picnic spot. This United Church picnic took place about 1921. While the grounds have been vandalized frequently in recent years, efforts are being made to restore facilities in time for Sedgewick Homecoming '82.

 Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Nees (nee Georgina Diamond) on the birth of a nine pound three ounce son, Casey Robert was born at the Charles Cunnell Hospital in Edmonton on Tuesday, April 20th. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nees. A baby for a little mother!

Ed and Karen Dowler and boys recently enjoyed a holiday in Vancouver and Seattle.

Three tables of players enjoyed Norwegian Whist at the Senior Citizens Drop-In Centre on Friday evening. Winning prizes for the highest scores were Mrs. Mary McCracken and Mr. David Black won prizes for the highest scores. Receiving consolation awards were Mr. Bill Russell (who was tied with Mr. Ed Sarasin) and Mrs. Ed Sarasin.

graduated in 1910 and another in 1921 and that's even longer. The meeting was held at the Four Seasons Hotel where Florence was a guest. She was also at the U.E. Elder home. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walsh were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Ransom on Sunday where they helped daughter Beth celebrate her birthday.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Edridge Freeman and other friends and relatives in the district on Monday were Mr. and Mrs. Alec Naught of Burnaby, B.C. The Naughts were formerly residents of Loughheed.

Several folk from here attended the U.C.W. Tea in Loughheed on Saturday afternoon.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rod MacKinnon for a couple of days were Hazel's nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cook and son Stephen of Calgary. They also visited the Don MacKinnon family in Loughheed. Get well wishes to Mr. A.E. Falla who is a patient in the Kildon Hospital. There should be something around I could say but I get so tired of smart remarks when I'm in the hospital that I'll refrain.

A very appreciative notice was at the Community Hall on Friday evening to enjoy an evening of Choral Music by the University of Alberta Mixed Chorus. We don't very often get a chance to enjoy entertainment of this calibre.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Stuart spent the weekend at the Larry Truss home. They took Mrs. Boyd back with them.

Area students performed well at festival

On Thursday, April 29th, the Loughheed Grade 1 and 2 class performed in the Carroon Music Festival. The adjudicator, Neome Inkster, commented that this was a "very enthusiastic group who sang well and in tune. Their singing was happy and the actions well put together. The class was described as a very well-disciplined and organized group."

The children also were awarded a gold seal for their Rhythm Band entry. They played "Walking Mailman" and received a mark of 82.

This class had a busy day, as they entered a third competition. "Traditional Folk Songs" in which they sang a marriage song and a lullaby. "Asky's"

Grade 4 students from Sedgewick and the elementary pupils of Forestburg School also attended the festival.

The Forestburg students were under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Bratland, the elementary music teacher, and her classes also received numerous awards.

They received band seals in the following categories: Grade 1, school chorus, "Kitty's Tongue"; Grade 6, school chorus, "Dorm the Alike Country Style"; Grade 4 to 8 Union Chorus, "The Little Light of Mine"; Grade 2, Action Song, "Three Bears"; Grade 3,

"Sure, buildings can be replaced, but some of your things stored, can never be replaced."

"Now we realize how people feel when a dreaded fire starts. It's not a great feeling, so watch when you decide to burn."

"Locked Out"

Nursing services in the area served by the Alberta East Central Health Unit have been stopped in the wake of a "lock-out" by the Health Unit Association of Alberta.

Eight other health units have been similarly affected. Services curtailed include clinics and home visiting.

The health unit nurses want their wages tied to what hospital nurses receive from an arbitration tribunal.

Some of the loss was covered by insurance, but as Mrs. Morgan, a Kilman correspondent for The Community Press states in the following remarks, money doesn't necessarily reimburse people for losses suffered through fire.

The loss included many implements, urgently needed for spring planting, Brian Morgan's van, and several boxes of sentimental value which had belonged to Bill Morgan's father.

Mrs. Morgan comments: "I don't think anyone can realize the feelings you have (unless you've had fire) as you watch what you

Relative of town's namesake may attend homecoming

If efforts are successful, the only surviving relative of the Hon. Robert Sedgewick, after whom the town was named, will be in attendance for Sedgewick Homecoming '82 festivities. A letter from Doreen M. Miller (nee Andrews), formerly of Sedgewick, informed the committee that she had met a Mr. Kenneth Sedgewick.

She is the only living relative of Judge Sedgewick, after whom I understand our town was named," comments Mrs. Miller.

Mrs. Miller, a former resident, had received an invitation to the Homecoming, and hopes to attend.

An interesting sidelight to the above - according to the Provincial Archives at Alberta, there is a second "s" in the spelling of the name "Sedgewick."

Severe damage caused in Morgan farm fire
 High winds fanned a Saturday blaze at the farm residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morgan and son, Brian of Kilman, causing an estimated $100,000 damage. Initially, the outbreak started out as a garage fire, but spread out of control. Efforts of Kilman firemen and neighbours were successful in averting severe damage to the residence. Mrs. Morgan said that although siding over an insulating material also was a major factor in keeping the fire confined to only one side of the home. Some of the loss was covered by insurance, but as Mrs. Morgan, a Kilman correspondent for The Community Press states in the following remarks, money doesn't necessarily reimburse people for losses suffered through fire. Following a coffee and doughnut break, a lengthy question period took place. Questions from the crowd ranged from the W.C.C. policy on independence to economic strategy.

During the question period, news of the defeat of the N.D.P. Government in Saskatchewan was announced.

A number of those attending the rally took out membership in the W.C.C. party. The rally was held in the Killam Legion Hall.

Stromberg to be opposed for PC nomination

Gordon Stromberg, Progressive Conservative member of the Provincial Legislature in Camrose constituency for the past eleven years, has announced his intentions of seeking re-election when the next provincial election is held.

The announcement was made at a Friday afternoon press conference, held at the Nemesian Inn in Camrose.

While there are no immediate indications that a provincial election may be called in the near future, many regard the collapse of the Alameda mega-project as a blow to the government of Premier Lougheed.

Rita Nyback, a resident of the Camrose area announced her candidacy in an April 27th press release.

The PC nomination for the riding is expected to take place sometime in June.

Well-known in Conservative circles, Mrs. Nyback has been a central figure during the campaign of federal and provincial candidates.

Mrs. Nyback stated that she believes the potential of Canada and Alberta is "too strong" that a change of political messages within the PC party can save it from the danger and divisive policies advocated by those who would choose to solve problems by tearing Canada apart.

Commenting that "the frustration and frustration is causing many to consider WCC as a political option,"

Good sportsmanship, aim of Killam Minor Ball

Around 30 people connected with minor ball gathered on Tuesday, April 27 at Killam Public School.

Outgoing president Darlene Kalawsky and secretary Linda Landwehr are retiring after two productive years in office.

Coaches and helpers are Bill Stang for F-Ball, Dean Goss and Lawrence Dammann, Beaver (12 and under); Alan Gausse and Lois Prichard for Bantam (14 and under).

Other helpers will be Sharon Kuchler, Darlene Kalawsky, Pat Lang, Eleanor Kuchler and Sharon Kuchler (umpire).

Secretary-treasurer for this year will be Brenda Stang with Robert Stang as president. Fees were at $8.00 per player and it is the group's hope to have as many parents and players involved as possible.

A girls' 11 and under football team may be organized as well as a 13 and under girls team.

Emphasis will be on fun and participation and good sportsmanship.

Anyone able to volunteer some time as umpire, coach or Robert Borth.

Lougheed Notes

Editha and Ken Leslie of Edmonton were spending a week in this area with Leslie and Horvick relatives. They had supper at the home of Mrs. Leslie on Thursday night.

A number of Lougheed women's institute members attended their Oshon Conference W.I. conference at the home of Mrs. Leslie on Tuesday April 27. The Lougheed Branch came home with the second most points in handicraft. Congratulations to our secretary, Dolores Costes. She won the award for the best secretary reports for the year. Dolores won this award last year too.

Mrs. Jack Stoodley of Vancouver, B.C. was here visiting with her family for a few days.

Sympathy is extended to it's family and friends of Mrs. Mainie (Young) Reynolds who passed away in the Nursing Home at Viking this week. The funeral was in Lougheed on Friday, April 30. Mrs. Mainie (Young) Reynolds owned the Lougheed Hotel a few years ago, along with her husband, Mr. Young.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Macdonald were Herb's sisters, Mrs. Doris Bell of Oshon, and Mrs. Ellen Reed of Winnipeg. They also were at Mrs. Mainie Reynolds' funeral.

Judy Wigner went to take her mother, Mrs. Marie Nease back to Lethbridge after staying here a month with her family. Judy came back with Wayne.

Welcome to town to Mr. and Mrs. Don Good. It is nice to have you back with us again.

Alliance Viewpoint

Coc Poock was seen standing inside the coffee shop making weird gestures out of the window at 2:30 a.m. The police were called before or after he ate the 'big back' egg. You decide. Again the whole thing is beyond me.

Monday afternoon saw the Alliance streets fairly busy with cars. Several gangs of teens pooled together across households and places with everything from furniture and appliances to ornaments and dolls. The Alliance members kept things moving at a fast pace, and a few went away without heavily laden cars. At one point, I got so caught up in the excitement of the race, running past me on a blinder, that I hid myself up, the excitement had apparently melted away before, thank goodness, and me there for it my original idea was to see if I could see any useful items on hand, I certainly have it because an annual event.

I saw Norm Holt at the sale and he apologized for not getting news in time to read the news this week. Show your mother and your wife what really nice people they are (I may even let you see this week's news).

Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary honours volunteers at bingo

Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary held April 28 with Vice-president Doreen Cahill welcoming everyone and the main prize was between Bill Landais and Hilary Gray, proxy. There was one very special $5.00 cash dividend between Jason Voros, Melissa Englehart, Provost, proxy and Lori Metz.

Single winners of $15. each were Doris Young, proxy, Esther Johansson, Laura Blue, proxy, Winnie Goodrich, Owen Baumgartner, Edna Wells, Mrs. Parsons, Olive Powell, Hugden, and Marlene Bowler, Chaperone. The winners are named people in the town, not just the ones who meet in the coffee shop next year.

benefits the girls can receive toward credits for their High School education. The number of hours that have to be completed, etc.

Nickie Cahill planned courses on Judy Watkins, and Rolinda Goodrich.

Since Judy has completed five years of Candy Stripe work, she also received a gift. Carol Kocall was unable to be present for the occasion.

It is hoped more girls and boys (the course is open for boys also) from the Hardisty, and the Hardisty districts attend. As well, young people from west of Hardisty, will join the Volunteer classes in the fall, so there will be a big graduation next year.

Rebekahs meet at Lougheed

Forty-four members gathered on April 28 for the regular meeting of Lougheed Rebekah Lodge, N.G. Sister Quin was in the chair.

Visits had been made to hospitals in Killam and Hardisty, to the auxiliary, and to a home.

Members were sorry to hear of the hospitalization of George Marlow and Glen Roggenkamp. They were visited by Doreen Cahill who was recuperating at the home of Ida and Dave Black.

Testative plans were made to attend the Lutheran Church as a group.

It was decided to place posters under the pedestals with Sister Riddick and the emergency of the construction crew.

After Penny Dill, lodge closed in harmony. Sister McClements served a delicious lunch. One member went home with a care package. She is reported to have said that it "made her day" on Thursday.

The gravel crew pulled into Sedgewick on Thursday morning, May 5th, and have been steadily at work the past week unloading and spreading the gravel along the highway between Kilham and Sedgewick. C.B. Miller is the foreman in charge of the work.
In Loughheed, school was closed on Tuesday, as teachers stayed at their respective homes for fear of fire.
The Village of Loughheed was started on Tuesday morning, May 10th about 8 a.m., by the fire bell sounding the alarm. The house of James Russell was burning, both Mr. and Mrs. Russell being at the time. The contents of one room were saved, but the house is completely gone. Some insurance was carried. On account of the high wind at the time, nearby owners were kept busy guarding their roofs from flying embers.

The Northwest Lumber Company has taken a plot of ground at the camp grounds and have laid out experimental plots. There are nine varieties of wheat, eight of oats, eleven of barley and three varieties of flax, two varieties of millet and a variety of grasses. It will be interesting to watch the progress of growth. Mr. William Grant Jr. is looking after this project.
Word comes to us that Cive MacDonald of the RCAF at the Crowsnest is one of the six students out of the squadron who are to be grouped, the highest trade rating obtainable. Commendation. The St. Lawrence Salvage Committee received returns from the car that they shipped to Winnipeg. The gross value was $48.87 less freight $12.75, leaving a net of $36.12. The entire net is being turned over to the Red Cross.

On Saturday evening of last week, two members of the Sedgewick Branch of the Kilham Branch of the A.P. Crop Report said: Moisture conditions are generally satisfactory for the present. Some cultivation is being done and seedlings are becoming general.
Fifty-seven willing walkers made the 10 mile into town, while picking up garbage along the way. The first four walkers to were with Mrs. Walter Sturek's truck. They were Kevin Tulloch, Alvin Karpovich, Dale Spier and Garry Candlish, all of Dayland.

At the Park Cafe, in Hardisty, Mother's Day Special was a combination pluck with six different dishes for a low $1.75. Also a home steak was on special for $2.25.
The Sedgewick Branch of the Canadian Red Cross is very grateful to the people of Sedgewick and district for their generous support of our recent fund-raising funds. A total of $444.00 has been forwarded to the headquarters in Calgary. This could not have been accomplished without the good work of our canvassers.

near were Richard Holzer (118 B.) and Garry McKinney (88 B.).

The old town of Loughheed had its third fire scare when the gang went at 8 a.m. on Monday of last week, and for a while, things looked pretty interesting. Fortunately, Mrs. Kirkman heard the crackling and looked out to see their woodpile and outside reading room in flames. The brigade had no sooner gotten these under control, than it was discovered that the sparks had started two fires in the old blacksmith shop roof. Ladders were raised and the chief ascended with a sprinkling can and doused both blazes.

Mr. Struss the Cow, hay-wire per pound was 12 cents, fork handles were 75 cents, common nails were 15 cents per pound, and bluestone nails were 2 pounds for 35 cents.

Miss Donna Cookson of Loughheed has won first prize for grade ten in a province wide essay contest. Miss Cookson, who is a student at Central High School, wrote on "What the Old Settlers Did for Me and My Community." Her achievement is especially impressive since she suffered from the handicap of seriously impaired eyesight. The prize is $100 cash and a trophy.

Back in the pioneer days, tillers of the soil certainly needed capital to maintain their farming operations, but the cost would be insignificant when compared with that of modern-day equipment. Even fuel didn't pose too much of a problem then, as is shown in this scene between 1913 and 1918 of the Cameron Brothers outfit, south of Sedgewick, around the Cameron homestead. The 110 h.p. Case steam tractor was fired by straw which was conveniently hauled behind it.

Don't be shy . . . nominate your junior citizens

There is so much negativism around these days, due in the main to a faltering economy, however we must all persevere, no matter what the odds.

It has almost become a "game" to run down the federal government, the Loughheed government, (lump the two together since the collapse of the Alameda project), the Edmonton Oilers (since their swift demise in the play-offs), and anyone else within earshot if everything isn't going just right.

No matter what goes on in other nations—the Communist put-down of the Solidarity movement in Poland, the British—Argentine crisis, or the quirk of nature which cause untold misery to millions of many of us just like to grumble about anything and everything.

There is so much to be thankful for in Canada, as visitors from other lands have pointed out without reservation. And many Albertans who have travelled elsewhere in this great land, return with fond memories of their association with other Canadians.

There are many organizations and service clubs which do much for deserving causes, through the efforts of many individuals working collectively.

Since 1961, the Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association in conjunction with Alberta Power and Trans-Alta Utilities has sponsored Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year Awards for any young Albertan, or group of young Albertans, between six and 18 years of age.

Since its inauguration, the Alberta Junior Citizens program has honoured more than 200 young people and some 25 groups, for their contributions to their communities.

In making its decision, the panel of judges takes into consideration a wide variety of activities, such as the outstanding service of a candystriper at her local hospital, and a grade six class which helped a classmate confined to a wheelchair, live a normal life outside the classroom . . . the list goes on.

Of course, the winners are suitably recognized, with presentations made at the annual banquet of the Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association.

It's so easy to criticize—now let's have citizens come forth and nominate an individual or group between the age of six and 18 years. Deadline for entry is June 30th.

Nominations forms may be picked up at The Community Press, or from Trans-Alta Utilities, or Alberta Power Offices.

Don't be shy in making a nomination—the resulting recognition to winners could be the springboard to even greater heights. Then everyone becomes a winner.

Dear Editor:
Please find enclosed $12 for my 1982 subscription.

I enjoy your free format. Say thanks to Sylvia Wald for her Alliance report. I used to live northwest of Alameda as a girl.

I went to school at New-Way School for two years with the Wicks, Norma Hill and others in 1921 and 1922.

Say hello to Norman and Betty, also the Spady's, McPherson's, McDermott's, Barwick's, McClouds, and any others who remember Beatrice Harris, Marian Brown and Billy Donah.

Say "hi" to all my relatives and friends around the Strone-Bentley Club, Hill, and Flagstaff districts and Kilham.

(Mrs.) Beatrice Devitt.

Would-be thief apprehended by RCMP

A heavy snowfall last Wednesday night proved of great assistance to police in tracking down a suspect after a break-in at Sedgewick Co-op Service Centre.

About 9 p.m. on May 5th, Taler Mayor Simpson who was in another part of the building was alerted by the sound of breaking glass and frightened off the would-be thief.

Kilham RCMP were notified and trucks were traced to the Sedgewick Hotel where a juvenile from the Taler area was apprehended.

A fire at Struve last week, destroyed an elevator which was being renovated, with most of the charred ruins obscured by the cement foundation on which the rebuilding was taking place. Cause of the blaze was being investigated.

Congratulations to Shawna Devery, who won the Junior girls' singles badminton zone tournament in Victoria on April 31. She advanced to the regional in Westswin on April 28 to become eligible to compete in the Provincial Playoffs in Lethbridge, on May 1. The results are not final at the time of printing. There was good competition from all of Alberta. Dorothy, Bud and Shannon accompanied Shawna to the competition.

Jack and Mary Mazure celebrated their 76th wedding anniversary on May 8. The family joined with them at Seto's Dining Lounge to enjoy the evening. Jack and Mary cut a cake decorated in their 76th year. Congratulations to the Mazures.

Mothers Day at St. Paul's United Church was a very special service, when the Community Choir attended, with several beautiful numbers. There is something that is good about a churchful of worshippers and a powerful choir, standing to sing "How Great Thou Art." Later in the service, a number of parents were happy to present their children for baptisms. These were: Kristofer David Kobitzsch, infant son of Gail and Larry Kobitzsch of Hardisty; Kristina Denise Bird and Jeffrey Robert Bird, children of Laura and Dennis Bird of Viking; Ryan Aaron Clouston, young son of Brenda and Raymond Clouston of Loughheed; and David Don Dowker and Michael Edwin Dowker, children of Karen and Edwin Dowker of Sedgewick; Alaina Marie Wilson, infant daughter of Allan and Diane Wilson of Wainwright. It was nice to see so many visitors home for Mothers Day and in church with their families.

Congratulations to Mr. Clement Frost on his 90th birthday. Mr. Frost was a resident of Hardisty for many years until his moving to Edson to take up residence in the lodge there. We would like to wish him a happy birthday as he does whatever our age.

The Community Choir was active again this past week when they sang in the three churches on Mothers Day weekend. They were in St. Joseph's Catholic Church at the Saturday night Mass, in St. Paul's United at the Sunday morning service and went from there to the Anglican Church for the service there. Gordie Brink was back in Hardisty for the weekend and led the choir in their most enjoyable presentations.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Torpe and children of Sedgewick are staying in their trailer at the lake while Ken is working on the addition to the Barney Matthews home. The lovely weather for camping!

Merna students prepare for river ride

Several students from Merna Seventh Day Adventist Church School are quite excited about the forthcoming river ride on June 16 and 17, and they will be there.

It is the intention for nine students, Principal Janet Bell and several parents to participate in a White Water Raft Ride on the Red Deer River, but before the group can participate, there is another obstacle to overcome, a matter of money.

Mr. Bell, said that cost of the supervised trip through "Watershed Adventures" charter service in Edmonton is $125 per child, and that was the reason the students were conducting a search for bottles on Highway 36. Other money-raising projects scheduled include bake sales, and a bike-athon. The river ride will start at Sundre and is 35-40 kilometers in length.

Outdoor flag displays at Hardisty May 24th

The May 24th weekend we will see the beginning of the summer outdoor flag displays in Hardisty. Schedules are being prepared and plans are being made to have the opportunity to apply for the job of raising and lowering the flags on a daily basis during the summer. In the next few weeks the display tables will be repaired and flag route signs will be posted.

Flags and messages continue to arrive with one of the most interesting being the flag of the Socialist People's Libyan Arab Jamahiriya (Libya). This flag adopted in 1977 is the only monochromatic national flag in the world today, being all green, symbolizing Colonel Muammar al Qaddafi's promise of a Green Revolution to transform Libya into a self-sufficient food producing country. We also have received the flag of the Republic of Singapore and Hong Kong.

Correspondence from the Vatican City State, Uganda, and Sweden indicates future support, while a beautiful selection of books have been received from Kivallik.

A touching letter from Miss Karen Klein, prima ballerina of the National Ballet indicates her pleasure in accepting an honorary directorship in our society. Miss Klein was approached by the Society to represent communication between peoples in a non-verbal art form. We are very pleased and happy to have the young lady of Miss Klein's considerable talents supporting our project.

The Flag Society will be sponsoring a raffish for a lovely barbecue, and tickets should be on sale shortly.

The membership drive has started and we are delighted to report that every household approached the other evening responded with the purchase of a membership. We had hoped for 100% support and are gratified by this response.

Day tickets available for Sedgewick Homecoming

A meeting of the Sedgewick Homecoming Committee was held in the Senior Citizens Drop In Centre on April 29th.

Business on the tent during the time it is set up at the Rec Centre was discussed and will be discussed further with Mr. Kneeland.

A letter received from the executive secretary of premier Loughheed advising that the Premier will be unable to attend the opening ceremonies. Senator Ernest Manning will be asked to speak.

A list of people who have lived here for a full 70 years was read. The committee ask that names of any persons who were in the Sedgewick area in 1907, have lived in the area all or part of their lives, be turned into the Town Office, the drug store or any committee member. These people will be recognized at the opening ceremony.

Day tickets were again discussed. Due to the number of requests received from local people day tickets will be available prior to the Homecoming on two Saturdays, May 15 and 16.

Arrangements are being made for trailer parking at washroom facilities, etc. Sedgewick Lake will be ready for campers as well. The permits will have a display of items at the museum in Sedgewick and further details are invited.

The entertainment committee reported the Award Clowns have been booked. Location of the History book opening and auction will be discussed further with the committee.

The arrangements for entertainment have not all been finalized yet.

The parade will be led by the Legion colour party and the players. Premier Sedgewick residents who are in the R.C.M.P. have also been invited to lead the parade.

Problems are being encountered in finding personnel to operate the hot booth downtown and the cold booth at the Rec Centre. Problems are also being encountered in obtaining liquor permits for Friday and Saturday evenings and in providing food as required by the liquor board according to regulations set down by the health inspector.

Mr. Carl Swartz has returned home after spending the winter out in Vancouver, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pook of Maitland called to visit Mrs. Edna Larson last Friday. The attraction was to look at Edna's salt and pepper collection. Mrs. Pook collects them too, so they both had things in common to talk about.

Well it seems as though Old Man Winter doesn't want to leave us. We had to get our winter clothes out again, especially foot-wear.

Mrs. Dave Colton (nee Stacey Watson) and son David of Edmonton spent this week visiting Stacey's daughter and husband, John and Judy Routhledge and her mother, Mrs. Jean Watts.

Sympathy is extended to the families of Mrs. Marian Brown, who passed away on May 3. The funeral was in Edmonton on Friday.

Volunteers with equipment clean out swim area.

Refurbishing of lake continues

A $3,000 grant by the Town of Sedgewick and a clean-up drive spearheaded by the Kinmen Club have been pulling out and completely renovated.

The Camp Kinmen was renovated by volunteers, and the change house painted by Kinmen and other local lady volunteers.

A great effort was also put forth by the little folk as they picked up broken glass, debris and unknown.

Several pieces of equipment, trucks and men were again made available through the generosity of the Sedgewick business community, as well as municipal equipment.

Don Anderson, who is chairman of the project for the Kinmen Club, reports that so far the Kinmen, Chamber of Commerce and volunteers have expended the sum of $95 man hours of work at the Lake, and two thousand dollars of the Sedgewick Town grant has been spent.

President Gary Culbert of the Kinmen states that more work "boos" are planned, and all volunteers are welcome.

The machine, erected in a pick-up truck, consists of a

Marijuana cultivation among RCMP charges

One person has been charged with cultivating marijuana by Kilham Detachment of the RCMP.

Also during the last week, a charge was laid under the Liquor Control Act against a person for refusing to leave a licensed premises when ordered to do so by the proprietors.

This was in addition to "illegal consumption" charges laid against occupants of motor vehicles.

Under investigation is the wild damage to cement planters in Loughheed, caused when a vehicle mounted the median.

Stolen from a construction site north of Hardisty were diesel fuel, acetylene tanks and propane tanks.

A window was smashed at Brodie's Bakery in Kilham, however it has not been ascertained if anything was stolen.

On Tuesday of this week, it was reported to Kilham RCMP that the Sedgewick Rac Centre had been broken into over the weekend.

Street signs coming for Sedgewick

Street signs for the Town of Sedgewick will arrive next week and should be in place shortly thereafter, president Vic Albrecht of the sponsoring Chamber of Commerce has announced.

Speaking at Tuesday's Chamber meeting, Mr. Albrecht said erection of the street signs will be done by members. Volunteers are most welcome.

As part of the Chamber's town beautification program, ten tree planters have been placed along Sedgewick's main street.

Plans were announced for the annual meeting and luncheon to be held June 14th at Sedgewick Golf Club.

Seat belt convincer convinces students

Another facet of the attempts by area schools to provide a well-rounded education for students was evidenced at Central High in Sedgewick on Tuesday afternoon of this week when the possibilities of accidents without the use of seatbelts was visually demonstrated.

In fact, the Alberta Transportation official in charge of the display remarked the only one per cent of those he had surveyed, had ever worn a seat belt.

It is not a legal requirement to wear seat belts, but government departments strongly advise that this be done.

The machine, erected in a pick-up truck, consists of a seat on a ramp which propels the "driver" a short distance at just eight kilometres or five miles per hour, but simulates a vehicle striking an object at 50 miles per hour.

The instructor said through use of the "seat belt convincer" it is hoped to impress upon prospective drivers that "you can't hold yourself back in a collision."

Principal Manfred Jensen said that he had been attempting to secure the demonstration for the last four years, but had not been able to do so, because of its popularity in the larger centres.

The display had been in Hardisty, earlier in the day.

Workmen for the CPR were recently observed painting sidings on the railway line, east of Hardisty near Highway 13, as rails were being replaced. Vince Frickel roadmaster from Wetaskiwin subdivision, said the workmen - from Loughheed, Kilham, Camrose and Dayland - were patching 1,700 feet of line. The photographer graciously declined an invitation to try his hand at the back-breaking work.

Honesty could help solve our problems

... and those of our country

Many of us who are approaching the "upper bracket in life" (at least, age-wise) have often been asked if we had our choice, would we follow the same footsteps, or would we rather make our appearance on life's stage at some other point in time.

Surveys have shown that "eldest" citizens in the majority would prefer their life-styles just as it is, citing as a main reason, the uncertainty of the future.

In earlier days, even though there weren't many luxuries, and countries appeared much further away than they are now (there was only wireless and radio), in actuality world conditions were just as much a force in Canada then as now.

After the Great Depression of the Thirties came the Second Great War, followed by "prosperity," but also a new set of problems.

Ideals of the individual and the family took quite a pounding (even in Canada about one in three marriages end up on the rocks) and the free-wheeling, devil-may-care attitude took over as workers came home with big pay cheques and even bigger dreams. (That situation still persists today.)

It was just the other day in Kilam that we were reminded of one of the so-called virtues of society that many of us don't even think of, or bend a little once in while—and that is honesty. And honesty could be a stepping stone in the solution of our ills.

A mother was at the sales counter with her young son, impressing on his innocent mind that the small toy he desired had to be paid for.

"How much do you have, son," asked the clerk.

"Tell him you have one dollar and a half," replied the mother.

"You have enough, and there will even be some change," said the sales clerk.

A lesson in honesty—that's what many of us sorely need, from the top to the bottom of this country of Canada.

If we were all more honest with each other, then a big step would be taken in rectifying our individual ills, and those of our nation.

On Friday last the Kilam Public School sent a number of entries to the Carleton Place Music Festival and took away their share of prizes. Room One took first prize and cup for Junior dramatics, also second place for recitation. Room two and three also won a second and a first respectively.

The many friends of Mr. Alec Wills of Sedgewick were delighted to learn that he had won such distinction at the Provincial Music Festival held in Edmonton this week. Out of eight contestants in the Tense Solo event, Alec came second with 170 marks being only one point behind the winner.

Turners will certainly get rich now since calf hides are so valuable. One farmer sold a calf hide weighing forty pounds and received all of 20 cents. And yet the price of shoes and other leather goods has not greatly changed from war prices.

Six outside delegates met with the Kilam delegates for a meeting to consider ways of pushing the construction of the Hanna-Kilam-Viking highway number 35. The executive was instructed to interview the minister of the Public Works and to endeavour to persuade him to have some work done on this highway this year.

Mr. J.C. Schermmer of the International Harvester Co., Edmonton, and the organizer for the annual Harvest Fest, entered the competition. First provincial winners will receive $200 Savings Bond, and those who place second are awarded $100 bonds.

The Sedgewick and District Red Cross Campaign for funds is almost completed. We are very pleased to report that the event over the top again, receipt being $535.00.

Cold weather has prevailed during the week with the result that very little cultivation or seeding has been done.

Mr. Miller, superintendent of schools has appointed two new principals. Mr. Kenneth Getman is to be principal at Galahad and Mr. A.D. Walker comes to Central High at Sedgewick.

On Saturday, May 13, the Jr. High School in the County gathered at Daysland for the annual track meet. Hardly were the winners called this year. Kilam was second, followed by Loughheed, Forestburg, and Alliance.

An early morning fire, believed caused by an explosion, destroyed six classrooms of Sedgewick's School on Thursday, May 18th. An estimated $200,000 loss in the result.

Cancer objective passes half way mark

With six towns still to be heard from, Flagstaff Unit 18 of the Canadian Cancer Society, has passed the half-way mark of the 1982 campaign objective. Mrs. Johnson, campaign chairman reports: that to date $5,861.83 has been collected towards the objective of $10,332.00.

Keyhole Kerry wrote: Official test manometer fire drills were held at two schools in the Kilam Division last week by interested fire officials. The two schools were cleared in forty seconds from the time the gong rang. No panic, no hurrying, no foolishness. If all schools can be cleared that quickly, mothers and fathers may rest easy as far as the danger is concerned.

M.M. MacLean of Sedgewick was selling a 1947 Plymouth Sedan in good condition, good tires, upholstery good. Price $975.00 cash.

The Baby Kasha orchestra was awarded top honors in the popularity contest at the final competition of the Search For Talent Show held before a capacity audience in Edmonton a week ago Saturday. All members of the orchestra live at Forestburg, except Laurence "Shorty" Hoffman, who resides near Kilam. Members of the band are Baby Kasha, Carl Mallett, Evelyn Evans, and Lawrence Hoffman.

A local student was named a provincial winner in the Junior Essay category of the Brooke Bond Travel and Educational Awards. The announcement made by Harold L. Keen, said that 200,000 Canadian students from Newfoundland to Yukon, had entered the competition. First provincial winners will receive $200 Savings Bond, and those who place second are awarded $100 bonds.

Spring Swimming Lessons - Only two weeks left in our spring season of swimming lessons. Classes are going very well, both during the week and on Saturday mornings. If you have noticed a few new faces around the pool, we have several instructors from out of town. Joy Overman from Hardisty is teaching part of the weekly sessions while Ellen Laford of Viking is teaching on Saturday mornings. Yes, we are offering a parent's class again and pre-school as well. Registration will also be taken for one adult learn to swim program to be run during the evening. C. Prost has 90th birthday

Mr. Clement Prost, who is now residing in the Parkland Lodge in Edmonton was celebrated May 1 and 2 to have his 90th birthday with him at his youngest son's home in Edmonton. To help him celebrate his 90th birthday, these were Peter of Red Deer, Louis of Sarnia, B.C., Jean of Sherwood Park, Andy of Edmonton, Raymond of Hardsisty, Lawrence of Prince George, B.C., Claude of Lacombe, Ontario and Bernard of Edmonton. This was also the first time the family had all been together for over 30 years.

On Saturday evening, Mr. Prost and his children had a family picture taken. Then on Sunday evening the family sat down to a lovely turkey supper which was prepared by Donna and Betty, wives of Bernard and Andy. For dessert, a beautifully decorated black forest cake was served.

Mr. Prost then opened all his cards and gifts. He received a portable color television set for his room from his children. After supper, the family relaxed, reminisced and remembered the old times as they looked at some photographs from long ago. Then they each took turns putting special messages on a tape. Sunday morning, the family went to mass before returning back home to their own families. We are sure this wonderful weekend will long be remembered by everyone.

The two-day conference featured sessions on the conditions of women in Zimbabwe and on the bipolar and palliative care movement in Edmonton. A workshop, exploring the changing role of the A.C.W. was well received. We congratulate Doran Conrad who was re-elected to the position of Recording Secretary of the Diocesan A.C.W. The Playgroup Players scored a resounding success with their presentation of

Mouthguards prevent dental injuries

Dental injuries are common in contact sports, especially hockey, football and soccer. Teeth may be cracked, chipped or knocked out, and the lips, tongue, and gums may be cut by the impact of the teeth during a fall or blow to this area. Participants, including children, should wear mouth-guards when playing contact sports. In fact, mouthguards are now required equipment, and have dramatically reduced mouth injuries in many sports. In the case of a sports injury to the mouth, the dentist can determine the extent of damage to the surrounding tissue and, if necessary, refer the patient to an oral and maxillofacial surgeon and an ophthalmologist.

Repairs being made to the diving board and slides at Sedgewick Lake are only part of the job being undertaken by the Town's Klamm Club, assisted by the Chamber of Commerce and Sedgewick businessmen. The general clean-up and paint-up has included the provision of a new supply of sand in the beach area. The project is part of the program to make Sedgewick attractive to homeowners in July and residents as well.

Hardisty Happenings

Grace Kelle On May 13, the school children and teachers celebrated the town with their game bags, picking up all litter in the annual "Pickin'-it" clean-up promotion. Things really took a lot of water, and after all their hard work, let's make sure we all do our part to see that it stays that way.

St. Paul's United Church was the scene of a lovely wedding, Sunday, May 16. Happily presiding at the first-born son were Janice and Gary Goss of Meadow Lake, Saskatchewan. Their baby was born, April 18 and is named Logan Leo Goss. Congratulations to the happy family and to the grandparents, Helene and Arne Bock.

On Tuesday, May 11, the Grades 3 and 4 classes spent an enjoyable day on a field trip to Edmonton, where they attended the Children's Festival of Arts. There they went to a puppet show that was very well presented and thoroughly enjoyed by the hundreds of children attending from a wide area of Alberta. Later the classes toured the A.G.T. Tower, Lynette Sundrock, Paul Drager's daughter, was their tour guide. She took them to the museum where they saw a film and also the old-style phones and equipment as well as more recent ones. The tour then continued up to the 33rd floor where they had a great view of the city of Edmonton. While travelling, in the elevators, they made his home until January 1, 1982 when he went to live in Edmonton at the Parkland Lodge. Card of Thanks Grandpa would also like to take this opportunity to thank all his friends and family for the cards he received. This meant so very much to him.

The teachers and parents accompanying the group, felt it was a worthwhile project. Thursday was the regular meeting of the United Church Women. The meeting was opened with the repeating of the 100th Psalm. A report was given by the ladies who attended the Presbytery meeting. The report of the Treasurer showed that the Easter tea was a success and it is hoped that the Slip and Bloomer plant auction May 20 will also be well attended. It was announced that the Ladies' retreat will be held June 18 at the United Church Camp. It was agreed that the Sunday School will have the table for their fund-raising project. Freda Blackwell was appointed as the U.C.W. representative to the Board of Stewards. It was reported that the new church and funeral home have been installed in the Christian Education Building, and also a Schmitt's store in the Killam.

The next regular meeting will be held at 8 p.m., June 1. Time has been changed from evening to after noon. At the close of the meeting, Ben Hahn showed slides of their recent trip to Disneyland, and then lunch was served by the committee. Finally, the weather has permitted the farmers to make some real progress in their seedling operations. We hope there will be very general rains after they finish, as the ground is reported to be very dry. Guess the dry fall took care of moisture in the snow we had. It was nice to see Bert and Rita Hill in town on Sunday to the baptism of the Goss baby. Both Bert and Rita look well. The minor ball season started last week. The 10 and under boys played their first game in Cam. Thursday night winning 17 to 15. The 12 and under boys opened their season here Wednesday night, losing to Provost. The 14 and under boys played their first game in Cam, Wednesday night, winning 28 to 8. The younger 12 and under girls, coached by Peter Gray, lost their first game to Hugsden. The older 12 and under girls, coached by Beth Schmitt, lost to Amisk. The 15 and under girls lost their first game to Cam 28 to 26, and won the second game 32 to 30 over Hugsden. There are pre-schoolers and then there are pre-schoolers! Children from Sedgewick Play School were on their way to Little Red's for a treat. Most intriguing was the fact that Donna McBride was along for the walk, with seven-month old Robert, getting pre-natal treatment, (a ride).

The Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary held their May meeting at the hospital with seven members present. The meeting was opened with the Auxiliary prayer, minutes of the last meeting were read, business meeting from the minutes was taken care of.

The auxiliary furniture that Falcon Enterprises made has been put out, now it's hoped the weathermen co-operate, so the patients that are able, with permission, can sit outside.

The Legion has donated another bench for the patients use also.

Nettie Johnson has the convalescers and their districts for the four societies. All are under control. The treasurer's report was given. The profit from the bingo and cake raffle added over $100.00. Thank you cards and letters were read.

Three items of business were discussed, these being: the lounge chairs that Mr. West was to have ordered from a hospital furniture catalogue; Dorothy Hudson has asked the Auxiliary if they would like to purchase a geriatric chair; the Auxiliary has been given some recommendations for specific items.

The June meeting will feature a plant exchange. Following adjournment, members picked up rakes and hoes and put in a session cleaning the back yard. They were really ready for the lunch that followed.

The Hardisty Garden Club met in the Drop in Centre on Tuesday, May 11, with nine members present, and president Vera Hendricka in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting and the financial statement were read and approved.

It was decided to have a table at the Farmer's Market on May 20, to raise money for Flower Show expenses. This will include home baking and miscellaneous articles. Word was received that the judge for the Flower Show would be Mrs. Bertha Rands of Alliance.

There was some discussion on entering the slide competition for 1982, as we have many lovely slides on hand and will prepare more during the summer.

Notes from Loughheed

Moody Farming news
Seems as though news is very difficult to get and I've forgotten to let me know about it.

All stood and repeated "The Lord's Prayer". The afternoon ended with all enjoying fellowship and potluck lunch.

So no time for visiting around.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Benton were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Don Beaton and family in Corralton for Mother's Day.

Mrs. Marie Martin is home again in Vancouver, B.C. for a few weeks.

The Loughheed School children were out in force on Friday afternoon cleaning up the old papers and garbage on the street, back-always, and sports ground, also collecting bottles. Let's keep our town clean. Don't throw garbage around. There are garbage cans on the street so no garbage should be on the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Olef Wright of Norway and Mrs. Erik Birchall spent this past week in Calgary visiting with Ann and Selma Easty and family, and Ken and Jeanette Elgie and family. Selma brought them back Friday night.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bovey on their chosen son, Kevin and daughter, Tamara.

Mrs. Leola Johnson and Ellen Anderson attended the tea and bake sale at the Nursing Home in Virding on Tuesday, May 11.

Jim Wright of Calgary is home visiting his mother, Mrs. Agnes Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. David Black of Sedgewick and Mrs. Seale Drager were Mother's Day visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Pugh at Camp Winwright.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Finn (Vada Probst) of Sherwood Park on the birth of a son on May 14. Congratulations to the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Probst, and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Finn of Banff.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Pat Frost and family on the passing of Lorraine's mother, Mrs. Carson. We call on this past week.

We see Dennis Lonsome of Canmore is home visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Lonsome.

Lunch discussion had a wide range. It ranged from the decoration of August's float, to a member's choice of T.V. program, to the future way of lifting stamps.

Once again a lucky member was seen departing with a care package. Future lunch committee for May 26, beware!

Report from Central High School

Central High School has been successfully participating in a Work Experience program whereby students have been working for various persons or companies in our area. It is possible for students to obtain valuable on-the-job experience as well as credits towards their diploma.

The purpose of the work experience education program is to help young people make the transition between school life and the world of work by combining meaningful on-the-job training experiences with related in-school classroom instruction.

A program of work experience education requires the active support of the businessmen and institutions in our communities to assist students in job training for occupations they may choose.

We are looking for new places of employment willing to participate in such a program.

Everybody's flags flying at Hardisty

Once again, Hardisty is starting the summer season with flags flying - everybody's flag. Every two weeks, five flags from other parts of the world are picked for display.

As far as possible, a nation's flag will be flown on its special day. For the first display the flags of Alabama, Montana, Western Germany, China and Norway have been chosen. Tracy Leandry will be the first flag warden.

Alabama, the birthplace of Helen Keller, lies deep in the heart of Dixie. Formerly almost exclusively a cotton producer, in this century it has turned to other crops; to livestock and to steel products. Birmingham is the industrial centre. With a third of the population coloured, the Civil Rights movement is very active, especially around Montgomery, the capital city.

Homecoming... a time to remember

The year is 1982 and now it is Sedgewick's turn to prepare for a homecoming. Last year it was Hardisty's citizens who welcomed home native sons and daughters and the year before that, Stroms catered to its offspring who came from far and near.

Being the "elder citizen," Killam held its homecoming "way back in 1976.

And of course, there was the Province of Alberta's 75th Anniversary, back in 1980.

Every town and village has something going for it. Many may not have much in the nature of industry, but there is a quality of life that is becoming more precious with each passing day, as the world becomes more and more complicated.

The impact of Sedgewick and district's forthcoming was brought closer to reality the other day when a trio of gentlemen came to The Community Press office.

As it turned out, the gentlemen had a special mission—they were here to lay to rest the aunt of some of the callers.

During the course of conversation, one of the men said that the town had changed quite a bit since he left about 1948. And that in some ways is a compliment to the Town of Sedgewick or any other town in which a returnee notices change.

As much as many of us would like it, life does not stand still. Many might like to call it progress.

Take the larger centres such as Edmonton and Calgary for example. Certainly there has been progress—better homes, increased

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Disruption in public health services - what does it mean for the health of Albertans?

Do people know or care?

Does it matter that families in immediate need of prenatal information, new mothers expecting home visits, infants and travellers requiring immunization, school children experiencing mental and physical health problems or citizens who do not want to come home are so understaffed?

The Alberta Public Health Association, a voluntary organization whose membership is open to the public and health-related professionals, monitors social, political, environmental and economic developments that affect the health of Albertans. We appeal to the parties involved and to the public to bring an immediate end to the disruption.

How many of us realize it is the job of Public Health to promote health through the life-span and to prevent and minimize the impact of acute and chronic diseases in the entire population?

Those goals are achieved through outreach services, early assessment and intervention, support counselling, and health education for families and their communities.

The services typically carried out by public health, hold great promise for improving and maintaining the quality of life.

We in Alberta cannot afford the present disruption in public health nursing services.

Several of our citizens, both town and country residents are anxious to see a brass band at Sedgewick and now that the services of an expert leader and instructor are available, the bands of trade and businessmen generally should organize and sponsor a band here. Mr. J. Barrigan, who instructed a band at Washington, now resides in the district. His formerly lived at Longbeed where he instructed the band players for many years.

The frequent showers are keeping the soil in splendid growing condition. What seeding was completed the past week and the coarser grains are now being drilled. The muskato crop is abundant. The wild ducks are nesting here again, but the prairie chickens and pheasants, so common a few years ago, are scarce.

The prairie chickens seem plentiful, but the common partridge is almost extinct. The crickets and grasshoppers are well advanced.

At Revisticks Co. in Dayland, well made screen doors, painted a dark wood-green, a screen door set with each door was a low $140. Specially constructed fly proof screen windows were $125 each.

In spite of the unfavorable condition of the weather, the annual sports at Loughheed on Monday was quite a success. Net proceeds were $450.00.

Mr. Ray Davis, Jr. graduated from Normal School. He was one of ten students to capture the gold medal in the 100-yard race. He will spend the next two weeks practicing track and field in the local school in town.

At Ray's Cash Store in Sedgewick, Men's pants with zippers, lots of wear, now selling at $1.99. Ladies' rayon silk blouse, very attractively trimmed, for only 39 cents. Roger's sycamore, a ten pound pail was only $1.09.

July 1st will be the 75th Dominion Day Anniversary. Sedgewick Legion will hold sports on the grounds. There will be many interesting events going on this special day.

Word has been received by the joint boards of the Sedgewick-Loughheed District and the Killam and Mira Churches that Rev. V.R.W. Whitson, newly graduated and ordained Minister, has been posted to the above charge. Rev. Whitson will take over the charge at the end of June at which time Rev. MacLean retires.

One of the largest crowds in recent years took in the Loughheed 40th annual May 24th sports. The weather was all that could be asked for, and the baseball was of a good calibre for an early season tournament.

Approximately fifteen attended the first meeting of the Killam Tennis Club in the fire hall. President was to be Mr. Phil MacLachlan, with Jean Rander as vice president.

The frequent rain today on the new three sheet Hardisty curling rink. The new structure is being erected on the east end of the arena, and is of arch rib construction. The foundation has been laid, most of the arches are up and work will be getting on soon with the Stranzenberg roofing.

Good to heavy rain fell over the local area last night and nearly all the partridges now report surface moisture as good, with sub-soil moisture averaging 4.5 in. The south and good in the northern area. Wheat seeding is now nearing completion except for a few scattered points in the town. Seeding of coarse cereals is well advanced in the south and becoming general in the north.

Rosa Ward of Alliance and Debbie Hughes of Killam top athletes in the Midget section (girls) received medals and prizes. The girls were well advanced in the local school in town.

Railroad line needs repairs

Sylvia Wini

Several weeks ago I printed a common concern of our area dealing with our railroad line - the fact that it needed repairs to carry full hopper cars in order to benefit the grain shippers in our area. Cliff McDermott as well as several others from the area voiced their concern to our M.P. Arnold Malone. Arnold in turn received the following communication from Jean-Luc Popin about Arnold's inquiry. It was then forwarded to Cliff.

May 4, 1982

Mr. Arnold Malone, M.P., Crowfoot
House of Commons, Ottawa, Ontario.
K1A 0A6
Dear Mr. Malone:

This is in reply to your letter of 4 March 1982, in which you express the concern of your constituents regarding the rehabilitation of the Canadian National Railway line from Camrose to Alliance.

The only portion of this line which is eligible for rehabilitation under the government's Branch Line Rehabilitation Program is the 25.1-km section from Alliance to Finsburg. The balance of the line generates sufficient traffic of other commodities to qualify as a revenue line and its maintenance and upgrading is the responsibility of CN Rail.

The portion of the line eligible for government funding has been rehabilitated to required boxcar standards. It has not been upgraded to full hopper car standards because the rest of the line is restricted to traffic of 177,000 lbs. Any further upgrading of this section would not be financially feasible until the rest of the line is upgraded by CN Rail. We are prepared, however, to proceed with this 25.1-km section whenever CN Rail upgrades the rest of the line.

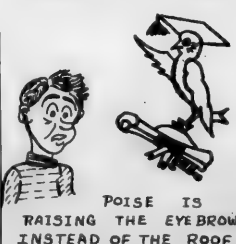

Although I appreciate the concern of your constituents, sufficient funds are not available at this time to upgrade all lines. We must therefore carefully select lines that handle the largest volumes of grain and urgently require repairs.

Unfortunately, the Alliance Subdivision does not qualify for any additional work by the government, on the basis of our current criteria and in light of constraints on expenditures.

I hope this information will assist you in replying to your constituents.

Yours sincerely,
Jean-Luc Popin.

Foster children

Editor's Note: The following is the third in a series of articles presented in co-operation with the East Portland Foster Parent Association, in their quest to find much needed foster families for foster children.

Parents be a while. We are a local family who decided to become Foster Parents because we love children and believed we had something we should be sharing with the less fortunate. After much discussion with our own girls, we decided to take the challenge and offer out time, and perhaps, some parenting talent.

After talking with a social worker, it was decided we would take short-term placements. These are children needing a home for a short while, for a variety of reasons. Usually not physical abuse, but sometimes severe neglect. As a result, the children may have health or emotional problems.

Three months after our talk with the social worker, and following a six-week emotional problem. Together we were able to confront and talk about those problems and hurts.

With some discipline and guidance he was able to realize that, yes, there still is truth in this world.

When Willie and Nancy were home, we found them, and felt as if we had begun something we couldn't really finish.

We weren't long in contemplating this problem, for six weeks later, we had three tiny people come to live with us. We had them only a short while, but discovered they were a real challenge to our whole family. These children required a whole lot of basic care and love.

It also gave us an opportunity to use all the intellectual and psychological knowledge we had ever acquired. When they left our home we did miss them because they were really beautiful, lovable children. But we're happy to know they were going to a home that would continue the good education program we had begun.

Kathy and Robert came next and were with us the longest. Even though we always knew they would leave someday, our attachment to them smooch up on us, and we had an empty feeling in our hearts and homes, when the day came.

Kathy was a beautiful five-year-old child who was really all grown up. She was heartbroken about being in a foster home, away from her family. Try as we might, we could never love her enough, or give her the encouragement to overcome her fears. When she got to go home we were really happy for her, and prayed all would be well with her.

Robert, a robust lovable child, was always there to charm during the hard times. We gave him a foundation to build on, and when he left us, he was quite a little gentleman. We missed him a lot.

And so, each child has been unique, as each foster care case is so different. We have learned so very much in such a short time, and we are thankful; perhaps even more thankful for one mother in our own family.

Our own children have learned a lot about giving. If there is to be any reward in fostering, it is the reward of knowing that we give of ourselves as people to other human beings in need.

No, we are not perfect parents, nor are we perfect Foster Parents. We have had our trying moments, but we would be first to admit that. We have to be prepared to be criticized. Not everyone understands what fostering is all about.

Maybe the requirements are simple — just non-judicial parents who can love and love unselfishly and love to give.

Is it really any different than all parenting should be? We have had our trying moments, but we would be first to admit that. We have to be prepared to be criticized. Not everyone understands what fostering is all about.

Funeral services at Alliance for Ilona G. Nemeth

Funeral services were held in Alliance on May 17, 1982, for Ilona G. Nemeth (nee Sebo), with the Reverend G. Dease officiating. The graveside service was performed in Hungarian, Ilona's native tongue.

Pallbearers were Dan Reed, Art Peacock, Lloyd Peacock, Ken Findlay, Robert Thomson, and Robert Smith. Lunch was served following the services at the Alliance Community Hall for Ilona's many friends and relatives.

Ilona was born in Miklos, Hungary, December 29th, 1909, and emigrated to Canada, and conducted as an early age in the Reformed Church of which she was a lifelong member.

Wherever she went, the House of God was important to her. She truly loved her fellowman and in return was loved by all. She was an active member of every community she lived in, belonging to and always willing to participate in local organizations as the I.O.O.E. the Rebekah, of which she was past Noble Grand, and Ladies Aid.

She spent her early years in Hungary. Her vocation was singing. In December 1938 she immigrated to England, where she lived until 1945, when she immigrated to Canada, making it her new home and life together with her husband, Steven Joseph Nemeth, who served in the Canadian army overseas.

They lived in Alliance and Killam then later moved to Edmonton, where she passed away on May 14th, in the University Hospital after a short illness.

She was predeceased by her father in Hungary, 1839; mother, June 1st, 1960 in Galahad; her husband, Steven, July 25th, 1981; and her daughter, January 30th, in Hungary.

She is survived by her loving daughter, Maria Rose; sisters, Sorokla Sebo; (Gleba and Earl) Smith; brother, Lando Sebo and wife in Hungary; two nieces, Didi and Maria in Hungary, two nephews, Terjan and Steven Sebo and their families; cousins, Erno and wife (Ida) Sebo and their sons, Zsabolcs, and Huba and their families in Calgary; Bert, Steven and Auntie Pearl in the U.S.A., and a host of relatives and friends all over the world.

Ilona's final resting place will be at the Alliance Cemetery beside her mother.

Funeral services will be held in Alliance on Wednesday, May 26th, at 10:00 a.m. in the Alliance Community Hall. The service will be in Hungarian. Contributions may be made to the U.C.W. for serving lunch following the funeral services. Your many acts of kindness will be long remembered.

Early visit to dentist can prevent later problems

Dental diseases are Canada's most prevalent health problem, and it starts with children.

At least 60 per cent of Canadian children suffer from some form of inflammation of the gums and more than 90 per cent will experience some form of tooth decay by age 15.

Many parents do not realize the importance of caring for their child's baby teeth, but even infants can develop decayed teeth.

If they are given a night-time bottle and left to go to sleep with it in their mouth, this condition is called "nursing bottle mouth" and can damage permanent teeth unless early diagnosis and treatment are followed. Bottles containing water only, do not create the problem.

Although there is no singular cause of tooth decay, it is a fact that clean teeth will not decay.

The first visit to the dentist should be around the age of three when the child still has his primary teeth. At this early stage, the dentist can detect troublesome muscular habits and problems which can contribute to crooked teeth later in life, show how to care for their teeth and counsel the parents on proper nutrition.

The first checkup can help establish good dental habits that will last a lifetime. Many children can avoid the need for costly orthodontic work, if they visit the dentist when young.

Your dentist has a wide range of preventive and dental treatments available. He can restore injured and decayed teeth, and when a tooth is lost prematurely, procedures are used to maintain the proper spacing so the developing adult teeth can come in properly.

Factors that lead to the development of crooked teeth are: bad feeding habits; thumbucking, tongue thrusting and nail biting; primary teeth prematurely; primary teeth stay in the mouth too long; and tooth decay causing loss of space between the teeth.

Procedures are now being used by dentists to control these factors so that the child's permanent teeth may be aligned properly when they come in. Another preventive measure is to apply resin seal-ants to the decay-prone susceptible area of the tooth. This creates a barrier that resists decay-producing bacteria and acids.

An overall prevention program that includes good oral hygiene, dental checkups on a regular basis, fluoridation and a proper nutritional diet will go a long way to ensuring your child will have good teeth for the rest of his life.

Today more and more dentists treat children in their practices. There are over 100 recognized paedodontists treating children's dental health needs in this country.

Problems involved in transition of farm between two generations

By Nadine Vester
Family Living Specialist
Alberta Agriculture

Can a two-generation farming family survive the transition of the drive to independence in the young - i.e. parents' children growing up?

You know the old saying about the road that is paved with good intentions? In a family situation, this given more validity than in the two-generation farming family. Most parents have some difficulty in allowing their children to make their own decisions, and in the process grow up to be responsible citizens.

When the growing up (of whatever age) involves dealing with high priced machinery, crops from which there is little profit and high priced land, it is easy to see why the parents in a two-generation farming family are even more motivated to see that their children do not make mistakes.

However, all of nature demands that the young grow up to adulthood, create their own families, age and die. Human beings, because of the complex society they must master, have a prolonged childhood. And part of the learning process takes place during that childhood must come from experience - and from mistakes.

Many writers on the subject of human development and human stress have noted that one of the sources of stress for a family is the blocking of the drive to independence in the young - i.e. parents' children growing up.

The stress arises from the fact that the young need to proceed through the stages of development at an orderly pace. Stress also results from damage to the individual's self-esteem. If he is judged incapable, then he feels less worthwhile. In fact, if he is judged incapable, he becomes incapable. Families originate this stress but, not, we suspect, on purpose.

Let us examine some of the reasons it is difficult for a parent to let go of the reins and to allow their children to become independent about their own lives.

First, there are the costs of the mistakes. All farmers could give an example of the young person learning on someone else's expensive machinery. Secondly, it is difficult for all of us to hand over a job which was originally ours.

And it is doubly difficult for farm people to hand over their farms. Their everyday activities have been centered around the operation. Not only their choice of occupation is intimately involved, but also their place of residence, their leisure activities and, in effect, all their waking concerns. Think of the lumps and the changes that parents must make when their children need to return from a farming occupation. They have to reorganize their whole life, not just part of it, as is the case with other careers.

In addition, the older generation has a large financial investment in the situation - a whole life of savings! If they are handing over the farm by stages to their children, then they have a financial stake in whether or not the children will be successful and are able to keep up their payments. Since parents care about their children's future, they also have an emotional stake.

The friction between the two generations of a farming family can be alleviated by their sitting down and trying to put themselves in the other generation's place. This means trying to understand the other generation must accomplish in order to make the transition, trying to see what each gains, and also what each loses. There is no place more appropriate for straight and plain speaking, or for active listening.

Volunteer workers warned to take safety measures

Editors Note: The following article is reported from Occupational Health and Safety, a bi-monthly magazine published by Alberta Workers' Health, Safety and Compensation.

Six workers were injured, one seriously, November 14, 1981, when the Community Hill addition, under construction, at Chatham, collapsed.

The Occupational Health and Safety Service (OHSC) which reviewed the accident was also told that erection of the trusses was started in the middle roof area rather than at one end where it could be braced longitudinally.

This was apparently done so that workers could clear an area for the crane to operate.

Although the two volunteers supervising the project were aware of the Occupational Health and Safety Act, none of the workers believed that the Act applied to them because they were volunteers.

The article goes on to say: "The OHSC of the matter is that the Act does apply to volunteer projects, and the project owner bears the responsibility under the legislation."

It concludes: "Persons or groups undertaking volunteer projects should contact their nearest Occupational Health and Safety Office before starting their projects, to ensure safety with prayer, and lunch was served by the hostess."

Travel industry adopts smile as theme

"Smile You're a Tourist Attraction" is a new promotional theme for the Travel Industry Association of Alberta. This announcement was made at a recent Battle River Tourist Association meeting.

It is a new advertising campaign intended to emphasize the importance of individual involvement in the tourist industry.

Using the theme "You're a Tourist Attraction" TAAITA hopes to elicit the support of all Albertans in continuing the longstanding tradition of western hospitality.

It is hoped that the memorable theme is one which, given a boost from the 14 tourist zones, will attract the interest of press and broadcast media. Two 30 second television commercials and several 30-second radio spots have been produced.

All are so produced to present the inclusion of a person's name and copy promoting a particular attraction or event. The theme can be used in print advertising, stories and features, buttons, decal, bumper stickers, sign boards, t-shirts, and so on. It's a theme that can give a lively friendly look to all your advertising and publicity.

BRTA Manager S. Clements said at the May 30th meeting of the Association that if any organization is interested in using the "Smile" theme, they should contact the BRTA office, Box 1015 Camrose.

ALTA President L. emphasized that, every year, tourists and Albertans inject over a billion dollars into our provincial economy and that makes tourism our third largest industry. It's one that benefits everyone in the community.

"We're inviting communities to join in the campaign from which everyone will benefit," concluded L.

The swimming facilities at Hardisty Lake didn't have many takers the afternoon of May 26th, but there were those who enjoyed sunbathing on the sandy shores, while others did actually venture into the frigid waters. This group from the Youth Development Centre in Edmonton was on a community outing, and was in charge of Miles Anderson, seventh from left, whose father, Leonard Anderson was a probation officer at Hardisty in the early 70s.

Youth service program offers challenging educational experience

Katimivik, the national volunteer youth service program funded by the Secretary of State is accepting applications for participation in programs commencing July 14 and September 15, 1982.

Now entering its sixth year of operation, Katimivik anticipates placing some 1,400 young Canadians in over 120 communities across Canada. The program offers young Canadians between 17 and 21, from all regions, backgrounds and cultural groups, a challenging alternative educational experience.

The latest recruitment advertisement reads "Be scored, proud, happy, sad, alive" and aptly describes this action-learning program which furnishes all the ingredients for obtaining a real-life experience, and for personal development.

Participants spend three months each in three different places in Canada and contribute valuable assistance to communities. They live together in groups of eleven with teams of thirty-three.

Participants have an opportunity for development of skills, learning a second language, sharing of cultures, becoming more aware of the environment, discovering Canada, other people, and themselves.

Katimivik is an in-kind work program meaning "meeting place". Since Katimivik was founded in 1977, it has brought together some 6,000 young Canadians and provided service to nearly 350 communities.

Work projects are developed jointly by Katimivik and non-profit community groups, associations or municipal councils that request the program aid. Specific work activities for the volunteers vary from site to site.

Deadlines for receipt of applications are April 30th for projects commencing July 14th, and July 2 for the September 15th projects.

For more information contact, your local high school, your local Canada Employment Centre, Katimivik Regional Office, 245-3rd Avenue South, Saskatoon, Sask. S7K 1M4.

In Alberta, two projects are in operation for four communities. In the Smoky River project, groups live in Gieouville, Palmer and McLennan. There, they are involved in development and construction of an ecological and recreation park, construction of a log cabin, log furniture, docks and bridge.

They are also acting as teacher aids, repairing and painting furniture.

In the High Level project, groups are working at recreation programming, developing ski trails, conducting a community needs survey, and composing a service catalogue.

They are also involved in landscaping the cemetery, assisting with a horticultural project, acting as nurses' aids, and working the day care centre.

Travel and living expenses are paid by Katimivik and participants receive a dollar a day spending money.

Upon completion of the nine month program they receive a $1,000 honorarium and a certificate of accomplishment.

It isn't easy rubbing elbows with your peers in close quarters, it isn't easy doing hard physical work, or helping the elderly or assisting at a day care centre, it isn't easy living as a consumer, or opposed to a consumer lifestyle.

But each year more and more young Canadians are proving themselves equal to the Katimivik challenge. Be scared, happy, proud and alive.

Sedgewick Homecoming Are there any 'originals' left out?

Sedgewick Homecoming committee believes it has a complete list of Sedgewick and district residents who have resided in the area continuously since 1907, but they want to be sure.

A list of "originals" released at Tuesday night's meeting included the names of Bessie Pottinger (Coz), Steven Pottinger, Arthur Palla, Edith Ward, Florence Halum, Mary Weber, Oscar Moberg, Edla Eckstrand, Overt Bakken, and Lillie Daurian.

Anyone having a name that should be added to the above, should contact Loraine Miller.

It was decided to present continuous residents with a suitably engraved plaque during the Homecoming. When it comes to Homecomings, the boundaries are limitless.

That fact has been brought out at several meetings of Sedgewick Homecoming committee.

Former residents of bygone school districts located in the Sedgewick district are more than welcome to attend local festivities, Chairman Jim Tindal has pointed out.

An invitation has also been extended to residents of Perdue, Saskatchewan - Sedgewick's "twin" to attend festivities, July 2 to 4.

Last year, 15 Sedgewick residents went to Hardisty to assist with Homecoming activities in that town - a deed that will be repaid in kind this year.

And Hardisty has seen fit to loan its large overhauled "Welcome Home" sign to Sedgewick to add to the flavour of area participation.

While excellent weather prevailed on Saturday, high winds and rain early Sunday forced events to be curtailed until the noon hour.

't'-'s' events were held Sat., with shooting taking place at 200 targets from 16 yards.

Bob Brown of Red Deer proved his accuracy in the Championship class by being on target 186 times in 208 attempts.

Mr. Brown proved his ability further on Sunday when he achieved 376 out of 400 in a three-event competition, ending CHIF O'Hov of Veteran, who had a mark of 374.

In other singles events on Saturday, the "A" class winner was Tom Ginn of Saskatoon with 199; Rob Docherty of Stettler was first in the "B" class with 185 score, and "C" honour went to Barry Ruth of Maclean with 182.

Junior winner was Roger Cheuvaux of Killam. Top lady shooter was Karen Golla of Hardisty with 173, winning in a Shoot-off with a Regina competitor.

Sunday doubles trapshooting saw Mark Edmondson of Regina take the Championship class with 94 out of 100.

Orma Thorp, Good Deed Club president

On Wednesday afternoon, May 13th, the Good Deed Club held a surprise party at the home of Olive Love, with all members present except one. Sorry you couldn't be with us, Inga.

This party had been previously planned strictly a surprise party and visit.

However, in view of the fact that the spring is late and times may soon be very busy, we decided that since all the members were present, we would have our May meeting.

The meeting proceeded in the usual form - roll call, reading of minutes, and treasurer's report, both of which were adopted and approved. Correspondence consisted of receipts from cancer, arthritis and heart for dentures and a check committee reported that card had been sent to Mr. Thorp who had been hospitalized.

Key reported on the meeting she had attended in Loughed area regarding their 1983 Homecoming. She said the homecoming committee would appreciate any ideas or help that anyone could give them in planning for their homecoming. Josephine volunteered to attend their next meeting, as she had been deeply involved with Hardisty's past Homecoming, so it was well qualified to help them. T-shirt books on our quilt were handed out, so everyone knew: If you meet up with anyone of our members, you will know what to expect. Mrs. Parsons was our birthday girl. Hostess draw was won by Molly, a set of wooden mixing spoons. The meeting was adjourned by Irene.

Since this was the month for our annual meeting, Molly graciously took the chair for the election of officers for the next two years. The new officers are as follows: President Orma Thorp; vice-president, Adelaide McCannata, Secretary, Kay Cox; Treasurer, Connie Satter, for Hardisty area, Olive Love, with Gerry Metts to help her, and Josephine McCannata for the Loughed area, phoning committee for Hardisty, Irene Crouse and for Loughed area, Elaine Draper, club reporter, Vi Metts.

A vote of thanks was given to past officers for a job well done, also to Molly for chairing the election of officers, and Lana for all the help she gave us in planning such a successful surprise party.

Before lunch was served, Olive was presented with a gift from the club. Olive thanked us all, after which we partook of a bountiful lunch and enjoyed an hour of happy companionship to gether.

The June meeting will be held at Inga Hogen's on Wednesday, June 16th.

Willet Metts.

News from the Anglican Church

Donna C. Martin
We bid farewell to our student minister, Paul Neville, who has left us to spend the summer vacation working with the native people of the Diocese of Saskatchewan. We wish him well and will be eager to hear of his experiences when he returns to us in September.

Rick and Frances Conrad and children spent the weekend visiting at the Richard Conrad home.

Miss Edith Ward accompanied Doreen Conrad to Edmonton where Edith visited with her sister, Mrs. Butt. On the weekend a number of relatives visited Edith at her home in Sedgewick.

All of St. Edmund's Parish and that includes men as well as women are cordially invited to attend a special presentation on Thursday evening, June 3, at St. John's Parish Hall, Sedgewick at 8 p.m. Donna Martin and Helga A. Holder will recount the experiences and impressions which they gathered as delegates to the National Women's Conference in Winnipeg, May 13 to 14.

Exposed to facets of Anglicanism and Christianity, the quiet unheated of within the sheltered confines of St. Edmund's, Donna and Helga have many stories to tell, and it might be advisable for all of us to come to the meeting and make certain that any radical ideas these two ladies may have picked up are nipped in the bud.

Don't forget the St. John's A.C.W. potluck supper, June 1 at 6:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall. All families and friends of the A.C.W. are encouraged to prepare their favorite dish and join the party.

With surprise and concern, we saw Pat Swack back in town. She had to come home from her work at Sorrento early, as a result of a most untimely attack of phlebitis. We hope you will be well and that you'll be able to return to Sorrento soon.

Later, we had slipped away to parts unknown, and may be expected to turn up on the doorstep of any one of a number of relatives.

Congratulations to Heather Stag and Perry Robbins who were married last week.

News
Congratulations to Neil Larson who received a prize for sculpture memorization. Gordon and Lynette Graft, accompanied by Mark Myrberg, Robin Merz, Janet White, Jodi Smekal, Lois and Lorna and Brent Pfeiffer, attended the Neasene Youth International convention, held at University of Saskatchewan over the weekend.

The congregation recently enjoyed slides and commentary by Mrs. L. Kline and Mrs. Potter of their trip to Australia, New Zealand and New Guinea where they visited some of our relations, former pupils of St. John's.

Notes from Loughheed

Molly Penneyhough
Mrs. Esma Drager, Kay Cox and Molly Penneyhough attended a birthday party in Hardisty at the home of Mrs. Alvina Pearson on Thursday, May 20. Mrs. Pearson received many cards and gifts. The family served a very delicious lunch and the afternoon was enjoyed by all. Have many more birthdays, Mrs. Pearson.

Get well wishes to Mr. Graham Boston who is home from the Kilham Hospital after surgery last week. We had a very good rain last Tuesday night, which we all appreciated very much, as it was getting dry in some places.

Mr. and Mrs. Orlaf Nygard have returned to their home in Norway after a very busy three weeks visit in Loughheed and district, also other towns where they had relatives and friends.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Marlow on the birth of a baby daughter, born May 15.

Birthday parties were the thing this past week. On Monday, May 17, Mrs. Helen White had a few in to help Mrs. Isabel Johnson celebrate her birthday. Then on Wednesday evening, there was a birthday party for Hansi Shoberg and Agnes Wright. There were a number of folks having birthdays this week. Happy birthdays to all.

Mrs. Margaret Denham has returned home after a very enjoyable trip to visit relatives and tour England and Scotland for three weeks. Joe and Betty Truitt of Bashaw were with her.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ramsden on the birth of a baby girl born Thursday, May 20 in the Kilham Hospital. Congratulations to the grandparents too.

Get well wishes to Doug Collier and many other Loughheed people. Almost too many names to write for a news item. These are all in Kilham Hospital.

There were a lot of house plants and bedding plants for sale. This was well attended as plants are in big demand right now.

The flags are flying again in Hardisty, thanks to the Hardisty Flag Society. They were first up on May 23 for the summer season and the long holiday weekend and will fly daily until September 8. The young people of town are raising and lowering the flags each day taking turns of about two weeks each.

Most of the flags received from other countries, are presently housed in the Drop-In Centre where about 30 line the walls. There is only room to display about half of the total received to date. The Flag Society hope at some future date, to have a larger place to display all the flags. These flags may be viewed by request to Louis Johnson or Rose Marie Thompson. Anyone interested, in this project, may receive more information from the above persons.

The flags certainly looked impressive on their first day out, standing straight out in a stiff breeze.

Congratulations to Judy and Gordie Brits on the birth of a daughter, Cera Lane Marcel, born May 19 in the Hardisty Hospital.

Phone my office for details of these summer programs.

One couldn't say exactly that Brunsell, left, and Brock Frederick, twin son and daughter of Greg and Hilma Sue Frederick of Sedgewick were "out for a stroll" on Monday afternoon—that would be stretching the truth. The parents of the one-year-old were overjoyed that their children should be in the spotlight by themselves, and were nearby when this Community Press photo was taken.

Many plans made for homecoming

First Premier Loughheed, then Kenzie Young Manning have declined invitations to attend the Sedgewick and district Homecoming, July 2-4. Each cited previous engagements as the reason.

At Tuesday night's meeting, it was decided to invite Andy Russell, Alberta historian and naturalist, or possibly Grant McEwen, Alberta's environmentalist. Realizing that time is getting short, it was decided that contact should be made by phone rather than through the mail.

Committee members agreed with Chairman Jim Tindal that should efforts fail to obtain a high-level guest speaker for the official opening, the local dignitaries would suffice. An invitation had been sent to Kenneth Sedgewick, of Montreal, son of Judge Sedgewick, after whom the Town of Sedgewick had been named. It was reported that to date no confirmation had been received that he would attend.

Helen Whitten of the registration committee reported that the response for

Volume 73- No. 42

After many of Kilam's roads were torn up last year during the replacement of worn-out watermain, the process of restoration has been in progress this spring. Paving along 48th Avenue is nearing the completion stage as shown in this view near Kilam Hospital.

Report from Sedgewick Town Council Daily siren routine cut down

Fire Alarm: The daily sounding of the fire alarm at 12:00 noon and 6 p.m. will be discontinued and it will only be sounded on Wednesday each week, at 12 noon. The alarm is up by a, it takes 6 miles alone to cover our entire district.

New Subdivision: Phase II - All of the lots fronting Canary Crescent are already serviced with gas, water and sewer lines, and power. It is now the intention of Council to extend these services and power along Mackenzie Drive, thereby opening up another 22 lots for development, including more mobile home lots.

Water and Sewer service lines are already in, and TransAlta Utilities will be contacted for the extension of power.

1982 Taxes - At a Special meeting of Council held on May 20th, the 1982 budget was considered and the following mill rates were established: Residential, 23.88 mills; commercial, 27.59 mills. It is the feeling of Council that these increases are quite modest, when one takes into consideration the rate of inflation and the fact that for this year at least, the amounts required for our water system operation, and debentures, will have to come from taxation.

Services provided locally by the Alberta East Central Health Unit are returning to normal with the signing of a memorandum of agreement last Friday between representatives of nine health unit boards, and community health nurses throughout the province.

The nurses were locked out May 3 and resumed their duties on May 31. The community health nurses were seeking parity with hospital nurses in their initial demands. At present, the issue is a settlement with hospital nurses is under study.

Nurses working for Alberta East Central Health Unit, including those from the Sedgewick and Alliance health units, are being requested to vote on the proposal at a date yet to be set. Linda Parnham of Camrose represented East Central Nurses in negotiations.

Similarly, a conference of the memorandum of agreement will also have to be ratified by the Board of Central Health Unit board, chaired by Francis Bice.

Lillian Holmes, spokesperson for nurses at the Sedgewick sub-office, said there is some catching up to do but regular programs, including immunization, pre-school, home visiting and well-baby clinics have resumed.

Knowledge of life-saving methods could make you a hero

"It's summertime . . . and the livin' is easy — that's how the old song expresses the feelings of most of us as warmer weather finally makes a stand.

With the approach of better weather, it's customary for many of us to "let loose" after a winter of being cooped up with nary a break in routine.

And every year about this time, Safety Councils and the Red Cross issue their warnings to those taking advantage of the Great Out-of-Doors, to enjoy themselves but at the same time, use some common sense and practise safety.

But many seem to think that this continual "harping" is a hindrance to their life-style, and some pay dearly for this oversight — often with their lives, whether on the road, or water, or in the skies.

When it comes to recreation on the water, there are certain safety standards which should be adhered to — the water can be your friend but it can also be your enemy.

There are accidents, and there are accidents — in some instances they may be unavoidable, but there are those who will tell you there is no such thing as an accident — the mishap was caused by human error, or frailty.

While the adherence to safety rules is all well and good, situations develop in which one is called upon to use his or her intelligence, when the difference between life and death. Even the smartest person in the world is the weakest in certain cases, because a lack of knowledge can render that person useless.

Many of us have come upon accidents in which people are standing around, not knowing what to do.

But thank goodness, that situation is changing as many more citizens are receiving instruction in how-to-swim and water safety courses, and St. John first aid courses.

It was just this past weekend at Forestburg that a life was saved due to someone having knowledge of CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation).

As with life in general, it's easy to carry around knowledge, it's easy to have acquired.

A thorough knowledge of life-saving techniques could make you a hero.

The month of June is away to a good start so far as rain is concerned — it has rained nearly every day so far since June 1st, and still the cutworms are raising havoc in the gardens.

One day this week an observer counted seventeen loads of horse manure eight wagon loads of wheat in the local elevators at Sedgewick. There is a three weeks left in which to haul your grain in order to take advantage of the existing prices. We understand that a quantity of this wheat is grading Number One Maritimes.

The teachers of Killam, Sedgewick and Prairie Park have arranged to hold a spelling match for grades two to eight inclusive, in the theatre at Killam on Friday, June 18th at 8 p.m. We expect that this match will become an annual event, it is suggested that the proceeds be used to purchase a suitable cup for each grade. Killam pupils will reveal their winning dramatizations at the Canmore festival, as an added attraction to the spelling match.

Betty Walsh

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walsh returned home last Friday after a very busy week's holiday with their guests from England, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Peters. On Saturday they travelled to Skeletone Lake where they spent two days at the Jim Walsh's cabin along with the Jim Walsh's from St. Albert (the Jim that has the cabin) and the Grand Blesers from Heister. Monday saw them drive to Jasper where they spent two days. At Malaga Lake they ran into a real snowstorm and were able to make and throw snowballs. On Wednesday they drove to Banff where they were joined by their daughter, Beth Bleser from Heister. They saw their guests onto the bus for Vancouver on Friday morning and drove home the same day.

THE DAY THE TREE SWALLOWS CAME BACK TO WHITEWOOD MINE

One of a series on Alberta's largest electric utility

At TransAlta Utilities, we've been doing a lot of things for a long time to make surface mine land more productive and more useful after we've finished with it.

In 1976, we got together with the Stony Plain Fish and Game Association and agreed on a proposal to improve wild life habitat on a portion of our Whitewood Mine, north of Wabamun Lake, which we had reclaimed and seeded in 1969.

The proposal was for our people, the Fish and Game Association, the Alberta Fish and Wildlife Division and the Department of Agriculture to work cooperatively together to improve a five acre parcel of land, which was formerly muskeg, so that it could function as a wildlife habitat.

In 1975, the work began. Volunteers from TransAlta and the Stony Plain Fish and Game Association obtained seedlings of White Spruce, Jackpine, Manitoba Maple, Silver Willow and several other species.

The ground cover essential for wildlife had begun to grow. By 1978, several groups of trees were waist high and had become frequented by moose and white-tailed deer. Both ruffed and sharp-tailed grouse were seen in numbers. By 1980, a coyote had decided that the Whitewood Wildlife habitat was comfortable enough to raise her family in.

The results were encouraging. An area that had been used productively to provide Albertans with power was now being used productively for recreation. But perhaps the best encouragement of all was an event that happened in 1981. Two nesting sites on the habitat produced broods of young birds.

The tree swallows had come back to Whitewood Mine.

TransAlta Utilities. Power for Albertans is our prime concern.

Rain may have dampened the spirits of spectators at Saturday's Killam Rodeo Parade, but these kiddies appear to be having a great time leading the "other kids." In reality, they are members of the Battle River Rodeo Club. Shoppers are noted for their ability to make people laugh, in addition to their charity work.

Killam Rodeo is success

Despite pouring rain, the Killam Rodeo Parade went on as scheduled at the Saturday noon hour, and in the overall picture, promoters of the 11th annual KILLAM Rodeo were pleased with the attendance.

Business and sporting organizations as well as the agricultural society and area common day firms turned out in full force as usual, and while the rain hampered their performance, the appearance of the Red River Community added much to the parade.

Clarence Hatt, president of the sponsoring Chamber of Commerce, was particularly pleased with the turnout for the parade, with people present from throughout Pagestaff.

Prize winners in the commercial category were Crown Food Supplies and Killam Sears and in the outdoor class, prizes were awarded to Petro Canada and Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce.

Children's awards went to Lian Roti and Chad Mack, while organization prizes went to Killam Play-school and the Lougheed Square Dancers.

Killam motel open after fire

A Saturday afternoon fire destroyed the residence and a detached garage at the Wagon Wheel Motel in Killam, but despite the loss, 16 of the motel's 20 units were unaffected. All were booked as of Monday night.

The fire originated in the garage, located a short distance from the residence and quickly spread to the living quarters occupied at the time by Nancy O'Connor, her four children and mother, Evelyn Overton. They were forced to flee, leaving family belongings behind.

Cause of the fire is unknown. Mr. O'Connor, motel owner, was not in the residence at the time of the 4:30 p.m. blaze.

Date changed for tire playground construction

The town of Sedgewick's contribution to Homecoming '82, a Tire Playground, has hit a snag, and the date for construction has been changed to Saturday, June 28th.

In asking that volunteers take note of the new date, Councillor June MacGregor reports that donors are slow to comply with request for necessary terms.

While the council committee headed by Councillor MacGregor, and Lorne Poyser has obtained a number of tires, many of them are steel-belted and therefore unsuitable for the project.

The Tire Playground is to be constructed on a site northwest of the Nazarene Church.

The Rodeo concluded with a most successful Beer Garden and dancing to the sound of the band, Country.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir,
When I glanced at the Riders Ramblings column in yesterday's Community Press, (May 28, 1982) I was appalled at the case that had been made of my piece, "I Mind Very Much Where You Smoke."

The very first sentence contained two spelling errors and one word had been omitted. None of these mistakes appeared in the original manuscript. In my opinion, this kind of carelessness is unnecessary and should not be tolerated.

I am not writing as a representative of the Flagstaff Creative Writers who provide the material for this column, but as an individual writer who takes pride in her work.

Sincerely yours,
Elaine Marie Gethelke

Editor's Note: There was a word omitted which admittedly "looked away" from the article for which we apologize, but then "to err is human."

Donna & Martin
Next Sunday is the day. Tomorrow, Ted and Donna are the place. The occasion, of course, is the annual St. Edmund's and friends picnic on Sunday, June 13. The day will begin with a worship service at 11 a.m. Lunch will follow at noon, and the afternoon will be devoted to games, visiting and all manner of pleasurable pursuits. The reactor is in the mood to award prizes for the games for those losing him from to circulate and cause havoc where he might. Don't forget to bring along a dish of something good for the potluck lunch.

We understand that Miss Judith Ward has been struck with the most painful attack of shingles. We wish her a quick recovery.

Mrs. Greer Weber is in Kilham Hospital, and Mrs. Lillian Craig is a patient at the Royal Alexandra Hospital in Edmonton. We hope to see them home soon.

For those of you who were not present at St. John's Parish Hall last Thursday evening, you may find it a most informative, stimulating and thoroughly enjoyable evening. Don't miss the local erratic nature of this column, which is due, in no small part to the erratic described in their inimitable style and with deep insight, their experiences and impressions as delegates to the National Women's Conference in Winnipeg.

The reactor was ready to do battle at every turn in defense of his Church and every possible threat, real or imagined, thereof.

If you'd like a re-match of Donna and Helga vs. the reactor, there is little doubt that all three would happily oblige.

Your sympathy goes out to Ted Lister and the Conrad family on the sudden death of Mr. John Lyle of Edmonton. Ted and Doreen attended the funeral.

The community was deeply saddened by the passing of Mrs. Ruby Rawcuff, and we offer our sympathy to Ray and to all of Ruby's family.

It appears that this mission neglected to report that Mrs. Dorothy Pelgato of Kilham paid a most interesting visit to Mexico recently in connection with her Girl Guide work. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Margaret Manning. Such an oversight can only be attributed to the totally erratic nature of this column, which is due, in no small part to the erratic lifestyle of the author. Since this lifestyle shows no indication of improvement in the near future, we can only request your patience, tolerance and goodwill.

The Rev. and Mrs. Richard Conrad and Mrs. Thelma Yustin, away this week, attending a clergy conference in Clinton. At least that is what the Rev. is doing, just what the ladies might be up to, is anybody's guess.

In case you've been wondering whether the reactor might be planning a vacation this summer, it seems that he has 11 weddings to plan - on his calendar, we are told for five or ten minutes, while he savoured his food.

Len and Don Elder of Edmonton were visiting Len's parents and other relatives in Sedgewick on the weekend, and called on the Greg Martin family.

Confirmation is almost upon us. The important evening is Wednesday, June 16, at 7:30 p.m. at St. John's Church, Sedgewick. A reception in the Parish Hall will follow the service. It will be very pleasant to have our Bishop once again in our midst. He seems to have quite a soft spot in his episcopal heart for our dear St. Edmund's.

Sedgewick Guides, Brownies Mother, Daughter banquet

The Sedgewick Girl Guides and Brownies held their annual Mother and Daughter Banquet at the Anglican Church Hall on June 2.

After grace was sung, the girls, mothers, leaders and guests sat down to a chicken supper prepared and served by the Brownies' sponsors, the Sedgewick Klubs.

Following toasts to the Queen, leaders and mothers, L.A. President, Barb McArthur, introduced the head table guests: Diane Bourne, District Commissioner, Dorothy Pelgato, Division Commissioner, and Elaine Keith, Deputy Commissioner.

The guest speaker, Dorothy Wieschorske, Guider, from Strathmore, then gave an inspiring talk about "Camp Cal-Me-Cac," which is located on a piece of property generally given to the Guiding movement by Dorothy and her husband. Much work has already been done at the camp, but more equipment is needed.

"Youth is the trustee of posterity"

Benjamin Disraeli (1804-1881)

Every generation has recognized in young people as its best investment in the future.

Today, we realize even more what an important role our young people play in this province.

Twenty-one years ago, our two investor-owned electric utilities, Alberta Power and TransAlta Utilities, initiated the Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year Awards to recognize the contributions made by Albertans between the ages of six and 18.

Since then, with the cooperation and support of Alberta's weekly newspapers, the Junior Citizens program has honored more than 200 young people, including 25 groups, for their contributions to their communities.

Help us find the special young Albertans who, through their initiative and responsible actions, are proving to be trustees of posterity and deserving of the title Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year.

Seven tables of whist players were present for the Wednesday afternoon Card Party at the Senior Citizens Drop in Centre. Mrs. Myrtle Arnsen and Mr. Charlie Lane won prizes for the highest scores. Mrs. Lilian Craig (who was tied with Mrs. Denise Russell) had won on a cut of the cards and Mr. Harry O'Brien received consolation awards.

I received a letter from Mrs. Iris Fogelberg who recently visited here. She was a war bride and came here 37 years ago but went back to England after a year because she was so homesick. She wishes now that she had stayed. She asked me to say how much she enjoyed herself and how welcome her husband's family had made her feel. Mrs. Clara Fogelberg of Flagstaff Hill, and Mrs. Bob Ness, Cindy Bach, and Centin and Debbie; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Ness, Don and Deane; Mr. and Mrs. Whit Gascoyne, Melanie Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. B. Wain; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ness and their family in Edmonton, all made her feel like she really belonged. Pastor Lorne Fisher of Kil-lan Pentecostal Tabernacle pleased her by remembering her late husband in his service. It's really great and a compliment to the folks mentioned who can make a person feel so welcome, and extra special when that person let's us know.

On Friday evening three tables of Norwegian Whist players were present at the Senior Citizens Drop in Centre. High scores were Mrs. Ida Black and Mr. Gudmund Ekhusen. Low scores were Mrs. Myrtle Arnsen and Mr. Lloyd Arnsen. During the evening three folk, a husband and wife and their daughter, from Manitoba (my informant couldn't remember their name) dropped in to say hello. They were staying at the motel and visiting Mrs. Currie in Flagstaff. Mrs. Mary McNeil of Calgary brought her mother Mrs. P. McNeil home on Thursday evening. Mrs. M. McNeil has been away several months visiting in Yellowknife, Calgary and Strathmore. She also enjoyed a two week trip to Britain with son David and daughter Mary. They report lovely weather and a very happy time visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie James were in Stora on Friday evening to attend the graduation into High School of their grandchildren, Laurie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie James Jr. Also present was Laurie's cousin, Karen Brandengen. Residents of Flagstaff Lodge are planning a display for the Sedgewick Homecoming which will include the prize-winning doll collection belonging to Mrs. Ben Weber, and a collection of Ben Weber's art. A tea will also be held during the Open House.

Visiting at the Jim Anderson home last week was Fran's sister, Sharon and Terry Voster and Robin from Brooks, Alta., also Mabel Voster from Medicine Hat. Also this week, Fran had her parents, Stan and Marie Kipta from Rolling Hills, Alta., visiting. They found it such a friendly town, with lovely scenery around the countryside.

Wary Lake Manor was opened in October, 1981.

Gordon Stromberg, M.L.A. assists plaque assisted by Mrs. Thea Rave.

Seniors residence at Strome is officially opened

"You're pioneers 'who earned it,'" stated M.L.A. Gordon Stromberg at Friday's official opening of Wary Lake Manor at Strome, attended by citizens and representatives of provincial and federal, county and municipal levels of government. Speaking at Strome Elks Hall, Mr. Stromberg likened the residence as an "industry" with occupants assisting the economy of the village, while at the same time being close to families and friends. The sponsoring Elks were commended by the M.L.A. for "getting the show on the road." Past Elks Elks Ruler, Larry Allen, president of the Wary Lake Manor Management Agency, said the one-story structure consisting of four one-bedroom units, "provides an alternate life-style, is a definite asset to Strome and adds in beauty to the Main Street."

Ernie Marchand, the first resident after the Manor opened last October, commented that it is a "wonderful place," adding that it had passed the test during a harsh winter. Mr. Marchand accepted an Alberta flag from Mr. Stromberg. Official unveiling of the ceremonial plaque was conducted by AHC architects and built by resident, Mrs. Thea Rave. Mrs. Bernice Morgan and Mrs. Bernice Roback will be the other tenants. Ms. Kathy Meadors of Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation at Red Deer, presented a flag of Canada and plaque. Others speaking briefly were Bud Ness, Reeve of Strome, and Dave Kestler of Alberta Housing. The invocation was given by Rev. Irvin Rattan, a retired minister, now living in Strome. Master of ceremonies was Elks Pat Miller who remarked that "the reason for today is the government has had the foresight to think of senior citizens."

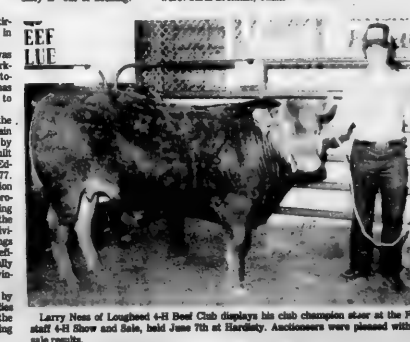

Wary Lake Manor at the north end of Strome's Main Street, was designed by AHC architects and built by GBL Construction of Edmonton at a cost of $129,977. Pending for construction of the residence was provided by Alberta Housing Corporation through the Alberta Investment Division of the Heritage Savings Trust Fund. Operating details will be shared equally by the federal and provincial governments. A buffet was provided for the Catholic Church ladies and afterwards one of the units was open for viewing by the public.

Hardisty taxes up by 20%

At a special meeting of Hardisty Town Council, the mill rate for 1982 was set at 24 mills, an increase of four mills over last year, or 20 percent. A new population census for Hardisty reveals that the town now has 680 residents as opposed to 871 in 1978 when the last count was taken. Town Administrator W. Pedlar reports that housing accommodation in the town is at a premium. In fact, Mr. Pedlar said Hardisty is "out of housing."

Larry Ness of Loughheed 4-H Beef Club displays his club champion steer at the Flagstaff 4-H Show and Sale, held June 7th at Hardisty. Auctioneers were pleased with the sale results.

The hope for peace is eternal

Total peace in the world has been the ultimate goal of idealists for centuries — an aim that apparently will never be reached as long as there is humanity.

But still the struggle goes on. Saturday was the day that pacifists around the world chose to march on the United Nations in New York, with more than 800,000 congregating to voice their views on what should be done to bring peace about.

As with any cause however, there is an element which becomes overzealous, and police made 600 arrests because of disorderly conduct.

A similar march was held in Toronto — in Edmonton, 4,000 persons actually conducted a peaceful march.

While peace should be the pinnacle of anyone's philosophy, we have to be realistic.

Many battles and wars are ignited by differing religious ideologies — differences which the passage of time has failed to dim.

To be sure, the dependents of those in battle wish that their loved ones had not had to enter the fray, but these are facts of life.

Apparently the Argentine forces have surrendered to the British and the Falkland Islands crisis is over for the time being at least.

Tell that to the families of deceased British military and civilian personnel (there were reportedly 250 killed, not to mention those who have been permanently disabled), or for that matter, the end of the conflict is small consolation to bereaved relatives of Argentine casualties.

Then there is the Israeli invasion of Lebanon, and its short-lived cease fire. Israel is intent on exterminating the Palestine Liberation Organization, and its leader, Yassar Arafat.

Once again, untold suffering usually to innocents — has been the result. The summer season is always difficult because of holidays etc. If anyone wants to assist in this valuable service, please contact your local co-ordinator or hospital.

In closing, I want it known that we appreciate your care and concern, drivers and attendants of Flagstaff County Ambulance Service!

Chris Lewis, R.N.
Kilham Hospital.

As long as there is a "power" to look up to, then there is always the hope of peace.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I was pleased to see the article by Grace Kells re ambulance services at Hardisty.

Her comments could apply to all of the other ambulance services in the county.

As an R.N., it has been my privilege to work with Kilham, but on some occasions from Hardisty, Galtland or Dayland.

These volunteers are always prompt, courteous and helpful. They are interested in upgrading their knowledge of emergency care, and improving equipment in their ambulance units.

I also want to mention that these services are often performed by a few.

The summer season is always difficult because of holidays etc.

If anyone wants to assist in this valuable service, please contact your local co-ordinator or hospital.

In closing, I want it known that we appreciate your care and concern, drivers and attendants of Flagstaff County Ambulance Service!

Chris Lewis, R.N.

As long as there is a "power" to look up to, then there is always the hope of peace.

T.J. McElahan of Kilham was renting pasture for cattle. Running water, no maling, for a low 13 cents per month. The Apple Blossom tea and sale of ice cream and cake sponsored by the Dayland C.O.B.T. on Saturday, netted the sum of $13.00, which will be added to the camp fund. The spray of apple blossoms used for decorations were quite realistic. They were made by the girls under the guidance of Miss Hugst.

Crop Report: Wheat seeding is completed and 80 to 90 percent of coarse grains have been sown, with the late progress being made in Alberta. All the grain is standing well, but due to cool weather, growth has been slow. Slight frosts and cold weather have occurred at scattered points.

Prizes were awarded as follows: Elocution — Robert Drager; singing for children's class, was Lorne Granger; adult class was Helen Probst; instrumental, children was won by Joan Peterson and Lorne Warren with a dust.

Heavy rain has again fallen in the area, ranging generally from 1 to 3 inches, with odd stations reporting 4 and moisture supplies are good to excessive. Most stations still have some oats and barley to be seeded and some northern points report only 50 percent of these grains have been sown so far. Warm dry weather is needed to allow completion.

At a special parade on the 19th of June, the Cadet Training Office, Northern Alberta Area, was present to make presentations won by Cadets in the King Geo. V. cup competition for 1981. Bronze medals were presented to Cadet Sgt. C. Beal, H. Johnson, C. R. Hopkins, Cadets D. Muirhead, W. Wagner, L. Leiridsh, B. Myrland, R. Truss and B. Johnson.

Pleasant Hill - July 4, 1912. Let's have a picnic! This was a real break for our early pioneers. This picture taken in 1912 takes us all back in time, if only for a moment. Pleasant Hill was a favorite place for all major events of that time. Located on Section 38, on land now owned by Dennis Nordstrom, this is north of Sedgewick about 3 1/2 miles north from the John Middleton homestead. Mr. Middleton was the grandfather of George Christensen. Note the trees that were cut and then raised again in the form of a tunnel. This was to keep all sheep in a cool place. Also everyone is really dressed in their Sunday best. Does anyone recognize anyone? — Submitted by George Christensen.

Letters to the Editor

C.S. Kernshaw

Bradford, W. York

My daughter and her husband, Neil and James Hampshire have subscribed for overseas sending of The Community Press since 1971, and I write to say how much my wife and I enjoy receiving news of her adopted homeland, which we have visited twice since she came there.

Especially we enjoy seeing photographs and information about people and places we know.

We have commented on the old photos of places around the area and like to compare the old with the new as we saw it during our visit.

You may not know it, but we find Sedgewick a friendly place; folks greet you in the way we remember was the way our northern town used to be prior to 1949, but at the same time

It is possible to increase the address or the accuracy of the smaller print for the paper's name and address! Nice to have talked to you.

Yours sincerely,
C.S. Kernshaw.

The president welcomed a visitor from Lokaal.

The meeting closed with prayer and lunch was served by the hostess.

A report was given of the serving in Sedgewick at the Mackay wedding reception.

The members decided to have a shower in the Legion Hall on July 29th for Jackie Collins, and to meet at the home of Jean Christensen on July 31st to make the final plans.

Since Kilham missed the report given by Helga and Donna Martin of their trip to Winnipeg to the National Women's Conference, it was decided the Secretary write and invite them to the September meeting.

A letter from the Bible Society, requested permission to send a yearly report of the Bible, instead of monthly, to save on stamps and paper, which cost money, was agreeable with the members.

Kilham ACW to invite speakers

St. George's A.C.W. Kilham met at the home of Doris Bennett, Doris led the prayers and devotionals and Dorothy Falcas read the lesson from the Bible.

A report was given of the serving in Sedgewick at the Mackay wedding reception.

The members decided to have a shower in the Legion Hall on July 29th for Jackie Collins, and to meet at the home of Jean Christensen on July 31st to make the final plans.

Philosophy for the Birds

Manuel Frawdich of Killam 4-H Beef Club exhibited his Club Championship Steer at the annual Flagstaff 4-H Beef Show and Sale, held June 7th at Hardisty. A total of 71 head were sold.

Killam Seniors to take bus tour

The June meeting of Killam Seniors was called to order by president, Ed Beshw with a short review of our blessings and giving thanks for all worthy needs.

M. Gibb read the minutes of the May meeting and reported four get well cards had been sent.

Business arising was the report that the bedding plants had been put in boxes in specific areas. Two members participated in the bowling tournament for the Seniors games and will be going to Stettler to compete.

Any give the financial report and reported paying bills. She reported 25 seniors were going on the bus tour to Victoria and other points on July 6 for a 9 day trip.

With so many being away, it was reported Robert Borsh had donated a golf cart to be used at the golf course at Sedgewick for seniors and others to use.

On Thursday, June 17, there will be a Whist card party 5:00 on June 24, and next meeting on August 12.

The meeting adjourned with a poem, "Remember When" read by the president.

Cookies and ice cream were enjoyed by all.

Clara Schmitzer.

Many farmers hit by hail storm

They are bad some places, and so destructive. If every town had agreed to opening the town by plane, you wouldn't have this case. Some are trying to get rid of them. If they are not destroyed, we have some left next year, and probably for years to come.

New era for Hardisty Lake starts July 1

July 1 marks a new era for Hardisty Lake. From that day, overnight campers will be charged a fee of $2.50 per night or $15.00 per week (7 days).

The town has employed a park supervisor, Terry Baumgartner, who will collect the fees and issue receipts among his duties, which also include the overseeing of the development and improvements at the park site.

July 1st also sees the beginning of the Village of service, which will have Judy Overman and Terry Skole sharing the position.

The Hardisty Lake Committee and Volunteer helpers have cleared some new areas which will be sign posted in which overnight campers will be encouraged to stay. It is hoped that when all the parking areas are designated and all posts have been installed, that the centre of the loop trail will be allocated for day use, picnicking, etc. only.

The Lake Committee intends to take advantage of the Provincial S.T.E.P. program under the supervision of Terry to continue the improvement of the lake throughout the summer season.

Once again, the Swimming Program, sponsored by the Elks, will be offered at the lake commencing July 5th to 9th, and 12th to 16th. Registration will take place from 2 p.m. on Wednesday, June 30th. The full range of badge programs will be offered.

Serious injury in auto near Strome

A single vehicle accident early Saturday morning resulted in one person being taken to an Edmonton hospital with serious injuries, while a second person also required hospitalization.

The mishap occurred on a road and a half mile east of Strome.

Killam RCMP had not completed their investigation at the time the news release was obtained, and names of the injured were not available.

A truck was stolen on Saturday and recovered the same day.

Gold equipment found at Sedgewick Lake and turned into the Killam RCMP Detachment has been claimed by a Hardisty area resident.

Killam Trade Fair plans progress

Plans for the first annual Killam Trade Fair took a decided upward at an Orientation Night, held Monday, June 14th, at the 7 in Killam Arena, the event is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Possible participants from Carleton and Forestburg were in attendance, as well as Killam area members of the advertising and news media.

Chamber President Clarence Rott explained that a trade fair has an atmosphere "all its own," with lots of activity. He remarked that Killam is in the centre of a good trading area, and the event afforded businesses an excellent opportunity to display their wares.

Mr. Rott pointed out that all booths were available last before the meeting had been completed about 30 display spaces had been committed.

While some sales probably would be completed after the Trade Fair, Killam residents of the Chamber expressed the view that it is a "big indoor sale" where people preferring to buy an article and take it home with them.

Plans for entertainment are incomplete at present, but a fashion show and local entertainment are being considered.

It was also reported that facilities at the Agriplex will be available during Trade Fair hours, for such activities as swimming, bowling and roller skating.

Killam Braves take tourney

Killam Braves held a one-day baseball tournament on Sunday, with the home team emerging the winners by defeating Sedgewick 8-4.

Dennis Laurel and Bruce Kadober of the Braves were co-winners of the most valuable player award.

In the first game, Carter defeated Loughheed, followed by a Killam victory over Hardisty and Sedgewick eliminated Strome.

Killam edged Carter 3-0 in the semi-final, then took the championship game.

There are other problems but insects 'take the cake'

It's had enough these days that the economy is giving us a kick in the pants, but believe it or not there are other situations which seem more critical—at least at the time.

Following a cold, rainy period, the weatherman has chosen to supply us with an over-abundance of heat. That is certainly good news, as it promotes growth of field and garden crops, and the sunny, hot weather is just ideal for that week-end jaunt or backyard barbecue, or perhaps just for getting a tan.

But there is a hitch to this—always seems to be the case when there is "good news." Another "crop" has made itself evident, and it is ever persistent! We are referring to the mosquitoes and black flies which thrive on the diet presented to them on a silver platter.

What better "meal" than a generous serving of human flesh. What better moment for these pests to swoop in for the kill than when an obliging human is attired in shorts and leaves yards of flesh open to attack.

Precautions such as the application of insect repellent, wearing long sleeves and pants, and using mosquito coils are all well and good, but they are not foolproof. The insects are simply too numerous and too persistent to be easily deterred.

Mrs. Agnes Peaty, teacher of the Graveland School for the past two years, was summoned before Magistrate A.L. Miller on Saturday, June 16th and was fined five dollars and costs for common assault. Keith Roggenack, aged 11 years, had been struck on the head with a broom handle by the teacher. The defendant stated that the boy refused to obey her after spilling ink on her dress, and became unruly.

The Alberta Pacific elevator at Sedgwick is being torn down by a wrecking crew of twelve men, and will be rebuilt at once. The lumber in the lower part of the building was badly rotted.

Crops are needing rain badly south east of Bewl. A number of ladies report that they have garden "rot" such as rhubarb, lettuce and onions, radishes from their own garden. A number have been ready to blanch.

48 Years Ago
The town of Sedgwick is taking on somewhat of a new appearance these days. Mr. Gray is having the Hardware Store painted. The Village Council has had new cement walks on the west side of the main drag and last but not least, the sidewalks have been repaved. Apparently 85 percent of the people were right. The streets needed it badly and they got it.

At Beasants Bros. Ltd. in Sedgwick, generally accepted that the replacement building would probably be of cement construction. The building committee was given authority to proceed with the replacement of the old building which was destroyed by fire.

Doug Munro, a 28 year old teacher and village councillor in Strone, was nominated to carry the Social Credit banner in the next federal election. He defeated Austin Clark, Carleton Place farmer at the convention of upwards of 100 people.

Farmers may not have received as much for their grain back in the early days, but on the other hand, their expenses weren't as high. Many tasks such as haying and threshing demanded much more physical labour, however, and many more long hours were involved. Art Fala is pictured above in 1934, harvesting his short wheat crop with a Massey-Harris reaper on Section 7-4-11.

Other officers are: Vice President, Linda Stuart; Secretary, Gail Koltzsch; Treasurer, Jany Bellwood; Co-ordinator, Debbie Drager; L.A.C. Chairperson, Darlene Schumdt.

An orientation workshop was held in Hughtenden on May 21 to acquaint the new officers with the demands of their positions.

June 25 is the wind-up of the 1981-82 Kindergarten program and to mark the occasion, a picnic party is being planned for this year's participants, as well as the 1982-83 group.

THE ALBERTA FAMILY HOME PURCHASE PROGRAM

We designed it so that Albertans can have a place to call their own.

1 Who can benefit?
The Alberta Family Home Purchase Program provides mortgage financing for qualified Alberta families who can show a need for AFHPC. To qualify, families must be Alberta residents and have a maximum adjusted family income of $38,000 or less (as defined below).

4 Are all homes eligible?
No. The home you are either building or buying must be your family's principal and only residential property. Other qualifications also apply, for example, maximum value cannot exceed $64,000 (existing home) or $78,000 (a new house). Enquire at your local AHMC office for other eligibility requirements.

2 How is the "maximum" adjusted family income defined?
Income calculations for AFHPC financing are simple and designed to give a break to lower income families. To figure out your adjusted family income, take 100% of the principal wage earner's income. Add 100% of a working spouse's income. Over $4000. Subtract $300 for each dependent child up to a maximum of $1500. The result is your adjusted family income.

5 Maximums and minimums
The maximum loan amount available under AFHPC financing is 90% of the value of the home, as determined by AHMC, up to $56,888 on an existing home and $68,148 on a new home.
The minimum down payment required is 10% of the total cost of the home.

6 How to apply
Satisfy yourself that you qualify under the information given in the preceding paragraphs. Then call or write your nearest AHMC office and ask for a set of AFHPC loan application forms plus instructions for the kind of home you are considering, i.e. - Purchase of i) existing home, ii) Modular home, iii) Mobile home. - Construction of i) a "stick-built" home (from unassembled materials) ii) a pre-cut "package" home.

3 Are subsidies available?
Yes. All successful AFHPC applicants whose adjusted gross income falls below the program maximum can qualify for either one or both of the subsidies available under the AFHPC.

Mortgage Subsidies: These are made available to qualified AFHPC applicants based on income level.

Starter Homeowner Subsidies: These are available to qualified AFHPC applicants who are first-time homeowners and are either building their own home or purchasing new homes from builders which are financed by AHMC.

[introduced for last week]

A piano recital was held at the home of Nettie Johnson on the evening of June 2. Seven students took part in the program to entertain their parents and friends. At the close of the recital, lunch was served to everyone.

Recently, a four-way carvanda was held in Hardisty for funds for Heart, Cancer, Arthritis, and the Red Cross. The results were as follows:

Heart $44.70 collected; Cancer $1,122.00; Arthritis $497.50; and Red Cross $378.78. These charities were convalesced in the same manner last year and most persons feel it is a better way than individual canvassing for each separately. The four needs are covered by one trip by canvassers, and one donation by contributors. We're sure the charities appreciate your very necessary support.

Steve Gallbreath went to the University Hospital, June 11 in preparation for open heart surgery to take place June 14. All your friends in Hardisty are thinking of you, Bruce and wish you a speedy and complete recovery.

Visitors to the Nettie Johnson house last weekend were Nettie's son, Kenneth and wife, Mary, also their two daughters, Delilah and Corinne.

On June 3, two young people formerly from Hardisty, received their university degrees in a convocation.

tion ceremony in the Jubilee Auditorium. Edson Crone received his B.S. in Pharmacy and Carey Lee Johnson received his degree in Master of Science, with B.S.W. in Rural Sociology. Edson will be taking up her position as pharmacist in Baltimore in July and Carey is the socio-economic planner for Gulf Oil in Calgary. Jeanette and Fritz Crone and Stewart attended the graduation ceremonies as Ed and Edna and Joe Johnson.

Congratulations to you, Edson and Carey. You have both put out a lot of work to obtain your goals.

Also of interest in the same graduation, a former probation officer in Hardisty, Charles John Olson, also received his B.A. in Physical Education. The Olsona reside in Edmonton.

Get well wishes to Diana Hendricks who is a patient in a hospital in Edmonton. Hope you are soon home again.

A couple of weekends ago, Laila and Penny Leach and family; Freda and Daryl Brausen and family; and Debbie and Dean Drager and family, spent some time at Selbert Lake doing some fishing. This is a trophy lake and Laila really struck it lucky. He came home with a 20-pound jackfish and just no one can ever call that a "fish story" is having it mounted for proof. That must have exciting landing that one.

The United Church Women held their meeting this week. Two of the members are moving away soon, these being Freda Jackson and Mary Ann Thomson. As the president was absent, Marian Drager presented these ladies with engraved spoons and wished them well in their new locations. Each lady spoke briefly in thanking the club and telling how much it has meant to them to have belonged.

Final plans were made for the Women's Retreat to be held June 18 at the camp. Some pictures of the group were taken by Elaine Perkins and then the ladies served a dainty lunch. There will be no more meetings for the summer but they will begin again in September.

Sunday, June 20 was the date of the baptism of Gloria and Ron Jackson's infant daughter, Dee-Ann Louise. This ceremony took place in the United Church with Bert Jackson officiating. Ron's sister, Wynne and husband, Joe MacIsaac from Edmonton, became Dee-Ann's godparents in this happy event. Gloria and Ron have two other children, Jodi and Gary.

During the church service on Father's Day, June 20, a presentation of a lovely clock was made to St. Paul's United Church by Lester Metz and her family in memory of Lester Metz. Lester Metz was faithfully responsible for the ringing of the church bell among other duties he cheerfully carried out, so it was most fitting that the gift to his memory should have been a clock.

Sedgewick erects tire playground

In less than twelve hours, last Saturday, the Town of Sedgewick acquired its promised Homecoming project, and now local children have a recreational facility.

About twenty volunteers under the supervision of David Blais from Gibbons, completed a tire playground. Located on MacKenzie Crescent off 48th Street, to the north-east part of Sedgewick, the tire playground was constructed on vacant town reserve land.

A tired work crew laboured throughout the hot day, but their efforts were rewarded about 7:30 when sand was spread over the grass surface.

Earlier in the day, Councilor James MacGregor, co-chairman of the project with Councilor Lorne Fyfe, related her prior concerns pertaining to the weather, the number of volunteers, and occurrence of a sufficient number of tires.

More volunteers would have made the work easier, however, with the assistance of equipment loaned by local firms, the available manpower was used to advantage by Mr. Blais.

One might say that the project had a "professional touch" as the work force included several councilors, teachers, a minister, a printer and a hydro engineer.

Several structures were constructed during the blitz ranging from a sandbox and toddler's swings for the very young, balance structure, dome, cubic structure with bridges, tunnels and fountains, a pole to a tire arch and high wall-of-course using a generous number of tires of various sizes, large and small.

Mr. Blais said that about 180 tires in all were used. It is planned to use the remaining tires for barricades. The playgrounds are becoming a popular item throughout Alberta, with over 100 in the province. The Towns of Hardisty and Dryden built tire playgrounds last year.

The Sedgewick Tire Playground was well used on Saturday night, as well as Sunday.

While the name is not official, Councilor MacGregor suggested that the facility could be named "Sedgewick Homecoming Tire Playground."

Premier Loughheed to attend office opening

A personage with a long history in the village of Loughheed will be Premier Peter Lougheed, grandson of Sir James Loughheed, after whom the Village was named in 1911.

Prior to that time, the post office had been known as Holmestown.

Located in the centre of the village's main Street business district, the brick-clad structure has municipal facilities, consisting of ample public greeting space, council chambers and office space for Secretary-Treasurer Stan Towers. It opened for village business in late 1981.

The library is located adjacent to the town facilities with a portable desk between the library and council chamber.

Premier Lougheed will officiate with Mayor Jack Ramdani and council at a 10:30 a.m. ceremony followed by a brief coffee period.

The building opened for village business in December 1981. Previously village affairs were conducted in a small building on the east side of the street and before that in private homes.

The Library section opened in early 1981, replacing cramped quarters at the rear of a Main Street building.

Truck - train collision near Alliance

No injuries were indicated in a mid-Friday afternoon collision between a truck and a train at the Highway 36 crossing, north of Alliance, however the truck's trailer was demolished and one of the train's three engines was damaged extensively.

Two accidents have occurred at this crossing in a six-month period.

Driver of the Bdky Transport tractor-trailer unit from Medicine Hat was Kenneth Bdky, who apparently was heading north and was partially over the crossing when the confrontation took place.

The engine lost its air brakes and was returned to Edmonton for repairs.

Included in the train's complement were three engines, seven loaded grain cars, one empty car and the caboose.

No rail derailment resulted from the mishap.

Corporal D. Hoseneyman of Pownburg RCMP Detachment said that the matter is under investigation.

There are warning signs

Welcome to Sedgewick Homecoming '82

Editorially

We have a new budget ... what next?

While most of us aren't exactly enthused by Monday night's federal budget presented by Finance Minister Allan MacEachen, some of the reactions were just as anticipated.

Predictable was the outburst by Dennis McDermott, leader of the two-million member Canadian Labour Congress. But it is also "scary" when he said his union might call a general national strike after it was announced the government is imposing six and five percent wage controls over two years in the public sector, and asking the private sector to voluntarily do the same.

While Canada is supposed to be a democratic country, such a union-endorsed move would cause chaos in an already economy-depressed country.

Surely, no one could have looked to the Monday budget as being a "cure-all." But there was always a glimmer of hope until it came to pass.

Some sectors such as housing were given concessions as an incentive to get part of the country's 1.3 million unemployed back on the production line. But as one analyst put it, first-time home buyers won't be rushing out to beat the year-end deadline, because an interest rate "break" won't be in place for several months.

Policitians were calling for the abolition of the Foreign Investment Review Board. Although, this didn't come about, there was a softening in government-imposed restrictions, to facilitate foreign investment in Canada.

Letters to the Editor

Sedgewick, June 24, 1982

To the Editor:

As a member of the Homecoming Committee, since it's inception, I feel compelled to write these few words to the community as a whole regarding our Homecoming '82.

Being involved in this undertaking has been very interesting, but at times also disappointing. The point I want to make is simply, do the majority of you people really want a Homecoming? I know this is a being quiet about it is how I feel.

We have asked so many to get involved and the answer is always, "I haven't got time," or "I don't think I'll be there," or "It costs too much."

Well, I just don't buy that. By saying this, means the committees have to work that much harder to compensate for the lack of support.

I've been a resident in the community all my life and am appalled by the apathy of the citizens of the district to want to be involved in their own Homecoming.

Remember, this Homecoming is the only one most of us in this area will ever be a part of.

So I would ask you all once again to get in to the spirit of Homecoming '82 by doing your part as a resident.

This means whether you live in town or on a farm, or wherever. This is your Homecoming, and I hope we all have fun. Thank you.

George Christensen

Moisture supplies are adequate for the present. Damage from pests and other sources is moderate but heavy growth of weeds is reported. Sugar beets are progressing favorably.

In contrast to the present day, road work in earlier times was a back-breaking chore, with only horses to ease some of the heavy load. None-the-less, these fellows enjoyed themselves on occasion as evidenced in the above picture, as they sported caricatures. From left are Art Adamson Sr., Bill Warlick, Allen Baker, and Lemie Hall. Rainbow Riders enjoy trail ride

That is what you would have heard if you were at the trail ride with the Hastings County 4-H Rainbow Riders on June 13th at the Dubois Valley Ranch. We travelled on four feet all the way. Through the woods, rivers, down the hills, watching our horses as well as the beautiful scenery.

The "Lone Ranger and Silver" were doing exceptionally well, with suddenly Silver began his tricks. We were all sorry for the mishap to the "Lone Ranger".

Along with all the rest of the excitement, we ended up at camp, a few horses with two riders, and a few horses with their saddles empty.

We all had a great time. We made it back and saw the delicious lunch that was prepared. One that stayed at the camp. We all sat around the table and had dinner. "Tip" Henderson conducted a successful service for a Dubois girl who died when she was only four years old.

New flag display raised at Hardisty

The flag warden will be putting up the flag of Arizona, the Grand Canyon state. Western story readers will find familiar names on the map. Names like Tucson, Yuma, Nogales, Phoenix, Flagstaff and the Pinal Desert. Travelers to the state will remember the Grand Canyon, the petrified forest, and the Indian Cliff Dwellings.

Following the flags to another hemisphere, Denmark comes to our attention. It is a happy, friendly people, who manage their industries with super-efficiency. There are few social problems as there are no extremes of wealth or poverty and no illiteracy. Notable citizens include Hans Christian Andersen, his little Mermaid, and of course Hamlet.

The Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, which celebrated the birthday of H.R.H. Grand Duke Jean on June 23, would fit comfortably between Hardisty and Denmark. Small as it is it holds an important place in European economic affairs. A leading producer of iron and steel the country also grows the grapes for Moselle wines.

A constitutional monarchy, the country is ruled by Grand Duke Jean of the House of Nassau.

Across the lower part of the Ganges River, Bangladesh, a predominantly Muslim country is newer than most people's Encyclopedia.
The province of Bengal in British India, it became East Pakistan, before emerging as the Republic of Bangladesh.
A tropical land, it is plagued by cyclones, tidal waves and flooding.
Look beyond these trivial bits and pieces, learn more about our flag neighbors. Be a citizen of the world.

WHAT IS YOUR COMMENT?

Do you think businesses in Sedgewick should stay open late on Friday nights?

Elford Tindal
I don't think it is a necessity. I can't make a living in six days a week, they might just as well close shop.

Ab Nordstrom
Yes, I think they should, especially in the summer. It gives farmers and couples who work late and like to come late to work to their business. I know I used to.

Ann Bily
I think it is a good idea - it gives farmers and couples who both work an opportunity to shop together as to do their shopping.

Frank Anderson
Yes, I think they should. It gives working people and farmers the advantage of shopping as a convenience.

Shower held for Lori Baird at Forestburg

A shower honoring Lori Baird was held in the United Church social room on June 18. Seated at the head table with the bride were her mother, Irene Baird, her maternal grandmother, Kate Boah, her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lavina Baird, and two cousins, Cathy Baird and Paris Boah.
The dialogue by Brenda Crawford and Nancy LeGarde narrated by Janice Frendrich, was quite hilarious. An appropriate song composed by Wendy Paulik and others was sung by seven of the bridesmaids.

Hardisty Bridge Club holds farewell party

Last Monday evening, Maryann Drager was hostess at her home for a tea and farewell. While the movers were packing in the basement the ladies enjoyed tea and a lovely cake made by Pauline.
The president, Florence Vankoughnet, presented Maryann with an Auxiliary stick-pin and farewell card.
The Thomsens will be greatly missed as they have been active in all community efforts, but they assure us that they will return to visit.

Formerly of Forestburg Judy Lundy weds Darrell Hemery

June 12, 1982 dawned beautifully bright and sunny in Bluebridge, Alberta. Relatives and friends gathered to witness the outdoor marriage of Judy Lundy, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garth Lundy of Forestburg, to Darrell Hemery, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Hemery of Edmonton. The couple were attended by their friends, Cathy and John Hogue of Wandering River.
Darrell and Judy chose the song "Where are the Children" by Dan Fogelberg as their processional song. Judy, wearing a two-piece white lace dress, walked with, and was given in marriage to Darrell, by her father. Reverend Lamar of Whitecourt United Church led the couple in repeating and solemnizing their wedding vows.
The grace and wedding blessing was given by Merv Byron, friend of the groom, and a delicious buffet meal was prepared and served by a Whitecourt catering firm.
Karen Lundy acted as master of ceremonies. Don

How well Canada's new National Training Program prepare today's workers for tomorrow's jobs?

There is a shortage of Canadians trained in the critical skills and new technologies. A shortage that will grow. Filling those jobs is a federal government priority. We're making one billion dollar commitment to helping Canadians train for those positions. Here's what we're doing:
Canada's New National Training Program.
To meet the growing demand for skilled workers, the Government of Canada is introducing a new National Training Program. At Employment and Immigration we believe training in key skills is an important component of the long-term solution to the employment challenges of the 80's. Our new National Training Program will make our vocational training system more responsive to the skills Canadians need now.
We're going to train 250,000 Canadians in the skills of tomorrow.
With the additional funding just announced, we will be training over a quarter of a million men and women a year. Extra funding will create thousands more training positions in the fields where skilled workers are in high demand.

We're creating a new fund to build state-of-the-art training facilities across the country.
We're committed to giving Canada the finest skills training program in the world. But the sophisticated equipment and technology needed to train our workers is expensive. So we're offering grants to help colleges, provincial governments, industry and other groups to build the modern facilities the national training effort demands.
Our new work sharing program keeps thousands of workers on the job, where training and upgrading can continue.
Too often, apprentices are the first to suffer from lay-offs. That means on the job training is lost. A valuable future worker's progress is halted. Work sharing helps keep workers on the job where they can continue to learn and increase the national pool of skilled labour.

We're investing in the future of our young people.
Our investment in training means that Canada's young workers can have more secure employment for years to come... because we are helping them train in the skills that are in demand, today and tomorrow. It's an investment in jobs. It's an investment in Canadians. And it helps Canada work.

Relocation of a Highway A big Decision

While the nation's economy, has to be the biggest factor affecting a community, there are countless others.

For instance, location, whether in the "business core" between Calgary and Edmonton, or on the "fringe area" such as we are in Flagstaff.

Talks have been taking place recently between officials of Alberta Transportation, MLA Gordon Stromberg, and Council of the Town of Killam, pertaining to the straightening out of Highway 13 through the town.

Naturally, Killam council is moving slowly on such a contentious issue and is carefully weighing the pros and cons. And from what we can gather, provincial officials aren't pressing for an immediate response.

Although the proposal for Killam cannot be construed as a bypass, some of the effects could be the same.

Right off the bat, it comes to "mind that business would be the major loser if the proposal is carried through. A study by Alberta Transportation indicates that a community's size, availability and variety of retail and service outlets, distance travelled since the last stop, and other community attractions, such as tourist facilities and parks, all affect the final figure.

The report suggests that the effects of a bypass are not felt on the general business level of a community, but on those businesses who rely solely on highway trade. Several Killam businesses are adjacent to Highway 13, and some could suffer, even though motorists could easily see them from a relocated Highway 13, a couple of hundred feet distant.

Hotels and motels are singled out as the big losers when by-passes are built, and this could hold true for the Killam Hotel in slightly altered circumstances.

The relocation of Highway 36, some years ago, to its present location, certainly hurt business at the Wagon Wheel Motel in Killam, which had the highway for a front door.

And in the long ago, relocation of Highway 13, from its route, south of the railway tracks, was a definite obstacle to Sedgewick's growth.

But we believe that Alberta Transportation has the safety of the Killam community in mind when it approached council with its proposal to straighten out the course of Highway 13.

There is a tremendous amount of "through traffic" on Highway 13, much of it heavy transport trucks, with sometimes dangerous cargoes. Also, Highway 13, is a route for a growing number of Saskatchewan residents, heading to Western Alberta, or B.C. destinations.

For the amount of traffic going through Killam, the percentage of accidents has been low, but the ingredients are usually there. In the interest of safety, the highway through Killam should be straightened but economics will play a large part. Apparently the issue has been placed on the back burner, and that's where it's liable to stay.

Late Bessie Pottage was Teacher, edited Merna History

Mrs. Bessie Pottage passed away in the Killam Asylum Hospital on June 18th at the age of 82 years and 11 months.

Bessie Fern Cox was born in Union Grove, Iowa, on July 18, 1899 to Mrs. and Mr. Myrtle Cox. In the year 1900, she moved with her family to Minnesota. In 1905, they settled on their home in the Merna district.

Bessie attended school at Merna, and completed her teacher training at Camrose Normal School. She taught in various schools in the Sedgewick, Killam, Car and Alliance areas. She was an official standard bearer for the party in Sedgewick Riding, for the August 5th election.

Someone from Strone was selling the following: S.W. and N.E. Quarters of 22-43-18 With. Half mile from school, telephone, gravel road, good buildings, six miles from town. All this for a low $6000 for a quick sale.

At Strubby, B.C. The following year she and her husband moved to their farm in the Merna district. To this union, two sons and two daughters were born.

In 1958, upon retirement from the farm, Bessie returned to her teaching career. She and Steve then took up residence in Sedgewick where she spent many enjoyable hours compiling a detailed history of Merna and district. Due to her failing health, she moved to Killam Asylum Hospital in 1977.

She was predeceased by her parents, Martin and Myrtle Cox, two brothers, Howard and Jess; two sisters, Eva and Dora, and two grandsons, Timothy and Carmen Pottage.

Bessie was a conscientious teacher and a devoted community worker. She was a life member of the Merna Village Club and an active worker in her church, having served as Sunday School superintendent, secretary-treasurer, and was a women's number for many years.

Funeral services were held on June 21st at 3 p.m. in the Sedgewick United Church with Rev. Alex McLean officiating. Mr. Harry Anderson sang "In the Garden," and Mrs. Ingrid Ostrem accompanied on the organ.

The pallbearers were grandsons, Melvin Lusty, Neil Lusty, Gary Pottage, Wesley Pottage, Donald Reid, Daniel Reid and Clinton Pottage.

The funeral service and interment took place at the Merna United Church Cemetery.

Tornado hits Viking

On Wednesday evening, June 30th at the George Gotsdiner farm, about 15 miles north and east of Viking, what is believed to be a tornado, hit the farm yard, accompanied by driving rain.

Several boards were driven into the farm house, causing an aqueduct. Early morning light revealed how extensive the damage was, with the roof torn off the barn, and two chicken houses had disappeared with the loss of all its chickens.

Four of the seven quarters of crop were totally destroyed by the hail.

Some of the livestock, some one-half mile, and five wooden granaries were totally destroyed.

Other destruction included a combine and feedmill being blown off the side, and a large self-propelled combine was supposed to have been blown into another combine. Also a fifteen-ton truck was pushed into the combine and the Gotsdiner's grain tank was severely damaged.

Five steel granaries were

Crop prospects continue promising. Moisture conditions are satisfactory and recent warm weather has brought all grain along rapidly. Wheat is mostly in shot blade and early crops are heading. Cattle grazings are making good progress. Damage from hail, which has occurred in scattered places, and other causes, has been light. Pastures and fodder crops are very good.

A violent electrical storm last week caused extensive damage to stacks of baled straw in the Harry Munro farm, south of Sedgewick. Lightning struck a stack of bales near the barn, setting it afire. For a time, the safety of the barn and house was in doubt, but the arrival of a downpour of rain and the fire broke up the blaze under control with a minimum of loss to the stacked feed.

With seven men throwing their hats into the ring, over 200 delegates deciding the issue, Mr. Jack Hillman, farmer of Coles, in the 1907, 1899 to 1900, moved with his family to Minnesota. In 1902, they settled on their farm in the Merna district. Beasly attended school at Merna, and completed his teacher training at Camrose Normal School. She taught in various schools in the Sedgewick, Killam, Coles and Alliance areas. She was united in marriage to Strome Pottage on January 15, 1925.

At Barmby, B.C. The following year she and her husband moved their family to the Merna district. To this union, two sons and two daughters were born. In 1958, upon retirement from the farm, Beasly returned to her teaching career for a period of ten years. She and Strome then moved to their residence in Sedgewick where she spent many enjoyable hours compiling the history of Merna and district. Due to her failing health, she moved to Killam Auxiliary Hospital in 1979. She was predeceased by her parents, Norman and Rita Coles, two brothers,

Howard and Jess; two sisters, Eva and Doris, and two granddaughters, Dorothy and Carmen Pottage. Beasly was a conscientious housewife and devoted community worker. She was a member of the Merna Ladies Club and an active worker in her church, having served as Sunday School superintendent, secretary, treasurer, and was a season member for many years. Among her varied interests was her love for flowers and her garden. She was a devoted wife and mother, and always faithful to her family and friends. Tornado hits Viking

On Wednesday evening, June 30th at the George Golebief farm, about 15 miles north and east of Viking, what is believed to be a tornado, hit the farm yard, accompanied by driving rain.

Several boards were driven into the farm house, smashing an aquarium. Early morning light revealed how extensive the damage was, with the roof torn off the barn, and two chicken houses had disappeared with the loss of about 35 chickens.

Four of the seven quarters of crop were totally destroyed by the hail. Five steel granaries were

It is a very busy couple of weeks, taking in the family reunion and camping out on weekends. We know you will enjoy it all.

Mrs. Margaret Denham and myself (Molly Perreys) were taking it easy out on Margaret's patio on Wednesday and who should come along but Mr. Ken Newman with Mrs. Ina Coughlin of Vancouver, B.C. Ken turned around a little, also taking in the ball practice. He came by and had a cup of tea with us and got back to Ernie Cookson's. Lyle was there too. A very nice evening was had by all, talking over the past times and remembering names of people that lived here in years gone by.

Mr. and Mrs. Chuck March and boys attended a family reunion in Verdun, Manitoba. They were gone a week.

Don't forget Loughheed is having a homecoming in August of 1982. If you know of anyone who lived here at anytime, be sure and get their names and addresses, and send them to your relatives and friends who are living around here now.

The Rudy Peter's family attended a reunion at Roblin, Manitoba on the 3rd and 4th of July. Attending this reunion were members of the family from as far away as Singapore, to Nova Scotia. thew's Lutheran Church in Roblin. They also visited David's grandmother and family in Spiritwood, Saskatchewan.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rodgers of Surrey, B.C. were recent guests of the Loughheed relatives in Loughheed. They also visited Raymond Roger's sister, Nellie Horvick in the Kilian Auxiliary Hospital.

Ethelyn and Ken Leslie have returned to their home out in Edmonton after spending the past three weeks with the Loughheed family in the Sedgewick and Loughheed area.

Mr. Jimmy Aldridge of the Flanagan Lodge spent two or three days in the Loughheed home this past week.

Mrs. Edna Duffield is in the Kilian Hospital, and Mrs. Betty Kirkman in the Dayland Hospital. We wish you both a speedy recovery. Also, this goes to others that are in hospitals or at home that are not too well.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Shoberg attended the Shell Lake Saskatchewan School Reunion last week. Hans's brother, Jack Smith, and his wife, were there too, from Nova Scotia, so they came on to visit Marie and Hans for a few days, also their son, Gary from Edmonton. They are going to the mountains for a couple days before returning to Nova Scotia.

The Ernie Cookson residence was a very busy place the first part of July with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Newman of Vancouver, B.C. Robert and Alton Coughlin, Sherrin; Doug Coughlin and his sister, Doris and families visiting them.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Smith and families have four Smith cousins from Olan, Norway visiting them for a month. The families are on the go taking their tour around places of interest, also visiting relatives.

Happy vacation to all. Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Wylie and Lionel attended the Eckville Homecoming on the weekend of July 3. Ernie and Lionel were on the Wylie staff which had nine brothers, sisters and their husbands and wives on it. The Wylies were the early settlers there. It was something to see nine out of 11 of them in the parade. The eldest was around 85 and the youngest, 71.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moden of Dawson Creek were visiting Mrs. Moden's brother, Mr. Corneil Gundersen in the Lodge. They came down to Loughheed to have a visit with Ellen Anderson. They were on their way to a reunion of the Gundersen family in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Gundersen did not go. The town got busy this past week and bulldozed the old Three Star Garage down at the back of the hotel. The late Mr. John Barthel owned it many years ago.

Mrs. Graham Deaton is a daughter of the late John Barthel. Now I think it would be a very good deed if the last-of-the-hundred yard was knocked down and cleaned up around there. It would make a lot look a lot better around on that corner too.

Loughheed Ball Tournament Betty Walsh The Loughheed Ball Tournament was a good one, none of them going more than five minutes in the first game. Killam beat Car 13 to 3. The second game saw Loughheed take care of Viking 13 to 2.

Preston won over Sedgewick 8 to 1 in the next game and received a bye into the final. So Killam and Loughheed met in the semi-final with Killam emerging the victors 13 to 2.

In the final Preston overcame Killam 8 to 0, so won top prize money. Some thunder, lightning and a little rain helped the start of the final but the conditions were fine for baseball.

The June meeting of the All Saints A.C.W. of Loughheed was held at the home of Genevieve Beaton with president Marc Martin in the chair.

Meeting opened with members prayer and then Sandra Hoeselack read the devotional.

Secretary-Treasurer Rosemary Kampen read the minutes of last meeting and it was decided to continue to buy a bible a month to be sent where needed.

We discussed our 70th anniversary of the church in 1983, to be celebrated at the same time as Loughheed Homecoming.

The treasurer's report was then read and dealt with. Two ladies contributed to the birthday box. Rosemary Kampen won the hostess prize.

Next meeting to be held at the home of Jean Hephworth on July 15th. Meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer. The hostess, Genevieve, served a most delicious lunch.

Best wishes to the Village of Loughheed.

Most everyone is aware of, is trying to fight, fairy rings. This is a fungus disease which may be from 1 inch to over 1 foot in depth in the soil. Two colored mushrooms grow along the outer edge of the rings, especially noticeable in fall, or a wet summer.

The fungus lives on organic matter and creates a band in the soil preventing water penetration and aeration. This leads to dehydration and death of the grass.

As the fungus spreads out, the centre dies and grass can regrow.

There is no known effective and simple chemical control procedure. Suppression is more practical than eradication. This can be accomplished by some of the following steps:

1. Pierce the soil repeatedly with a fork closely in and around the edges of the ring to a depth of 8 inches or more. This is intended to allow water penetration through the fungus mat, or

2. Punch holes 4 to 1 inch in diameter - 3 inches apart, to over 1 foot depth along the ring, or

4. Water the affected areas frequently every two days during dry weather, and continue this schedule for a month or more during the warmer months. Maintain a regular fertilizer schedule with a complete supply of nitrogen.

This will not eliminate the fungus but may prevent dead patches of grass.

Proposed Storm Sewer

An approval has been received from Local Authorities Board to advertise our By-law to construct storm sewer along 48 St. (Lander's). This is the last opportunity to do this project, which was started 20 years ago, as the pavement is already torn up from installing the water system.

This storm sewer line will effectively drain main street, the low area on 48th Ave. (Railway) and pick up surface water from all Avenues going north on 48th Street thereby eliminating the small rivers flowing across the streets at the lower end during heavy rains and in the springtime.

If this storm sewer is not put in at this time, much money will have to be spent to give surface drainage to 48th Ave. (Railway) which would only add more water to the already overfilled surface drains.

If all streets are repaired, without storm sewer, drainage, and sometime in the future, this was desired, the cost at that time would be three times as much.

The Town of Sedgewick has hired eight students and a working supervisor under the 1981 S.T.E.P. Program to work for the months of July and August.

Sedgewick news

Betty Walsh
The Ken Schampney family returned at the weekend from the lake country around Deerway where they had spent several days. They found the lakes and campsites terribly crowded. Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Palla were in Viking to attend the sixty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Amy Sparrow. Being contemporaries with the Pylkes and having known them for so long the Palla's were invited to sit at the head table with them. They found the Pylkes very fit and able and enjoyed the occasion with them.

Sedgewick Oilers bowed out eight to one to the Pylkes in the Loughheed Baseball Tournament on Sunday in the game played at 3 p.m. Corporal and Mrs. Dale Djos and children of Port Huron have left after spending just over a week with his mother, Mrs. Minnie Djos, and of course, their Clarence Barwell and children of Burns Lake, B.C. and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mader and children of Beaumont. On Sunday, the Hagens and their visitors all had an enjoyable time touring Port Huron.

At the Tom Sparrow home, dining and sitting at the Homecoming are Dick (Fred) and Dot Sparrow, Len and Sandra Harbough, Gerrie and Gladys Whitford, all of Edmonton, Ernie and Helen Bouchard (nee Horton) of Watrous, and Don and Betty Hall and Earl Hall and children of Port Huron and Gordon and Pat Peterson of Oda.

Another couple seen at Homecoming were Mr. and Mrs. Bill McArthur of Edmonton. It was this really long-headed news but anyone who has spent time in the Killam Hospital will be interested to hear that a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thelma Cookson (nee Lindal Barwell) at the Cacore Hospital on Saturday, July 10th. Warren George weighed six pounds, ten ounces. Congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Margaret Djos at the Homecoming. They are from Lloydminster. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sparrow spent the weekend at Shoncliffe Lake at Car, with grandchildren, Trevor, Carla and Kelly. Missed mentioning a couple more folk Mr. Barry Hopkins of Edmonton and Mrs. Arlene Knutson (nee Hopkins) of Carleton Place. Still being after attending the Homecoming are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Braden of Edmonton. They have purchased the Clare Leslie farm and will be spending time here in the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Andy Braden of Wainwright and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Braden of Tofino, B.C. also took in the festivities.

Visiting at the George Hagens home on Saturday were Maudie's sisters and sister-in-laws, Mrs. Minnie Djos, and of course, their Clarence Barwell and children of Burns Lake, B.C. and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mader and children of Beaumont. On Sunday, the Hagens and their visitors all had an enjoyable time touring Port Huron.

At the home of Mrs. May Nordstrom and her mother, Mrs. James were Mr. and Mrs. Edna Nordstrom from Carleton Place. They visited relatives and took in the Homecoming.

Sedgewick news

More folk here for the special days. Mrs. Kate Tait's children, Lorne and Joyce, Edwin and Vicki, Terry and Evelyn and Mrs. Marlene Blume. After taking in the art party on Wednesday with their sister, Mrs. Regina Storhobben, her guests, Mrs. Rose Cheney, Mrs. Jane Green and Mrs. Edna Tait returned to Edmonton on Thursday with Mr. Lindsey Treton. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Koell were in Edmonton over the weekend with their son, Brian and his wife, Diane. Mr. and Mrs. George Muesch (nee Eileen Armstrong) and daughters from Calgary spent the weekend at the home of her parents, the George Jervoy's. Sorry if I'm hard to get hold of for the next few weeks, but we're taking off today (Monday) for a few days with Jim and Zona at Shalston Lake. The next week we hope to take off again on Monday or Tuesday. So sorry we could be appreciated at the end of the week. Please just ring the Community Press 364-3434 if you can't get me. Should have said that the birth of Warren Cookson adds to Mrs. Elsie Cookson's list of great grandchildren. How many is it now, Mrs. Cookson?

Here for the big celebration and staying on for a vacation at the home of his parents, are Mr. and Mrs. Duane Freeman and children of Langley B.C. His parents being Mr. and Mrs. Edna Freeman. Also visiting with Irene's mother, Mrs. Agnes Carlson and other relatives and friends. Visitors at the Earl McGowan's were daughter,

Legislature Report

Farmers and government should pay more for grain transportation

Kevin Peterson and Gerald White of the Calgary Herald
The provincial government is still treating the Crow freight rate question with kid gloves even following a special Conservative Party policy conference on agriculture in Red Deer in early July.
Premier Peter Lougheed has given general approval to the overall direction of the Gilson Crow study that recommends that farmers and the federal government pay the railroads more for transporting grain.
But Lougheed has avoided taking a specific stand on whether farmers or the railways should receive "Crow benefit" subsidies from federal coffers even though Gilson advised that initial payments to the railroads gradually be shifted to producers.
The points that the premier made loud and clear at the conference, however, were that the farmers must be guaranteed that the railways will make major improvements to their system and the federal government must be prepared to carry the bulk of the cost despite a current $19.5 billion projected deficit.
Gilson's study shows that the federal government may be called on to contribute $1.5 billion in railway subsidies by 1984 if the railways averages 10 per cent over the next four years. Gilson has suggested that the federal government fork over $444 million this year alone to cover the difference between the number of subscribers, then actual costs to the railways of shipping grain.
If the railways' position on the Crow is still somewhat unclear, farmers have reason to be angry about the government's stand on the surface rights question and its announcement of the final financing package of the Prince Rupert grain terminal.
At first, programs from TV in Edmonton would be offered, followed by a service from CHCH-TV Hamilton, providing a great variety in Canadian programming, plus many series seen on CBC and American networks, stated Mr. Church, Killam, a delicious porkchop supper was enjoyed by approximately 150 relatives in the Legion Hall.
On Sunday, July 11, after the 10:15 a.m. Mass in Killam, the relatives gathered once again for a delightful brunch in the Legion Hall where were remodeled over past experiences beyond everyone's wish back to their homes.
Sister Ferdinelle and family wish to thank each and every relative who participated in making this weekend a perfect event celebrated in St. Joseph.

Calvin Hogg wins Hardisty North American Chariot Championship

Hardisty North American Pony Chariot Championship was held July 9, 10 and 11.
70 chariots and 33 wagons were entered. They came from all over Alberta and three outfits from Saskatchewan.
The competition was pretty stiff and there were many heats with only a few hundredths of a second separating the first from the last guy across.
After three days running the winners of the Charlot Championship for the second year in a row was Calvin Hogg of Sedgewick with a total time of 179.28.
Second place was won by Bob Isaac of Melfort, Saskatchewan with a time of 181.83. Third went to Curtis Hogg, Sedgewick, with a time of 183.49. Fourth was won by Ed Buchmeier of Exshaw with a time of 183.85. Fifth place was won by Chuck Joiner of Melfort with a time of 184.60.
Sixth place was won by Ron Byrd of Sherwood Park with a time of 184.60.
Wagons 1st place went to John Rodaschuk of Medicine Hat. Second to Don Johnson of Mayerthorpe, third to Roger Kamel of Camrose, fourth to Dan Johnson of Mayerthorpe, fifth to Ray Adamson of Camrose, and sixth to Mary McKillop of Sedgewick.

Sedgewick offered satellite T.V.

Sedgewick and immediate areas could have satellite television by early September, providing a sufficient number of subscribers sign up for the service before August 15th.
While American channels would not be part of the initial package, the hope was expressed that these channels would be available before year's end.
Making the presentation before a crowd of about 50 persons signing up by August 15th, will be provided with the necessary decoder for $125, but after that time, the cost would be $40. Persons wishing to subscribe to the service are asked to contact Les Berg at Sedgewick Hall and Insurance.
Minors collected will be held in trust by the Chamber of Commerce, and should there be an insufficient number of subscribers, then actual costs to the railways of shipping grain.
Describing the proposed terminal, Mr. Dragan said that if the required 250 subscribers had been achieved by August 15th, the service could be on the air by early September.
At first, programs from TV in Edmonton would be offered, followed by a service from CHCH-TV Hamilton, providing a great variety in Canadian programming, plus many series seen on CBC and American networks, stated Mr. Church, Killam, a delicious porkchop supper was enjoyed by approximately 150 relatives in the Legion Hall.

Sister Ferdinelle and family wish to thank each and every relative who participated in making this weekend a perfect event celebrated in St. Joseph.

Sister Ferdinelle celebrates 50th Jubilee

On Saturday, July 10, 4 p.m., Rev. Victor Perron celebrated the Mass of Thanksgiving for the 50th Jubilee of Sister Ferdinelle Klammer, S.D.S., who is visiting her six sisters and other relatives here.
Present for the family reunion were relatives from Killam, Strome, Red Deer, Calgary, Black Diamond, Edmonton, Sherwood Park, and Dryden Valley of Alberta; Kelowna, Smithers and Surrey, B.C.; Clarkson, Idaho and Spokane Washington.
After the beautiful liturgy celebrated in St. Joseph's, the relatives gathered for a delicious supper at the Legion Hall. The service was presided over by Rev. Victor Perron.

Killam Trade Fair cancelled

A proposed trade fair for the Killam area which would have been the first, has been cancelled.
"Perhaps the economy had more bearing, and also the timing," commented a spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce, which is expected to take place about 1983 a.m.

"REALLY, PHILIP, DON'T YOU FEEL BOILING OIL ON THE PARADE? IS A TRIFLE MUCH?"

Letters to the Editor

1990 Byrna Road, Kelowna, B.C.

The Editor, Community Press, Sedgewick, Alberta.

Dear Sir: We wish to send heartfelt congratulations to all those responsible for organizing and conducting Sedgewick's Homecoming 92. With true pride pioneer spirit and courage they rose above weather and catastrophes such as the collapse of the quarry, to produce a most successful weekend.

We know how disappointed the members of the committee must be that the weather did not co-operate, and that so many of the programs planned had to be scrapped. But, for us who came from a distance, it was a most enjoyable time.

Everyone was so friendly, so happy in spite of the problems, and the events which went ahead were so well planned and so good.

As a former member of the RCAF, I believe that the citizens of Sedgewick should be allowed to adopt the RCAF motto, "Per Ardua ad Astra" Through tough, testings times to star-

The spirit which enabled the people of Sedgewick today to carry the Homecoming to a successful conclusion in spite of problems reflects the spirit of those who pioneered in the district and carried on in spite of weather, depression, crop failures etc. and established the community which with genuine pride celebrated its 75th anniversary.

The "Sedgewick Sentinel" is a magnificent production. The committee which worked on and produced that deserves a special vote of thanks.

Just one minor error in the book, p. 543, the picture is of our parents, Edna and Felicia Snowball. The reproduction of the old pictures throughout the book is magnificent.

Sincerely yours, Percy and Betty (Snowball) Gen Jack and Reba Snowball Frank and Stella Snowball P.S. 1990 will be the diamond jubilee - will there be another homecoming?

TV is saviour of pro sports

Is the big-time sports bubble going to burst?

Astronomical salaries, millions of dollars for endorsements, that's the reward sports heroes such as Wayne Gretzky, Gary Carter, Reggie Jackson, Warren Moon and Bobby Smith have forged out for themselves because of their athletic abilities.

And to accommodate, these athletes, prices of tickets have taken a boost, hockey tickets, in Edmonton, for instance.

Part of the answer is the power of television: lucrative television contracts have been extended to even the Canadian Football League and one U.S. network is setting up its own football league.

While the magnetic force of a Gretzky demands unbelievable financial considerations, the owners are confronting players with their own invention - free agency - and some of those, particularly in hockey, may go wanting. That is one way of cutting down the payroll.

An example is Minnesota's Bobby Smith. Granted he is a super star, but general manager Lou Piniella chose to let him find a better offer elsewhere.

The reason? There are many up-and-coming stars who will don a uniform for a much smaller sum.

But is the market becoming saturated with too many teams? The answer appears to be "yes." Several NHL hockey franchises have been or are in trouble, for example the Colorado Rockies, which were transferred to Mesa, Arizona, New Jersey and the Washington Capitals and Pittsburgh Penguins are floundering.

We have to look no further than our own back door, to see that Edmonton Drillers soccer team will fold at the end of this season. And now even the Edmonton Trappers baseball club appears to be in trouble.

The major league Chicago White Sox which supply the bulk of their players are looking for an affiliate closer to home. Why? Because they want to sell the games to a sports network.

Further proof that to be a successful franchise, ingredients required are, 1. possessing a super star or two; 2. having a winning record; 3. a dry-in-the-mud following, and most important of all, a lucrative television contract.

The National Football League apparently is in a position where each team receives enough money from television, it doesn't care about fan support, but that doesn't apply to baseball.

Many of us, whether we like to admit or not, are war worshippers and watching the "superstars" on television fills a void in our life, therefore, T.V. sports has a large "built-in" audience.

While pro sports may experience a decline due to economic conditions, television will be its saviour.

This contest is open to any teenage boy in the province in view of encouraging craftsmanship. Wilkies laterwood who lives at Strone, was junior second in Woodcraft and Melchior.

At Richardson Bros. in Sedgewick, you got a real thrill driving the new Ford V-8. Faster, more powerful and more comfortable than your fondest hopes. Smooth, quiet, eight cylinder performance - with typical Ford economy. All this for less than a few $778 and up.

A very destructive hail storm about eight or ten miles north of Strone ruined crops of E. Cass, G. Crumpton and H. Reeder and other farmers also suffered heavy losses.

48 Years Ago Crop Report: Crops are developing satisfactorily under favorable growing conditions. Rain has been received in central and northern areas and moisture conditions are generally good. Wheat is heading rapidly and growth of coarse grains is favorable. Scattered hail losses are reported but the acreage destroyed is not large. The sugar beets are doing well. Kilian Stampedie, which was held last Wednesday, was a success. The crowd was large and the prize was given to a team that gave them a push to get started.

28 Years Ago Ninety one Hardisty voters turned out to the poll on July 19 to vote 85 per cent in favour of the money bylaw to borrow $40,000 to be used in paving several blocks of the street in the town. Of the 91 who voted, 87 were in favor, 4 against none spoiled. It is expected that the preliminary arrangements will be completed in a short time, allowing work to be completed before the cold weather.

At P. Crop Report: In the southwestern part of this area showers and fair rains have maintained good moisture conditions. Crop prospects are good but warm dry weather is needed to bring them to maturity.

At W.J. Cumberland and Son in Sedgewick, men's short sleeved sport shirts are priced from $13.95 to $15.95.

Flagstaff County now has a municipal library board to further and improve the library services to its rural residents.
On Friday, July 23 at 1:30 p.m., in the county council chambers, the organizational meeting of the County of Flagstaff Municipal Library Board took place. Bonnie Gray from Alberta Library Services was on hand to lead much needed guidance. Appointed to the board are the following rural residents:
Glen Miller, county councillor, Alliance;
Barbara Gibb, County councillor, Killam;
Muriel Jones, Galtah;
Verlene Spady, Alliance;
Irene Crawford, Forestburg;
Jackie Cashish, Dryden;
Shelia "Tastin", Lougheed;

Verna Armitage, Sedgewick; Bonnie Friedrich, Killam.
These appointees are people interested in libraries living in rural areas surrounding towns with municipal or community libraries.
The new county library board would like to thank those libraries for having extended their services to our rural residents in the past. Now we look forward to working with these library boards and helping to improve some of the burdens under which they have been laboring.
Rural residents would you like your town to do for you? The new County of Flagstaff Municipal Library Board needs your thoughts and ideas. Please contact one of the board members listed above and communicate your interest to him or her. This board is here to work for you.

Legislature Report Leadership convention called Goof White and Kevin Petersen of the Calgary Herald
Gordon Keeler appeared the front-runner for the Western Canada Concept (WCC) leadership after the party managed to forge a tentative unity at its Red Deer convention.
The party voted overwhelmingly to call a leadership convention for August 31, quashing a bid to hold the race only after the next provincial election.
Party delegates argued that the province's voters must know who the WCC proposes as premier if the party is to have credibility in the election campaign.
Former Scored Howard Thompson, brother of former national Social Credit Leader, Robert Thompson and a key WCC organizer in the last year, also expressed caution over independence.
Thompson says efforts by West Western representatives to convince Ottawa to endorse Western grievances have not worked in the past. Independence may ultimately be necessary, he says.
Delegates to the convention endorsed a constitutional amendment saying "we believe independence is the only way for Westerners to realize self-determination." But they later backed a policy position that would give Ottawa "one last chance" to transform Canada's political institutions to give the West more clout.
While Keeler and Thompson reflect this cautious approach, Jack Ramsay, another declared candidate for the leadership takes a harder line.
A referendum on independence is the only way Alberta can stop Ottawa's encroachment on the provinces' powers, says Ramsay, an ex-RCMP officer who made national headlines in the '60's when he criticized the RCMP's par-colonial structure.
Keeler is generally considered a moderate on the independence question, favoring establishment of a "responsible free enterprise" government first. But he often projects a harder image, as he did when charging that the WCC had been infiltrated by supporters of international conspiracy.
The Olds-Didsbury MLA will know whether party members favor his style before he seeks re-election in his home riding of Highways.

An attempt to break into the Trachsel Store was made during the night of Monday, July 25. Three holes were bored in the door near the lock, but the burglars were frustrated in their attempt owing to a steel plate inside. Investigations are still being made. Some of the gardeners west of town have been almost destroyed by an army of small green striped worms. They have eaten all the leaves of the potato vines over the area they have travelled. Rain is badly needed in the Strone district. Late crops and gardens are beginning to suffer for lack of rain.

It was not letter day for modest Eric Marshall of daylight, winner of the Sunday Second District Award and the Edmonton Bulletin Trophy in connection with the 1981 Chapter of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild contest for construction of Modelcraft coaches. The presentation was made Wednesday by His Worship Mayor D.J. Knott. At W.J. Cumberland, in Sedgewick, John Watson gloves were priced from 40 cents to $1.45.

The crop report for Alberta is: crop prospects are more promising than for several years. Moisture is abundant except in the eastern areas, where good rains are now needed to prevent deterioration. While crops are ten days later than average, all grain shows a thick stand and a large percentage is headed. Hay damage is limited. Savely late-harvest is heavy in some areas.

A gathering of approximately 500 people at the St. Mary's Home on Sunday night, July 17, 1972, at St. Mary's Home, was held to raise money for the St. Mary's Home. The St. Mary's Home is a residential home for the elderly. The St. Mary's Home is a residential home for the elderly.

What a lot of money! How could something as simple as soap be of such importance in keeping us well? Dr. Weaver may have overestimated his case, but on reflection there is a lot of truth in his statement. Soap was right when he said dirt and grime harbour germs, and there is a direct relationship between cleanliness and absence of disease.

Soap acts in several ways but its main action is to make water more effective as a cleansing agent. If we washed long enough and vigorously enough with plain water, we would eventually get clean. Soap merely expedites the process.

Both the original "fat and yep" soaps and the modern detergents act as wetting agents. They break down the surface tension of the water and allow it to penetrate the solid area - it is said the water not the soap, that does the cleaning. This is accomplished by progressive addition of the dirt or other foreign material.

It is easy to imagine how easily bacteria could be spread if hand to hand, dentist, hairdresser, etc., doctors, to name a few, did not have access to soap.

Ducks and sloughs

... both vanishing
When it comes to "progress," usually something has to be sacrificed. And throughout the Alberta countryside these days, it's nature that is paying the price.

It's bad enough that because of alkalinity, we have little or no fishing, and now the ducks are disappearing, thanks to man's determination to produce more food. In view of recent grain sales to Russian (with credit extended), many farmers are out to increase production. And Japan has let it be known for several months that it will take all of the canola or rapeseed that Canada's farmers can grow.

Higher yielding varieties can take up some of the slack, but with much better class land gobbled up by cities (e.g. Edmonton's annexation), agriculturists are turning to lower classes of land to replace lost acreage.

While the sloughs perhaps are a "pain" to farmers because ducks in particular remain until the grain is mature, then gorge themselves on the golden kernels, their removal cannot be the total answer. Perhaps if we lived south of the border, this wouldn't happen. In their wisdom, the U.S. agricultural department is paying farmers not to grow many types of cereal grains, because a quota system is in effect.

It is our understanding that the Alberta government, no less, is reimbursing farmers who are reclaiming sloughs. Naturalist groups, including many Iron Creek Fish & Game Club members, must be disturbed by this turn of events but you can lobby only so far. Many types of birds and animals can be a nuisance to farmers in particular, and the main goal of a farmer is to obtain the most results for his dollar spent.

Medically Speaking

Dr. Bob Young
The late Dr. Myron Watson, the first dean of a medical school at U.B.C., taught first year students their medical history. I remember one of his first lectures during which he asked the class to guess what discovery had been most important in keeping the population of the world healthy.

Our replies ranged from penicillin and the other antibiotics, the development of vaccines, the eradication of tuberculosis, and the invention of anaesthetics. In fact almost all of the medical "advances" of the previous 100 years were mentioned - and all, in Dr. Watson's opinion, were of minor importance.

"Soap," he said. "The use of soap does more than anything else in keeping people healthy."

What a lot of money! How could something as simple as soap be of such importance in keeping us well? Dr. Weaver may have overestimated his case, but on reflection there is a lot of truth in his statement. Soap was right when he said dirt and grime harbour germs, and there is a direct relationship between cleanliness and absence of disease.

Soap acts in several ways but its main action is to make water more effective as a cleansing agent. If we washed long enough and vigorously enough with plain water, we would eventually get clean. Soap merely expedites the process.

Both the original "fat and yep" soaps and the modern detergents act as wetting agents. They break down the surface tension of the water and allow it to penetrate the solid area - it is said the water not the soap, that does the cleaning. This is accomplished by progressive addition of the dirt or other foreign material.

Dear Sir:
I wish to thank the Homecoming Committee and the many volunteers who worked so hard to make the Sedgewick Homecoming event such that it was. Also, I would like to commend the Committee on the able way they handled the Saturday evening activities under adverse conditions. The Community Church Sunday morning was particularly meaningful to me, and helped make my Homecoming to Sedgewick a most memorable occasion.

News from the Anglican Church

Douma C. Martin
Welcome home to our co-ordinating canon. The good Rev. Richard spent several days last week on a fishing trip with Ray Rawcliffe. Now he's nursing the cold which has resulted from all that fresh air and fresh water.

Doreen Conrad, meanwhile, slipped away to Edmonton to welcome daughter Terry's new foster baby girl, and to help granddaughter Catherine celebrate her sixth birthday.

Shelia Tanton and the Tanton tribe are back after a holiday in Penikese, where they joined Shelia's sister Pat from Vancouver with her family.

Deepest sympathy to the family of Jerry Richardson, who passed away last week. His funeral was held at St. John's, Sedgewick Tuesday afternoon.

Guests with Theresa Tanton were her brother and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Chert Langford of Winnipeg. Also visiting the Tanton's have been Theresa's cousin Tommy Langford and family from Broken Bow, Nebraska.

Here for the homecoming was Mrs. Audrey Chiam, daughter of Mr. R.H. Mills, who once was in partnership with Fred Bearsto in the Mills and Bearsto Store. Mrs. Chiam, who stayed with Theresa Tanton, motored alone from her Victoria home to Sedgewick. She is 78 years old.

Spending some time with Theresa Tanton was daughter Marilyn Tutaklik and daughters of Chiam, Saskatchewan. The Greg Martin family and Lex Nosworthy spent a week with the Freshford Martins, while Greg and Lex graded examination papers. Greg, Douma and the kids also spent a few days in Edmonton with David and Wendy Eide, and found time to drop in on several sets of friends.

We express sympathy to the family of Mr. Jim Hamilton, who passed away Sunday in Dryden Hospital. The pastor was privileged to deliver the eulogy at Mr. Hamilton's funeral.

Ned Butcher, Owen Weber, and Bill Cookson are still in Killam Hospital. Do drop in and see them.

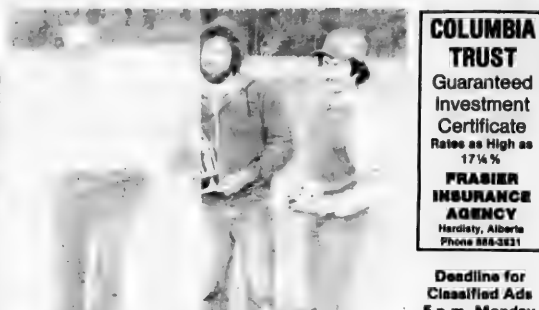

Edith Ward has been released from hospital and is vacationing with her niece and family at Pigeon Lake.

Stacey thanks to Pat Zwack for her tireless work in preparing the summer schedule of services.

Canon Conrad now reports he hopes to leave for a study visit to Nova Scotia on August 30th. But he cautions all to take special note of the word "hopes". It's not his mother's hope, too.

Mr. Erik Oksanen is a patient in Edmonton's Royal Alexandra Hospital, as is Mr. George Rawlins. We hope they can come home soon.

The new Cookson baby has received lots of press coverage. But we can't pass up the opportunity to welcome young Warren in this column too. He is the new son of Tom and Linda (Rawlins) Cookson, and he was born in Camrose hospital.

Vern Coates (left) presents the most valuable player award, donated by his farm V & V Ricefields, to Graeme Bevington of Fernburg Plains and Joe Spiller of Killam who tied for the honour.

Paving has started on the Killam - Sedgewick Airport.

Many visitors to Sedgewick tourist booth

"Bien"-that was the comment written in the register at the Sedgewick Information Centre by a visitor from Quebec.

Translated, that means the service provided by personnel at the Highway 13 booth was considered to be "good" and serves to typify their approach to visitors.

About 75 senior citizens of Sedgewick and area assisted in operation of the facility, in conjunction with the Battle River Tourist Association.

In its third year of operation, the information centre is adjacent to a service station, restaurant, picnic shelter and a picturesque windmill which provides tasteful water to weary visitors.

Even with the favourable exchange rate, Mr. Black pointed out there are 25 per cent more American visitors in Alberta.

On the other hand, he said many Albertans are taking their holidays in British Columbia, instead of travelling south of the border.

Of course, many Sedgewick homeowners visited the booth and there would have been many more had there been better weather, commented Mr. Black.

Among this year's visitors have been people from Louisiana, N.W.T., England, South Wales, Massachusetts, Florida, and across Canada.

Perhaps the comment of a Kimberley, B.C. visitor is most appropriate. It said "very friendly."

President Dave Black of the Sedgewick Senior Centre is proud of the recognition accorded the tourist facility, and the awards it has won.

Mr. Black said the booth received an honourable mention the first year, and last year won an overall award for the best non-government centre, also the government award.

"We're hoping to hold onto the award for the second straight year," comments Mr. Black.

There have been 500 registrations since the information booth opened June 12th, and probably many more before it closes on September 8th.

That means that at least a thousand people have made enquiries, estimates Mr. Black. Tourist information, maps and other items such as a list of upcoming events are among the materials provided free of charge.

A check of the registration sheets indicates that "lots of people from across Canada are travelling throughout Alberta, but there is a distinct drop in the number of American tourists."

Kids enrolled in the summer recreational program at Killam never have a dull moment. Ruffled Adventure Outdoors and Killam, it is held Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Activities include sailing, water skiing, and...

Many bargains at 'garage' sales

Garage sales are treasure troves of bargains and unusual finds. You can expect to pay half the retail price for such goods as china, vacuum cleaners and furniture. What's more, you may come across a long sought-after old lamp or vintage record that isn't available in the stores.

Shopping effectively at garage sales requires some organizing. Check the local papers for weekend sales in your immediate neighbourhood. Be early in arriving at the sale. You'll find that the best items, correctly priced, will go in the first hour of the sale.

And what about price? What should you expect to pay? Prices are usually affected by two factors: origin at retail price and supply and demand.

Radio, washing machines, and other goods currently available in stores are often priced at a percentage of their store price. A good rule of thumb is that any price over half the retail is too high, unless the item is especially exotic or antique.

Supply and demand affects most items pricing at garage sales. Toaster, dishes, clothing and basement junk are in such abundant supply that prices stay low. This, of course, is where the true bargains are.

Garage sales are one of the last bastions of the cash economy. Rarely do sellers take cheques, so be sure to take your wallet along. Garage sales are lots of fun - even if you don't buy. They are also a good way of stretching the family purse, while you are having fun.

Several causes for hoarseness of voice

By Dr. Bob Young

The voice may be described as hoarse, raspy, or scratchy. It may even be called seductive or sexy. Hoarseness appears in several forms and is a common symptom.

Usually the change in the voice is due to irritation or infection of the vocal cords. The commonest cause of this, by far, is an upper respiratory tract infection — a sore throat, cold, sinusitis, or similar malady.

Another is over-use of the voice. Singers, modelers, and emcees' vocal cords are subject to hoarseness.

Not infrequently the ability to talk disappears entirely. This means that the vocal cords are so swollen they cannot vibrate, and the person is unable to talk in a normal, or even a hoarse, voice. These unfortunate (and usually embarrassing) cases are able to whisper, as the whispered word does not require use of the vocal cords.

Hoarseness due to any of the above causes almost invariably gets better. Improvement is usually rapid if the infection is cleared or the voice is rested. There is no medical treatment that can, with confidence, be expected to speed the recovery.

For more worrisome hoarseness which does not improve within three or four weeks. Cancer of the larynx (where the vocal cords are located) accounts for about one percent of all cancer, as it is not rare. It is most common in men aged 45 to 50 who smoke and use alcohol.

If hoarseness lasts several weeks, prompt investigation is necessary as a tumor, if present, has been growing for that period of time.

The vocal cords can be inspected in the doctor's office using a mirror similar to those used by dentists. This is indirect laryngoscopy.

Sometimes the cords are not well seen, and some patients cannot be examined because they gag easily. In these instances direct laryngoscopy is done in the operating room.

A light instrument, with or without magnification, is used. A biopsy of the vocal cord abnormality can be obtained for later examination.

Several methods of treatment of cancer of the larynx are available. At the moment, the earlier the diagnosis is made, the greater the chance for cure.

LAST SESSION OF SWIMMING LESSONS FOR SUMMER

Alberta Callers

Alberta Callers: Fort Frances is a place where friendly is more than a word, 16 young Albertans learned last week during a 4-H exchange. This week 18 adventurous local youngsters are returning the visit, learning about life out west. The Albertans hailed from "around" the town of Killam, 18 miles south-east of Edmonton. Nobody in Alberta says kilometre they claim. Furthermore, "any spread lucky enough to have a few head of cattle is a ranch not a farm." Engaged in a spirited but amiable debate over "the handsomest place in Canada" are, from left, front, Shelley Witherspoon of Devlin, Shelley Wepark of Fort Frances, Cheryl Station of Hanna, Alberta, Dorothy Dipe of Sedgewick, Alberta, Kathy Morrish and Susan Meyers both of Devlin, and, rear, Dean Kalndorfer and Lee Wilson both of Killam, Alberta.

Sedgewick Social Notes

Desty Walsh

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Erickson with Stephanie and Christopher at Wild 'n' Wet at Westbank. They were enjoying a holiday in the Kelowna district. Also met Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mayne who were at the same place. They were holidaying in the vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Miller and children of Calgary arrived here on Friday to spend awhile with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rod MacKinnon. On Monday they all went to the Don MacKinnon home at Loughheed to celebrate Jeffrey Miller's 14th birthday.

Happy birthday to Mrs. Ada McGee who was 96 years old on Monday, August 2nd.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Andersen and Jill spent the weekend in Calgary with Ervin Truss. They also visited Heritage Park, Calgary Park and other points of interest.

Mrs. Anna Sobok and boys of Edmonton spent Sunday evening visiting the Sven Andersen family. In the swimming pool at Fernmont Hot Springs, we met former Sedgewick residents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Christensen (see Lillian Caruth) who were holidaying there along with their children. Mr. Leonard Maerts of Roebourne is spending a week at the home of his brother and family, the Crest Maerts.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hagen and children were in Calgary over the weekend where they spent an enjoyable day at Calgary Park. They also visited Eric's grandparents, the Misses Margaret, Mary and Kay Ukraini.

Irene and Peter Schmitt of Edmonton are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Erickson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walsh and Mrs. Hardy, along with Mrs. Mary Grant Blom and children of Heiler returned home on Thursday evening from a ten day vacation. They spent a night at Banff, then one at Stony Mountain, B.C., then at Westbank, B.C., back to Fernmont Hot Springs for a couple of days, and then to Banff and so back home.

It rained all the first day and the second, and it was a bit of a disappointment but from then on the sun shone and it was just what the doctor ordered. The only trouble was the mosquitoes. They were as bad in parts of B.C. as they are in Alberta.

Lougheed News

Wolfe, Holland were here with Pauline's parents, the Ernie Wyles. They were very busy getting the garden vegetables ready for freezing.

We have a very special portrait issued town which is not a very pleasant smell. It seems as though the stinks are very popular here. In evenings there has been as many as eight of them going down the one back alley and five in another place. Also they are on the door steps of people's houses. There was no on Coast's lawn in the afternoon this past week. So don't you think there should be something done?

Roberta Riddoch and Wilbur were down to Hardisty on Sunday at Bernice Tillman's home to help Mrs. E. White celebrate her 80th birthday.

Roberta Riddoch spent a few days in Edmonton visiting her grandson, Kelvin Acres in the Royal Alexandra Hospital. Also she had a few days camping at Lake Wabozon with her family. Mr. and Mrs. Rumbert returned home with her for a few days.

Mr. D. Derrugh from Perdue, Sask. spent a few days visiting her son, Hugh Derrugh and family, also taking in the opening of Village Town Office and Library with Premier Peter Lougheed in attendance. She also was here fifteen years ago when Lougheed had the opening of its Centennial Sports Grounds with Peter Lougheed here. Her comment was "I wouldn't miss it for anything."

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Truss, along with Marie's mother, Mrs. Boyd who had been staying with the Truss's for a couple of weeks, spent the weekend in Banff, Alberta. They returned home with Marie's sister and her family.

The ladies' workshop in Two Jack Lake Park in Banff is not a place where you expect to meet any folk you know, but when I walked in a couple of weeks ago, there was Mrs. Marilyn Maerts and daughter, Susie. The family, Crest, Marilyn and children, were enjoying a camping holiday in the Rockies. They visited relatives in Calgary and Lacomb on the way home.

Hardisty Happenings

Canon With
Get well wishes go to Fred at the hospital in the Hardisty Hospital. Congratulations to Jackie and Craig Alamy who were married in the Catholic Church on Saturday, July 31.

On Monday, July 26, a floral arrangement course was held at the Drop-In Centre. This was hosted by the Garden Club and featured Bernice Rands as the main instructor. It was an all-day session with the morning hours taken up with flower arranging and the afternoon for preparing flowers for exhibition in vases and flower boxes. Tips were also given on preserving blooms for show. Following a potluck dinner the floral arrangement procedures were given. The persons attending found this to be a most informative course.

Sympathies are extended to the relatives and friends of Ben Benfield who passed away after a lengthy illness. Sympathies also are extended to relatives and friends of the Reber family in the recent passing of Lee and Bessie Reber of Valleyview. Lee Reber died June 21 at the age of 74 and his wife, Bessie passed away three weeks later on July 13 at the age of 67. Lee was a brother of Clarence Reber who lived around Hardisty most of his life. Lee and Bessie farmed north of Hardisty for some time and lived and worked in various locations around Hardisty before leaving.

ing this area in the late fall. Hardisty Lake Park was certainly well used over the long weekend. The weather co-operated for an almost perfect camping weekend. Many campers also visited in some form or another.

As you can tell I wrote that last item in the middle of the day on Sunday. By the middle of the night Sunday, a very heavy rain and thunderstorm had totally changed the scene, and Monday proved rainy and cool. With the noise the rain made on the roof of my house in the night, I can imagine it was a little bit daunting on the roof of a tent or camper.

Taxpayers are flexing their muscles

Taxpayers are becoming more and more conscientious in dealing with issues that might adversely affect them, whether it be on the national, regional, county or local level.

In these tough economic times, citizens are disenchanted with almost anything of a political thing, particularly policies that at best are peaceable in content.

For Albertans, the effect of the National Energy Program has been devastating, throwing thousands into the unemployment line, and causing many of the service companies to declare bankruptcy. This is one of the major reasons why an Edmonton professional has set up a Pierre retirement fund in which persons are asked to contribute $10 apiece towards an early demise for Pierre.

However there is only one thing wrong with such a novel idea. Because the Liberals have such a large majority in Parliament, the only way that Pierre can be unseated is through the democratic process—at the polls and he doesn't need the money.

Here in Alberta, persons fed up with the Lougheed and federal brand of politics, have set out to form their own parties in order to down the "giants." Certainly the emergence of the Western Canada Concept Party has caused Premier Lougheed to make himself much more available to the public.

From a county point of view, residents of Flagstaff banded together to protest the possible establishment of a hazardous waste plant in the county, an effort which ended successfully.

Now that the hazardous waste scheme in the County of Beaver has subsided somewhat, the council of the Town of Ryley has submitted a proposal to the ministry of environment, and a plebiscite is to be held. We hear, however, that many opponents to the hazardous wastes plant proposal, are closely monitoring the Ryley situation, and haven't exactly put away their arsenal.

And Flagstaff taxpayers aren't taking lightly a 62 percent increase in taxes. In fact, a meeting has been called for Wednesday, August 18th in Sedgewick Community Hall. The question is asked: "have taxes gotten out of hand?"

Many area communities have issues which raise much controversy. In Heider, there are many strong views pro and con about the need for new municipal offices and fire hall, now under construction.

In Daysland, there are strong opinions both ways as to whether the present coal air system for area ice is sufficient, or perhaps artificial ice should have been invented. (Cost of upkeep for artificial ice was one argument against it).

Galadab is considering erecting a new curling rink and howling alley, and a new community hall has been suggested for Strone.

Whatever the issue, citizens should make their thoughts known to elected bodies. Even if the decision is against your own view, at least you have stood up and been counted.

Yesteryear

From the files of The Community Press

50 Years Ago
The continued dry hot weather is ideal for buying but is disastrous to the crops and particularly to the green feed crops and pastures.

The weed inspectors called on the Beaver district lately. A few years ago, every one was warned against the saw thistle and stink weed. Now the agitation seems to be greatest over the Canada thistle. However, no farmer wants his place infested with either, but we seem powerless to prevent the winds distributing seeds indiscriminately over the farms.

The inhabitants of Killam were startled early on Monday morning, August 1st by the fire alarm to find that the Presbyterian Church was being destroyed by fire. The local fire department responded very rapidly to the alarm, but were unable to check the blaze, which had a good start. The edifice was valued at $6000 and covered by insurance.

40 Years Ago
The new report in Alberta reported that moisture is adequate, except in southern areas and parts of the Peace River district. Warm, dry weather is now required. Heavy damage is being done by the drought. Heavy crops are lodging and are active, which may militate against a good harvest. Fodder crops and coarse grains are excellent. Harvesting will be two weeks later than average and labor will be scarce.

30 Years Ago
A report from the former of Sedgewick, has obtained a commission as Pilot officer in the R.A.F. After two years ago and has been serving as a gunner and radio technician. He is one of our own boys who received his early tuition in the Sedgewick and Killam schools.

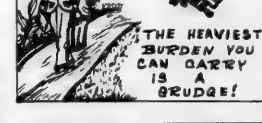

A hen owned by Mr. Ole Ness of Loughed, laid an egg which was shaped like a "Y". Not only that but the egg shell showed a very definite dash and three dots, as well as a clearly defined "Y".

The files are not available for this week as the press staff was on holidays. The press staff was on holidays, therefore the files are not available for this week.

25 Years Ago
The County of Flagstaff yields as many Indian relics as most areas in Alberta. An ancient pipe found by Jack Humphreys and another finding was a hammer which was two pieces found by Dave Bonar. Both were found on Jack and Dave's respective farms and brought into the Community Press office by a neighbour Ralph Savelle.

Last Thursday some 200 people from Loughed and area attended at the County office in Sedgewick in order to support a delegation of 25 people who appeared before the County School Committee to plan for rebuilding the Loughed School Gymnasium. In concluding the School Committee meeting, all the representatives were thanked. Therefore, a special school committee has been set in late August. After a one day postponement due to wet playing conditions, on Saturday morning, the Killam Lions tournament went ahead on Sunday and Monday. In the final encounter, which was 25 in all, saw the Loughed Oilers defeat Viking Shamrocks by a score of 16-11. Jerry Porter of Sedgewick was the most valuable player of the tournament and received a trophy from Jack's Shamrocks.

On July 26, Nettie Johnson ton left for Didsbury, with Edith and Wayne Bitzer, where they stayed for two nights with Don Bitzer. On Friday they left for Coleman where they attended Nettie's granddaughter's wedding on July 31. This was Nettie's son Harry's daughter. The wedding was in Hillcrest and was the first wedding in the new Mormon Church there. This was followed by a reception and dance. After the wedding, Edith and Wayne continued on through BC, for holidays while Nettie returned to Castor with Marv and Reiny Griebel.

On August 1 weekend, members of the Price family gathered at the home of Russell and Vera Morris, for their first reunion on Vera's side of the family. By Sunday about 40 guests had arrived from Vancouver, Coquitlam, England, Fort Smith, N.W.T., Castor, Erskine, Camrose and Edmonton when all enjoyed a delicious barbecue. All reported a most enjoyable time as they departed for their respective homes Monday morning in the pouring rain.

On July 31, six tables of whist were played at Hardisty Drop-In Centre. The winners were Beasie Mazure and Isabel Nelson and the losers were Gertie Terry and Paul Mazure. The next whist party will be August 14 at 8 p.m.

Contributes to WIN House

All Saints A.C.W. of Loughheed met for their July meeting at the home of Mrs. Hepworth. The meeting opened with the members' prayer, and was followed by the devotional, read by Marie Peters. Jean offered to read the next devotional at our meeting in August. Verona Cookson then gave a reading on "Volunteers" from the C.N.B.I. paper, which we all appreciated and enjoyed.

Rosemary Karpen read the minutes of the last meeting, and business arising from these was discussed. The treasury report was read and dealt with.

Marie contributed to the birthday box. Church cleaners were picked for August and September. All members brought gifts suitable for WIN House.

Marie Peters invited us to her house for the August 18th meeting.

Genevieve Beaton won the hottest prize, the meeting closed with "Lord's Prayer". Hostess Jean served a lovely lunch, and much laughter and fellowship followed.

Swimming is confidence builder for Palsy sufferer

Swimming has given 5 year old Micki Delany of Loughheed a feeling of independence which she has been unable to achieve out of the water.
A victim of cerebral palsy since birth, Micki attended Loughheed Kindergarten and was a member of the Loughheed Branch of the Palsy Sufferers' Association.

Interviewed at the Kilham swimming pool, Donna Delany said that her daughter could do as much as other youngsters enrolled in the pre-school class.
Micki has perfectly with her pool studies, according to a friend who was passing by, and displaying a confidence and poise that this activity has given her.

Brother Murray is a good swimmer, and mother Donna is trying to catch up, now that she has conquered her fear of the water.
Micki also takes part in the handicapped class with about 15 others, but was told that there are many handicapped children in the area that could be swimming seasons at the Kilham pool.

About 150 persons have been participating in the third set of lessons this summer, at various levels. There were about 130 enrolled in the each of the other two sets.

This year's provincial band was closed only on Wednesday however four deposits were made on the main street as RCMP officers attempted to locate the band.

Mrs. Loeach stated that the counter had been moved and books in it had been placed in a new site. She said that nothing was touched in filling cabinets, including form boxes.
Another odd incident was left untouched.

At last report, the truck was still standing but the safe had been located blown open, and the contents removed. Manager Pat Loeach said

Government puts hiring on hold

David White and Kevin Peterson of the Calgary Herald
The economic recession has now hit not only the Alberta government's pay-roll but also its hiring office.
While the province is not laying off employees yet - a situation being considered in other provinces and some municipalities in Alberta - the Loughheed administration is looking for "unnecessary" positions which can be eliminated.

Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Julian Kocak says that every vacant position - both those vacated by employees and new jobs authorized by cabinet but not yet filled - will be reviewed to make sure it is really necessary.

The main reason, Kocak says, is that migration into Alberta has come to a sudden halt, reducing demand for government services and ending a lengthy period where civil service expansion was simply an assumed certainty.

In the first three months of 1982, migration into Alberta dropped by 40 per cent from previous year's levels. While 20,000 more people came to Alberta than left it during the first three months of 1981, this net migration was only 8,000.

While the jobs rate is high compared to previous figures in Alberta, it is considered to be a slight decline, reducing demand for government services and ending a lengthy period where civil service expansion was simply an assumed certainty.

Alberta's jobless rate jumped to 8 per cent in June, up from 7.8 per cent in July. The province's major cities again showed higher figures than the rest of the province, with Calgary reporting an 8.7 rate while Edmonton stood at 8.3 per cent.

While the jobs rate is high compared to previous figures in Alberta, it is considered to be a slight decline, reducing demand for government services and ending a lengthy period where civil service expansion was simply an assumed certainty.

Many Palsitall crops were damaged extensively during a Wednesday evening hail storm which followed a trajectory across Central Alberta, locally affecting an area from south of Galtland to Loughheed, and north and south of Hardisty, including Irma.

The area north of Loughheed was especially hard hit, with crop loss estimated at 100 per cent in some instances.

One field viewed was stripped to ground level, and the remaining crops were severely beaten down, causing some farmers to begin ploughing the crop down.

Hail storms about the size of walnuts were reported at Hardisty, covering the ground for a time. Despite the storm's intensity, only minor damage to buildings and autos was reported.

While out and repeated appeared to suffer the most damage, other crops also were hit.

The Sedgewick office of the Alberta Hail and Crop Commission reported that 110 claims had been received as of Monday. Fifteen of the claims were for what was described as "hail on top of hail."

In some cases, there was almost total destruction, while in adjoining fields was left standing.

Some of the crops had previously been ruined during a hail storm the night of July 30.

While many farmers did have hail insurance, the amount received will be in some instances just barely cover costs.

Pedlar Agencies at Hardisty were processing claims as early as Thursday as farmers sought to be the first to have their losses viewed by adjusters.

It is the policy that crops have to be seen by adjusters before the remainder is washed or ploughed under, as the case may be.

Thieves rob Strome Treasury Branch

Early last Wednesday morning, thieves made off with a safe from the Treasury Branch at Strome which was sub-branch at Strome which was closed at the time.

At last report, the truck was still standing but the safe had been located blown open, and the contents removed. Manager Pat Loeach said

Alberta Agriculture

TODAY AND TOMORROW

On the many issues the last again, fact farmers, how have the po-

As everyone involved with agriculture should know, the most recent from a ministerial commitment made last February by the federal Minister of Transportation to overhaul the Crow Rate is in the State-ment as it is officially

At that time the Honourable Jean-Luc Pepin committed the federal government to two significant measures: make up the current revenue shortfall from grain transportation now being shouldered by the railroads and enact new legisla-tion for restructuring grain trans-port, although the rates would still be set by the federal government according to a new formula.

The overhaul is warranted for a number of reasons. As has happened, remember the railroads' share of actual grain transport costs has fallen to less than 20% under the Crow-McGowan while the federal government has not been keeping up the revenue short-fall to the railroads.

As a result, the railroads have contributed to a fair extent to the deterioration in the grain trans-port system. Lower marketing op-portunities for Alberta and Western producers produce performance and service gains.

The Giltis meetings on grain freight rates, chaired by Dr. J.C. Giltis of the University of Manitoba, were the first of a series of major producer organizations and the railroads. The outcome of these meetings, the Giltis Report, was announced by Mr. Pepin on June 28th. Since then the report's findings and recommendations have been the subjects of widespread discussion.

Several items are worth highlighting. The total railway revenue shortfall should be set at $404 million for 1981-82. Payments to the railroads should be phased in gradually, increasing in 1982-83 and would reach $75 million by 1984-85 when government payments and higher freight rates would give the railroads full compensation.

However, a guarantee for the railway performance is still a critical concern of producers. The present of the Crow-Benefit will begin in 1982-83 with the railroads receiving the total amount. Thereafter, producers will receive an increasing share of the benefit to a maximum of 10% in 1985-86.

Producers would be responsible for up to 30% of annual cost increases. In 1983-84 and 1985-86, and thereafter up to 40% per year depending upon the rate of annual in-flation.

Farewell tea at Killam for Sister Justina

On a lovely summer afternoon, friends gathered for a farewell tea at McCarthy Hall, Killam, to bid farewell to Sister Justina, director of nursing at Killam General, and Auxiliary Hospital.

At 2 p.m. on July 27, Mrs. Helen Nikiforuk M.C. welcomed the guests in attendance and introduced the guest of honor, Mrs. Beale Schnettler presented Sister with a lovely bouquet and a gold C.W.L. spoon on behalf of the C.W.L.

Sister Justina has served faithfully and with selfless devotion for the last four years among the sick and elderly of the community. She will be returning to London to continue her care of the sick, and we deeply regret the loss of a kind and gentle friend and counsellor in time of sickness and health.

Many tributes were paid to Sister including an appropriate reading by Blanche McGowan entitled "What Is A Sister?"

A short humorous program was presented next, beginning with Helen Nikiforuk's special "Peanut Throw" performed with a mirror, a vase placed on a table, and several willing peanut throwers. The "special" interest was created by having each thrower stand with backs to the table, lining up the vase "year view" style using the mirror and tossing the peanuts gingerly over the shoulder and "into" the receptacle.

Though many managed to keep some peanuts at least on or near the table, only two made a direct hit into the vase. Prizes were awarded to "dead-eye" throwers, Hauser and Schmetter.

With Blanche McGowan as "Professor of Youth Restoration" a short skit entitled "How to Restore Youth" was performed by Rose Schulte, Beale Schnettler, and Helen Nikiforuk. The play demonstrated the amusing medical pro-grams which can be achieved with modern drugs and po-tions.

Given the McGowan ex-pertise restoring youth at different stages of aging - from a very old man to a middle aged housewife, was easily demonstrated.

A reading "Eulogies for a Little Girl in Church" by Helen Nikiforuk also proved entertaining.

Lunch consisted of colorful jellied salads on crisp let-tuce, and buttered buns, and refreshments, served by Chick Two, to bring the pleasant gathering to a close. Evelyn Kueber, C.W.L.

Hardisty Happenings

Grave Kells
A graveside constitutional service was held at the Hardisty Cemetery on August 9 for Jenny Alvira Herby (Larsen) of Lussland, Jenny and her husband, Martin Larsen came to Hardisty area to farm in 1918. Martin passed away in 1938. In 1941 Jenny moved to Lussland where she later married Tom Heiber, who passed away in 1976. Jenny's son, Stan Larsen is a resident of Hardisty. There have been many hall stores reported all around and Wednesday night we got our share.

The ground was white in town with the small marble stones, but in some of the rural areas, golf balls stoned were reported. In a lot of places damage was severe to crops and gardens. This loss is especially disappointing at this time of year, so close to harvest.

The annual flower show sponsored by the Hardisty Garden Club was held in the Drop In Centre on Tuesday afternoon. Despite the unfavorable season, a good showing of lovely flowers was presented. However, there were fewer entries than last year. Lunch was served to a goodly number who came to view the flowers - all in all, another satisfactory project.

Marion Elm has just returned from a month's visit with her grandson, Brent Williams in Nova Scotia. Her daughters, Cay Linden of Saskatoon and Claudia Williams and husband Bill of Leduc, went by plane while granddaughter, Karen and husband, Bruce Friebe, and three children went in a motorhome. They toured all over Nova Scotia, some of New Brunswick, then took the ferry and spent three days on lovely green Prince Edward Island. They enjoyed its beautiful beaches, also going to see the house of the author L.M. Montgomery, who wrote Anne of Green Gables books. They also saw the Green Gables House.

One 3-day trip was in Cape Breton on the Cabot Trail, where they toured the old fortress of Louisbourg, which is Canada's largest historical reconstruction project. Here buildings, yards, streets and gardens are restored to what they were in 1740. While in Nova Scotia, they attended Brent's wedding. Brent married Debbie Seegmiller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Seegmiller, the Anglican clergyman of Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, near Halifax. Congratulations to Debbie Hoffman and Ernie Dewar who were married on Saturday, August 14.

He attended the Hill Park school and later took over the farm, remaining there until his death, interrupted only by time spent overseas during the war.

In 1948, he married Hannah Bellon, formerly of Jarrov.

Bridal shower at Killam for Rose Hoffman

In honor of Rose Hoffman, a bridal shower was held in McCarthy Hall, Killam, on Thursday evening, August 5 at 8 p.m. Thirty-two friends and relatives were gathered at Mrs. Shelby Kueber, M.C. welcomed and seated the guest of honor and her attendants at the head table.

After presenting Miss Hoffman with a lovely fresh flower corsage, compliments of the C.W.L., Mrs. Kueber introduced the attendants: Mrs. of honor, Iva Jean Hoffman; bridesmaids, Iris Anderson and Nicole Shola and mothers, Mary Hoffman and Elaine Dewar.

Interesting details of Rose's school years at Killam Public and at Central High at Sedgewick; her future skating activities and teaching in Strume and Hardisty, and her present work as secretary/bookkeeper for H-Grade Feeders at Hardisty, were outlined.

Patty Spiller began the program by playing two live selections entitled "Romance" and "Sonatina". A game to "Guess the Skill of the Assistant" tested the skill of all present. Mrs. Karen Goka was able to guess as many as 18 items, of the total 30, and graciously presented her prize of "useful household items" to the bride-to-be.

Many lovely and useful gifts were presented to Miss Hoffman and displayed for the guests to view by the Misses Kim Shola and Susan Kueber.

Visiting relatives included Shirley, Kim and Nicole Shola from Santa Monica, California, and Doris Hoffman from Camrose. Also friends from Hardisty, Sedgewick and Strume were in attendance.

A lovely "bridal crown" was profusely bedecked with colorful streamers, ribbons and bows by Mrs. Mary Hoffman and modelled by the bride-elect. Miss Hoffman expressed her appreciation to the audience and welcomed all to the Open House and dance to be held August 14 at the Harasty Elks Hall.

The pleasant evening concluded with the serving of a delicious lunch of squares and coffee by the C.W.L. ladies of Circle One. Mrs. Evelyn Kueber, C.W.L.

Eric Oakes laid to rest

Eric John Oakes passed away on July 30th, 1982 in the Royal Alexandra Hospital, Edmonton.

He was born in Cheshire, England, April 5th, 1920 and immigrated with his family to Canada and a farmstead north of Lougheed in the year of 1928.

He attended the Hill Park school and later took over the farm, remaining there until his death, interrupted only by time spent overseas during the war.

In 1948, he married Hannah Bellon, formerly of Jarrov.

In 1941, he retired from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to pursue his love of fishing and travel.

Even then he was always "on call" to help a neighbour whenever needed, as he valued friendships very highly.

Services were held at St. John's Anglican Church, Sedgewick conducted by friend and comrade, Rev. Canon Richard Conrad.

Interment took place in the "Field of Honor", Lougheed Cemetery.

Eric was predeceased by his parents and one niece. He leaves to mourn his loss; his loving wife, Hannah; two brothers, and four sisters, numerous nieces and nephews and a host of friends and comrades.

Cord of Thanks
So many thanks to so many people for so many things. To the Hawick families and friends for making trips to the city possible. To the Sorrens for rubbing me to Eric's side. To our many friends who "stood by" with food, flowers, cards and donations, etc. To dear friend and comrade, Richard with his ability to give us a "lift" with his inspiring message, solo and wonderful friendship which we both treasure highly. To the Harton's for "being there" when called on. To Eric's comrades and ladies for their dignified and compassionate part taken in the service. To policemen and honorary bearers. And to Fess and Sons for their services carried with such dignity. "Thanks" seems so inadequate for the love we feel. Risen you all. Your gestures will not soon be forgotten.

Hannah and families.

Notes from Lougheed

Molly Percey Hough
The Lougheed Fair is over with for this year but don't forget next year's is the great one with the 60th Anniversary of the Fair and then the Homecoming the same time too. So make your holiday in Lougheed August 13 and 14, 1983. The Fair exhibits were down some but it did not stop the people coming to see the horses, ball games and you name it. Then the sky-dive was great. It was all very interesting and the weather man co-operated too.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Doug Niehaus on the birth of a baby son, Jason John, born in Dayland Hospital, August 7. Congratulations to the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Probst, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Niehaus of Camrose.

There were a number of people here taking in the Fair, including Harry Bertram from Camrose. Sympathy is extended to the family of Mr. George Rawluk who passed away August 6. The funeral was in Kinross, August 10. Visitors at the home of Johnnie and Gail Grove were Gail's parents Mr. and Mrs.

Al Crute and their daughter Sherry, Bob and children of Edmonton. They also visited the Pete Grove's.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Grove had their daughter, Rose and husband, Bob and family, also Ann's granddaughter, Elaine visit them Fair week-end, also Leslie Grove of Lethbridge.

Mrs. Siannetta Johnson of Vancouver, B.C. is here visiting her sister, Mrs. Marie Martin for a while.

On Wednesday early evening of August 11, a very bad storm hit parts of Lougheed district with 100 per cent damage to a lot of the beautiful crops. It was very bad around Greveland school and east. In fact, there were hail storms all around us that evening. It was a very bad evening all around with very bad hail hitting the farmers. The crops and gardens were good before, but now they are gone.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Caudwell from Courtenay, B.C. have been visiting their cousins, the George Colliers. Mr. and Mrs. George Collier have their son home from Edmonton after having eye surgery. He was to return back to hospital on Thursday.

Dan McCollister, farmer

"It's helped me get a start."
"I still would have been a farmer because I enjoy it...but the loan kind of made my mind up, right then and there. It's exciting to be working on your own piece of land. Definitely, it's been a great help to me...a step towards independence."
Other Albertans agree. "Agriculture's important. People have been leaving the farm and it's a little more incentive to stay." It's probably the best program there is right now.
Right now, your Heritage Fund is at work supporting agriculture in Alberta through a variety of programs - including assistance for the beginning farmer and family farms through the Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation.

Lawrence Kneeland of Sedgewick to retire

Water System
It has come to Council's attention that some residents are concerned regarding how much extra it is going to cost them, with this constant digging up of our streets, etc. We would advise them that those additional costs will be borne solely by the contractor, our costs being limited to "inconvenience" only.

Sierra Sewer
By-law No. 296 has been given third and final reading on approval from the Local Authorities Board, and it is hoped that we will be in a position to award the contract at our regular meeting to be held August 28th so that the project can be completed before winter.
